'How We Bombed Tokio': Thrilling Epic

RUSSIA BREAKS OFF RELATIONS WITH POLAND

Charges of Slaying 10,000 Blamed.

Eden to Act at Once

LONDON, April 26.—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to start mediation action at once between Soviet Russia and Poland, it was revealed here tonight. Meanwhile Britain's ambassador to Russia, Archibald Clark Kerr, will seek an early interview with Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov.

The British are expected to consult with the United States on its steps to make both Russia and Poland see that they are victims of a Nazi trick.

There will be a meeting of the Polish cabinet tomorrow. Lacking the official text of the Soviet statement, Polish spokesmen refused comment tonight.

MOSCOW, Russia, April 26 (AP).—Soviet Russia has broken off diplomatic relations with the Polish government in exile, accusing it of coöperating with Germany in combination with charges that the soviet union was responsible for the deaths of 10,000 Polish officers near Smolensk, it was announced officially today.

Vyacheslav Molotov.

Tass, the Russian official news agency, said Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov handed the Polish ambassador, Tadeusz Romer, a note here yesterday, denouncing the Polish government and charging it with helping the Germans carry out a "hostile campaign" against Russia in connection with Germany's accusation that the Russians murdered the Polish officers near Smolensk.

Claim Poles Want Land.

The territorial question also was involved. The note charged that the Poles, by falling in line with Nazi propaganda, hoped to gain some territorial concessions in Russia.

"The Polish government, to please Hitler's tyranny, deals a treacherous blow to the soviet union," the Russian note said. "The soviet government is aware that this hostile campaign against the soviet union was undertaken by the Polish government in order to exert pressure for the purpose of wresting from it the territorial concessions at the expense of the interests of the soviet Ukraine, soviet Byelo-Russia, and soviet Lithuania."

[The note which Foreign Commissar Molotov handed the Polish ambassador Sunday was tantamount to official notice, backing previous less formal intimations, that the soviet union has no intention of relinquishing the territory she obtained in the 1939 partition of Poland. This totaled 78,000 square miles, with a population of 13,000,000, approximately half of the republic of Poland as it existed from 1919 to 1939. Except the small Vilna area, which was allotted to Lithuania when that former republic was absorbed into the soviet union in 1940, all this territory has been incorporated into White Russian soviet republic and the Ukranian soviet republic and hence is regarded by Moscow as permanently part of the soviet union.]

Molotov's note added: "Having committed the monstrous crime

He Bombed Tokio

The Tribune today begins publication of the first detailed eyewitness story of the bombing of Tokio by American flyers on April 18, 1942. Lt. Charles L. McClure, the author, was the navigator in the crew of the seventh plane to take off from the aircraft carrier Hornet. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri and the son of R. D. McClure, a St. Louis advertising man. Lt. McClure was married in January to Miss Betty Jean Buchanan of Appleton, Wis. She was his nurse in Walter Reed hospital, Washington, while he was recovering from injuries he received when his plane crashed off the coast of China. He is now stationed at Mather field, Sacramento, Cal.

BY LT. CHARLES L. M'CLURE.
[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Sacramento, Cal., April 26.—It was high noon in Tokio, and a clear day. In from the sea, one after the other, swept a group of Mitchell B-25 twin engined American bombers. I was on one of those bombers, and we went in so low that if we had had a broom we could almost have touched the wavelets of the bay with it.

Our approach was unheralded. Tokio was busy with its own affairs. Its people were working, playing, dozing in the sun. Near the center of things, and to the starboard of the plane on which I rode, slumbered the imperial palace, hidden from the eyes of ordinary Japs by high, dark walls and with its grounds looking like a well kept golf course.

One of the world's biggest cities, confident in the military might of Nippon, was turning out war materials and, I suppose, congratulating itself on its safety from attack. But we had no time for the scenery; I could give no more than a one second glance to the emperor's residence. We had a mission.

Five Men's Great Adventure.

How that mission was performed has already been described in stories released by the war department. Virtually every bomb dropped, and the damage it did, has been charted. It is not my intention to reveal these facts, but to tell what I can, without violating the code of military secrecy, of what five men saw and experienced on the great adventure of our lives—the bombing of Japan; its aftermath of suffering; and how that suffering was mitigated and made endurable by the courtesy and unselfish aid of the people of China. Of them I shall have a great deal to say.

It is a long journey from the University of Missouri at Columbia to

AN EASTER PRAYER BY AURORA COUPLE FOR SON ANSWERED

The Easter prayers of Mr. and Mrs. Claude R. Kinsey Sr., 321 Marion avenue, Aurora, were answered yesterday, they said, when they received word from Washington that their son, 1st Lt. Claude Jr., Aurora's only ace flyer, who was reported missing Saturday in action over Tunisia, is alive and a prisoner of the Italian government.

"We prayed for our boy's safety Sunday, and we know this news is an answer to our prayers," said his mother.

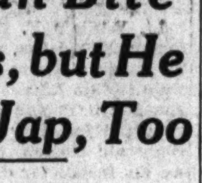
On his 23d birthday, Feb. 1, Kinsey knocked an Italian two seater plane out of the Tunisian sky for his fifth victory, making him an ace. On a card which he mailed March 28 he said he had received confirmation of a sixth victory and had been informed that he was to receive the distinguished flying cross with oak leaf cluster. He was the pilot of a P-38 Lightning pursuit ship. Kinsey was a four letter athlete at Thornton Township High school in Harvey.

Spellers Will Hold C-A-T and D-O-G Fight Saturday

The annual Cook county spelling contest, conducted by Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, will be held Saturday in the council chambers of the city hall, it was announced yesterday. About 80 contestants will compete.

He Can Bite Yanks, but He Gets Jap, Too

A SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, April 26 (AP).—A trigger-tempered dog named "Hey," which bit 20 unwary Yanks on a troopship en route to war, has been officially cited for helping dispose of a bothersome Japanese sniper on Guadalcanal.



Corp. Pasquale Forte.

Hey—mixed chow and German shepherd—and 14 other dogs recruited in Hawaii a year ago, were the first in action with American forces.

When the dog unit was shipped back to this island base, and assigned to a marine replacement camp, Hey's exploit was recorded officially.

Matter of Record.

Corp. Pasquale Forte, 24, of 4118 West Congress street, Chicago, who worked with Hey, told the story so persistently that Maj. Roger S. Buford of Boston, marine replacement battalion commander, wrote it to Col. Dudley S. Brown, operations officer on the staff of Maj. Gen. Clayton B. Vogel, commanding the first marine amphibious force.

Forte's statement:

"Subject: Warning dog 'Hey.'

"While on duty with the 164th infantry regiment, United States army, and while stationed at a battalion command post about 2400 [midnight] the night of 6-7 December, 1942, the subject-named dog spotted a Jap sneaking through the brush. His warning enabled the men stationed at the C. P. to see and dispose of the Jap.

Dog Trails Escaping Jap.

Another dog, a pointer called Bronco, trailed a Japanese pilot who escaped from a prisoner enclosure on Guadalcanal.

"Bronco led the MP's right down to the beach after that boy and there the MP's found the Jap trying to swim away," Forte said. "He was recaptured."

AUSTIN HIGH GRADUATE.

Corp. Pasquale Forte is 24 years old and is the son of Mrs. Dominick Durso, 4118 West Congress street. He was graduated from Austin High school and worked for the American Express company before enlisting in the marines 3½ years ago. He is unmarried.

The Art institute got the bird yesterday—the same bird that outstared residents of the 5200 block on Laflin street Sunday and then flew away.

In midafternoon, William Seiler, 1324 North Monticello avenue, institute steam fitter, answered a call to the library roof where a strange bird was seesawing up and down over a skylight. Seiler chased it into a corner and grabbed it. The bird "bit" him. He carried it down into the galleries where it "bit" Frank Eirvin, Negro, a porter, on the lip and nearly nipped Miss Etheldred Abbot, librarian.

Down in the basement, Seiler scrutinized his prize. It has a 3 inch beak, a 21½ inch wing spread, 6 inch legs, and claws 2 inches long. Its feathers are mottled gray, brown, and black. Seiler decided to send it to the Lincoln Park zoo this morning. Leon L. Pray, Field museum taxidermist and bird specialist, said last night that the bird probably is a Virginia rail, not uncommon to Chicago.

Mrs. Wright, U. S. Born M. P., Bears Daughter

LONDON, April 27 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The birth of a daughter to Mrs. Beatrice Wright, American born member of parliament, was announced today. Mrs. Wright is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Roland Clough of Boston and the wife of Capt. Paul Herve Giraud Wright of the king's royal rifle corps.

What to Do with Japs—in U. S. and Tokio

"Death to Slayers."

Washington, D. C., April 26 (AP).—Nothing could more appropriately honor United States flyers executed by the Japanese following the Tokio air raid than "the death of the social order that murdered them," Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas said tonight.

"Those boys were not killed," he said in an address. "They were murdered. They have laid on us obligations from which we cannot escape."

One of the obligations, he declared, was to realize the nation was not fighting Tojo, Hirohito, a sadistic army clique or a "mob run mad," but they were put to death by an official act of the Japanese government.

"It has brought home to all of us," he said, "that the Japanese state is a mockery of decent human government and that we are dealing with a society which is a throw back to the dark ages."

He declared, however, the United States would not degrade itself by "emulating the enemy's example."

Farm Service Sought.

Seven farm operators in the Chicago area have asked for the three Japanese-American farm workers whose withdrawal from the Curtiss Candy company farms near Marengo over the week-end was forced by community resentment, Elmer Shirrell, regional director of the war relocation authority, said yesterday.

The prospective employers believe that their communities would accept the men, Shirrell said, but a decision is being withheld pending consultations with Marengo citizens regarding continuance of the Curtiss company's plan to employ 16 Japanese-Americans in that region.

Otto Y. Schnering, president of the Curtiss company, said yesterday that the three men withdrawn—Earl Ishino, Atsusa Sakuma, and Tsukasa Sakuma—would not be returned until public opinion had changed.

Shirrell said yesterday the three men understood the hatred of Americans for Japanese following the execution of American flyers after the Tokio raid, but could not see why it should be directed toward them.

Ickes Gets a Protest.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 26 [Special].—The Pacific league in a statement signed by Russ Avery, president, and Frederic T. Woodman, chairman of its alien problems committee, today called on Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes to return to relocation centers Japanese "now enjoying the freedom and luxury of your private farm."

The league's action follows announcement by Ickes two weeks ago that he had negotiated the release of three American-born Japanese internees to work on his Olney, Md., farm.

"If you were prompted as secretary of the interior to undertake this strange employment of subjects of a nation with which we are bitterly at war, as some sort of a personal appeasement gesture, or to carry out your admitted penchant of deliberately doing things to cause public criticism of yourself, then we must admit you have been successful," the statement said.

Harms 4 Girls and Woman in 3 Hour Foray

A sleek haired hammer man spread terror on the northwest side yesterday by attacking or menacing 10 girls and young women and a little boy.

In one case he used a hammer to strike down two 'teen aged sisters. In several cases he used a knife or his fists. One victim was slashed on the arms and face with a knife. Another dodged a knife he hurled thru the air.

Describing him as a "desperate sex maniac," police began a wide search for the man, hoping to capture him before he goes on another foray. Tim O'Connor of the detective bureau said the maniac apparently lost his nerve before causing serious harm to any of his victims.

Attacks Began Week Ago.

The desperado, 28 to 32 years of age, 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighing 135 pounds, made his first appearance a week ago when he entered the home of Mrs. Sarah Wolowicki, 30, at 1115 North Campbell avenue. Prevented from attacking her by the screams of her baby, he fled with $1.50.

Yesterday he reappeared at the Wolowicki home. It was at 12:30 p. m. Mrs. Wolowicki, recognizing his voice, refused to open the door. The man said he only wanted to return the $1.50 he had stolen, but when Mrs. Wolowicki threatened to call police he fled. From then on he spread consternation thruout the area.

Time Log of Terrorism.

1:20 p. m.—Appeared at the home of Mrs. Tilly Spunder, 25, at 1229 North Campbell avenue, and asked to see the rear garage which was for rent. Inside the garage he tried to gag Mrs. Spunder. He punched her during a scuffle, then fled, threatening to return.

1:50 p. m.—Asked Maxine Gerber, 12, and Mary Miller, also 12, of 1327 North Rockwell street, to help him find a wallet he said he had lost near Maxine's home, 1508 North Washtenaw avenue. The search led to the basement. There the maniac seized Maxine, but became frightened when she and the Miller girl screamed. He fled after hitting Maxine in the face.

Poses as Health Officer.

2:55 p. m.—Posing as a health officer, the terrorist gained entrance to the home of Roberta Martinson, 14, at 2775 Henry court. He picked up a knife from the kitchen table, and threatened her. Roberta fought back and in the fight was slashed on the arm and face. She was taken to the Lutheran Deaconess hospital.

3:40 p. m.—Continuing his pose as a health agent, he entered the home of Margie Kelly, 12, at 1006 North California avenue, and threatened her and a playmate, Betty Rahtz, 10, of 2820 Augusta boulevard, with a large butcher knife. They screamed and ran out the front door.

3:47 p. m.—Appeared in the home of Frank Muscia, 1837 North California avenue, menaced Muscia's grandson, Robert Conroy, 7, and stole $210 in cash and jewelry and a carton of cigarets. When the boy tried to telephone his mother who was at work the maniac grabbed the phone and threatened to kill the boy.

Throws Knife; Misses Girl.

3:55 p. m.—His next victim was Dorothy Fendrich, 14, of 814 North Francisco avenue. Again he used the health officer ruse to enter the home. The maniac tried to sieze the girl, but she fought. He threw a large knife at her, just missing her head as she ducked.

4:15 p. m.—Visited 872 North Sacramento boulevard, where he asked to rent a room. Claudia D'Angelo, 15, and her sister, Mary, 13, showed him several rooms. Suddenly he ordered them to take down a box from a closet shelf. As they started to obey he picked up a hammer near by and hit Claudia on the head. As she screamed and Mary turned, he also struck Mary. He fled, abandoning the hammer.

Next Time He'll Pull Blinds to Count Money

St. Louis, Mo., April 26 (AP).—Treasurer Walter Reynolds kept his church's funds hidden in a tin can behind the piano at his home—in order not to use tires and gasoline in frequent bank trips. A week ago Reynolds counted the money—it totaled about $100. Yesterday when he again went to count it, he found no cash but this note: "Next time, put down the shades when you count it."

YANK GUNS RIP NAZIS; ALLIES MAKE NEW GAINS

Face Strong Lines on Way to Tunis.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, April 26.—Axis forces, their strong, rock hewn mountain defenses pulverized by thousands of tons of shells and bombs, and overrun by Yankee bayonets, were reported today to be withdrawing slowly along the northern flank of the Bizerte-Tunis corner of Tunisia.

Allied headquarters reported that British, American, and French forces engaged in a great, many pointed offensive to crush the axis forces in Tunisia and have "continued their steady progress on all sectors," assisted by powerful aerial support.

[Details of the Tunisian fighting and a detailed map will be found on page 4. A detailed story of the fighting in the American sector also will be found on page 4.]

Tinged with Caution.

Optimism was the keynote today at headquarters and in the front lines where the allied positions were improved generally from Cape Serrat to Enfidaville.

But this optimism was tinged with caution as the axis continued to slug hard with every resource, apparently determined to make the allies pay as dearly as possible for every inch of advance.

Altho there is talk of weeks whenever there is discussion of when the campaign will end, there is no disposition among informed sources to believe that anything except the fiercest type of fighting lies ahead for some time. The big guns are hammering and cracking the outer perimeter of the axis lines, but behind them stretch miles of equally difficult terrain much more easily defended than attacked.

Steady Pounding of Guns.

But from the prisoners — even from the most hardened of the German veterans—has come the same refrain daily since the offensive opened: "Your artillery at night and bombs by day are terrific. It is impossible to live."

All night long among the American positions our soldiers hear our big field guns booming by batteries, by battalions, by regiments, and even by larger units.

Then about dawn there is a silence, followed immediately by another infantry attack, usually along the slopes of some djebel [mountain]. What is left of the enemy sends down a blistering mortar fire and that means casualties and often heavy ones.

Placed Reliance on Mortars.

As at El Guetar [in southern Tunisia] the German directed troops count most heavily on mortars to check infantry attacks, their artillery being outnumbered by the Yanks', who also have a better technique for massing fire.

The tremendous allied air superiority also is really making itself felt at this stage of the campaign as never before. Particularly is this evident—for almost the first time—to our ground troops who see fleets of bombers dropping loads on visual targets.

Where once it was suicidal to transport supplies to the front by daylight, it now is a common sight to see great convoys or railroad trains rolling to the front protected by fighters. To soldiers who often in the past spent half the day dodging into foxholes for refuge from air attack this is a tremendous factor in uplifting morale.

Negroes Man Big Guns.

There is a new element among our cannoneers which brings its own morale shot-in-the-arm to the front line fighters. Our doughboys have always thought highly of the gunners, but they are now getting a new kick out of the Negro artillerymen manning our biggest guns.

They handle their pieces with nerve and gusto as well as military skill. And as an immense shell is slammed into the chamber, some grinning tall black soldier will shout:

"Here comes your reveille call, Mr. Hitler."

Then he will jerk the lanyard and another charge is on its way. Or perhaps you'll hear a gunner yell just before the gun is fired: "Reach your hands for de Lawd! Here she comes!"

WIGS GET IN HAIR OF OPA; PRICE CEILING IS LIFTED

Control Over 34 Other Products Dropped.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 26.—The office of price administration today announced that price ceilings will be removed, effective Saturday, from 35 products and 6 services, ranging from pin cushions, wigs, and shoe horns to the repair of airplanes.

Meanwhile the OPA established dollars and cents ceilings for all sales and rentals of used washing machines to stop price increases which have resulted from an increased demand in the face of limited stocks.

OPA officials said price ceilings are being removed from the specified goods and services because they are insignificant in the cost of living and that attempts to control their prices involve administrative and enforcement difficulties "out of all proportion to their intrinsic significance." No further price exemptions are contemplated at this time, however, officials said.

Four General Groups.

NOTIONS: Tie racks, shoe racks, pin cushions, shoe horns, wigs, and toupes, comforter grippers, and comb cleaners.

HOUSEHOLD ACCESSORIES: Book ends, portable doorstops, paper weights, reading racks, novelty table centerpieces, glass flowers, artificial fruit, and place card holders, mirror table plateaus, beverage coasters, dinner bells and chimes, figurines and ornamental statuary, wood carved figures and animals, novelties made of butterfly wings, sea shells and gourds, novelty wall plaques, novelty masks, novelty decorations, music boxes, and bird houses.

Miscellaneous Goods Included.

MISCELLANEOUS GOODS: Three dimensional sculptured or cast anatomical models used for educational purposes; floor-sweeping compounds; reagent chemicals sold for scientific and medical research, analytical and educational uses, and quality control of industrial products; sphagnum moss, florists' foliage, decorative trimming products; cathedral glass; wrought iron fences and balustrades; lightning rods; weather vanes; cast iron cornices; steel or iron marquees; ornamental iron brackets; sesame meal; whole crab and shrimp meal, and ground peanut hay.

SERVICES — Aircraft — Lubrication, maintenance, painting, rental, repair, storage, washing, or other servicing of planes and parts; air raid precautionary services for buildings; carpentry repairs performed in a carpenter's shop; rental of costumes and dress units; maintenance, and repair of public address systems; maintenance, painting, or repair of signs, and remodeling, repair or rental of sporting goods, including guns.

Fixed at Highest Level.

Ceilings on those items formerly were fixed at the highest prices charged by individual sellers in March, 1942.

The price order on used washing machines, which is effective next Monday, covers sales and rentals of all machines, including transactions by householders, if the machine has been used or been in a consumer's possession at least 90 days even tho not actually used.

Varying ceilings were established for sales of 12 different classes of washing machines, depending on their size and type. In addition, four different ceilings are set for each type, based on whether the machine is guaranteed for 6 or 12 months, or, on nonguaranteed machines.

RAISE GASOLINE RATION TO 720 MI. FOR 'WORK' CARS

Except East in Order on Business Auto.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 26.—The maximum gasoline ration permitted for driving in the "course of work" outside the eastern shortage areas was raised today to a C card allotment of 720 miles a month for any motorist who can show a need for mileage up to that amount. Based on an allotment of 15 miles to the gallon this means 48 gallons a month.

The action, taken by the office of price administration, replaces a previous rule which limited gasoline allotments for occupational driving to 470 miles or slightly over 31 gallons a month except for certain preferred users such as doctors, ministers, and some classes of salesmen.

In the 17 eastern seaboard states and the District of Columbia, where supplies are short, maximum gasoline rations for driving in the course of work remain at 360 miles a month.

Applies to All Needing Cars.

Today's liberalization of gasoline rations outside the eastern area applies to all drivers needing their cars in their work, regardless of the occupation. Newspaper photographers, for example, who under previous restrictions were limited to a B book allowing a maximum of 470 miles monthly for occupational driving, may now obtain C books good for up to 720 miles, if they can convince local boards they need the additional gasoline.

The liberalization of rations was made possible, officials said, by increased tire quotas being made available with the approval of Rubber Director William M. Jeffers.

OPA officials said that in addition to the 720 miles allowed for occupational driving, motorists are entitled to 90 miles a month for shopping and other uses.

How to Qualify.

To qualify for more gasoline under the new ruling, an applicant must show that he needs it entirely for course-of-work travel, must meet car sharing requirements by carrying three or more persons if this is feasible, and must show that he is not already getting as much as 720 miles a month for home-to-work travel.

Some motorists, it was explained, are already getting rations for 720 miles a month just for driving to and from work under a ruling Feb. 24 which permitted C books for home-to-work travel in "hardship" cases. In such instances, OPA said, no additional ration will be granted under today's order.

Officials said the new order applies to fleet cars as well as individually owned automobiles.

The OPA also ruled today that rationing certificates for replacement tires on farm tractors may be issued by local boards in areas where recapping facilities are inadequate. This amends a previous rule forbidding replacements of any tractor tires that were suitable for recapping.

Navy Colors

Painted in navy colors, one of Chicago's street cars was dedicated yesterday to the job of helping to recruit women into the WAVES and SPARS. The car made its maiden trip out of the Kedzie-Van Buren barns, with Capt. E. S. Root, director of navy officer procurement for the 9th Naval district, WAVES Yeoman Marguerite B. Hall of Charleston, W. Va., and Sailors George Fautsch, K. R. Higgs, and Sigmund Pawlowski aboard.

Rescuer of Rickenbacker Given Post at Glenview

Lt. William F. Eadie, 124 Callan avenue, Evanston, who received the air medal for his part in rescuing Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker's party in the South Pacific last Nov. 12, has reported for duty at the Glenview navy air station, assigned to duty as an instructor in primary flight training.

HUTCHINS TELLS BASIS FOR NEW U. S. FREEDOM

Gives Concept of Needs When War Ends.

Making the United States a working model of democracy is the best type of post-war planning, Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, told the Henry George School of Social Sciences at its annual banquet in the Bismarck hotel last night.

"Democracy is founded on the dignity of all men and on the sanctity of human rights," Hutchins said. "We must want to be democratic and we must get the rest of the world, including our enemies, to accept the ideals of democracy if we are to have a world civilization free from wars and suffering."

Concept of Democracy.

To show other nations that this country is a true democracy, Americans must raise the standards of humanity, Hutchins said. To do so, he said, they must effect a just distribution of goods and materials, abolish poll taxes, open education on a basis of merit, and eliminate institutions that conflict with the rights of all men to earn their living.

Business monopolies and international cartels threaten the rights of individual men, and should be abolished, Hutchins said. Education on a competitive basis, providing national scholarships for young people with merit, would strengthen the rights of individuals, he said.

"If we don't pay the price of democracy," Hutchins added, "we can lose the war, lose the peace, and bring about the surrender of civilization."

Defeat in Victory.

Hutchins attacked the statements of Wendell L. Willkie in his 1940 Presidential campaign that increased production and jobs for all would bring prosperity and well being to all men, pointing out that we are now in a period of unlimited production but are in the midst of war and endangering the economic structure of the country. "We can win a statistical victory but suffer a productive defeat," he said.

Americans must understand that they are waging a war for human rights, not for markets, Hutchins continued. "If we think we are fighting Japan for rubber, we might later believe it cheaper to buy the rubber that Japan holds and end hostilities without winning the real victory," he said.

Warns of Shrinking World.

"We also must realize that the shrinkage of time and space, caused by modern transportation and communication, does not necessarily usher in the brotherhood of man. The closer nations are to one another, the more they will covet each other's possessions. Only universal recognition of human, moral, natural law, guaranteeing the dignity of man and recognized only in true democracy, will insure peace."

Hutchins drew parallels between the war between the United States and Mexico for the conquest of the American southwest and the wars of conquest of Japan and Germany to prove his contention that the United States must demonstrate its belief in democratic ideals before its way of life can be extended to the rest of the world.

STEAL DRESSES AND COATS.

Burglars stole 183 dresses and coats valued at $1,500 from the Bunny's Frocks shop, 231 South Market street, the owner, Morris Coopersmith, reported yesterday to police.

ALEUTIANS WILL COST US BLOOD, SAYS REPORTER

Harder Nut to Crack than Guadalcanal.

BY EUGENE BURNS.

AN ADVANCE BASE IN THE ANDREANOF ISLANDS, Alaska, April 14 [Delayed] (AP).—Don't kid yourself; the Aleutians are no sideshow. Kiska and Attu are tough nuts to crack.

When and if American forces expel the Japanese from this American soil, the price will be American blood.

At Guadalcanal the Japanese were taken by surprise. The beach landings were made with little opposition. Marines were not shot in the water.

At Kiska and Attu the enemy is set. At present Attu is weaker than Kiska—much weaker. But Attu is becoming increasingly strong and its gunfire, pilots report, much heavier.

Will Cost U. S. Blood.

Our national policy apparently is that we must deal with Germany and then Japan. This has made the Pacific essentially a holding front.

Here are the reasons why the Japs will be hard to move:

FIRST—To dislodge them means that beach landings must be made. Attu and Kiska beaches are few and heavily covered with light and heavy guns. The rest of the island's beaches are cruel, rocky mankillers. And opposed beach landings always cost blood—lots of it.

SECOND—The army has had little experience in opposed beach landings—which require a perfect coördination of land, sea, and air forces.

Weather May Turn Bad.

THIRD—The weather, if it follows the Aleutian pattern, will not favor us. It may well prevent accurate surface and air softening. April to date is an example. We are set to dump at least 50 tons of bombs daily. So far this month we have had one such day.

FOURTH—The Japanese are ready. It would be difficult to take them by surprise. It is doubtful if we can catch them away from their guns as they were at Guadalcanal Aug. 7. [At Tulagi, Gavutu, and Tanamboga, where the enemy had a little advance warning, the marines suffered their heaviest landing losses.]

So far our pilots have dropped millions of pounds of bombs—and drawn perhaps a nosebleed. Bomber pilots reported today that the air was black with ack ack as they flew over Kiska.

Japs Holding Their Fire.

It is not inconceivable that the cagey Japanese are holding back on their gunfire. It is not good strategy to show the enemy all of your gun emplacements. And surely the Japanese are not shooting with their heavy coastal batteries.

Delegate Anthony Dimond of Alaska asserted last Aug. 31 that 25,000 Japanese were in the Aleutians. That may have been high. A navy spokesman in reply said there were not more than 10,000. But that was eight and a half months ago.

Some men who know Attu and Kiska by photo and by AA fire are taking bets that if and when American forces make a beachhead on these islands there will be land fighting six months later—the same time it took on Guadalcanal.

MOTHER INJURED AS TRAIN HURLS BABY TO SAFETY

Mrs. Beulah Roadman, 31 years old, 4526 Sheffield avenue, Hammond, was in St. Margaret's hospital yesterday for treatment of severe cuts and fractured ribs suffered when she was struck by a train while walking with her daughter, Melba Jane, 9, and son, Wilson, 2 months old, on Sunday. As Mrs. Roadman pushed the carriage across the South Shore line crossing at Brunswick street in Hammond, its wheels caught in the tracks. As the train approached, the mother shielded the baby with her own body. The carriage and baby were hurled into the air but the child was uninjured. The daughter also was not hurt.

4 YANKS BATTLE 30 JAP PLANES; SHOOT DOWN 5

Washington, D. C., April 26 (AP).—Four American fighter planes engaged 10 enemy bombers and 20 Zeros off Guadalcanal Island, the navy reported today, and shot down five of the Japanese fighters. Two United States planes failed to return.

The navy communique said:

"On April 25 a group of four Corsair fighters strafed Japanese installations on Kolombangara Island, in the central Solomons.

"Later the same group of Corsairs sighted and attacked 10 enemy bombers, escorted by 20 Zeros, 95 miles northwest of Lunga point, on Guadalcanal Island. During the aerial combat which followed five Zeros were shot down. Two United States planes failed to return."

American flyers have resumed their bombing raids on enemy installations at Kiska. For two days the pilots apparently were earthbound because of fog and storms. They took off Saturday to loose explosives and strafe enemy positions with machine gun fire.

In the South Pacific the much bombed Japanese base at Munda, New Georgia Island, again felt the blows of bombers.

PLANES ATTACK JAP POSITION IN SUPPORT OF TROOPS IN GUINEA

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 27 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Allied ground troops who hold ridgetop positions overlooking the Japanese occupied village and airstrip of Mubo, New Guinea, were given a fresh burst of aerial support yesterday by a formation of Boston attack planes.

The raiders twice bombed and strafed the area, which is on the approaches to the vital Japanese Huon golf bases of Lae and Salamaua. Mubo is only 15 miles below Salamaua.

The Bostons centered their attacks upon a hill a mile and a quarter northeast of Mubo, where a small force of Japanese is entrenched. Due to extremely stormy weather, lasting for several days, air activity thruout the sector northeast of Australia was on a small scale and in the northwest was limited to reconnaissance.

RADIO SPONSOR QUITS OVER F.D.R. 4TH TERM TOPIC

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 26 [Special].—Because the issue of a fourth term for President Roosevelt has been chosen for debate here Thursday on the Town Meeting of the Air broadcast, George A. Blackmore, a Pennsylvania industrialist, has resigned from the local committee sponsoring the program, it was learned today. Blackmore turned over to the new USO canteen here $1,600 raised by him and his associates to finance the broadcast.

G. A. Blackmore.

A reorganized sponsoring committee gathered enough funds over the week-end to guarantee the broadcast. Gov. M. M. Neely of West Virginia, a Democrat, will take the affirmative and Sen. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] the negative side of the question, "Should the President of the United States have a fourth term?"

Blackmore, chairman of the Westinghouse Air Brake company, said he did not want to be a party to any movement furthering the political ambitions of President Roosevelt.

MEXICANS TO GET RATION CARDS TO BUY FOOD IN U. S.

All Items but Coffee and Sugar Available.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 26.—Mexican residents living near the United States border will be permitted to buy most products now being rationed in this country on the same basis as Americans, the office of price administration announced today.

Under the plan, which OPA termed an "international ration partnership," an estimated 250,000 Mexicans will, upon application, be granted ration certificates permitting equal purchases with Americans of canned and other processed foods, meats, and fats, and shoes. The only rationed food items excluded to Mexicans are coffee and sugar.

Policy of "Sharing."

Mexican residents qualifying for rations are those living less than 20 kilometers [about 12 miles] south of the Texas, Arizona, and New Mexican borders, and 90 kilometers [about 55 miles] south of the California border.

OPA officials, defending the "ration sharing" policy, said Mexicans near the border have been accustomed for many years to purchasing many of their daily needs in this country. The OPA also asserted that Mexico is furnishing war materials to the United States and thus contributing to the allied war program. It said the allotment of fats will be particularly helpful to Mexicans in making tortillas, a type of fried corn pancake.

No Rationing in Mexico.

Inasmuch as food is not rationed in Mexico, Mexican residents will be permitted to supplement their American purchases with ration free goods bought in their own country. Residents of this country making purchases in Mexico are required, however, to give up ration stamps for any rationed items brought into the United States.

Altho the amounts of rationed foods allotted Mexicans are the same as allowances for United States residents, the OPA has set up a different rationing machinery.

Instead of using books and stamps, Mexicans will be granted purchase certificates, good for a month's supply of the rationed foods, by local ration boards or customs offices. Special shoe ration stamps will also be issued to Mexicans.

OPA officials said a similar plan has been discussed for Canadian residents near the border, but that no decision has been reached.

AN EYEWITNESS STORY OF YANK PUSH IN TUNISIA

Tribune Writer Tells of Drive Toward Bizerte.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. FORCES NORTHEAST OF BEJA, Tunisia, April 25 [Delayed].—The Germans were retreating eastward tonight, their first line of ridge defenses in this sector completely disrupted by the American capture of bitterly contested hill No. 575—Kef el Goraa—which ushered in Easter Sunday.

The enemy, under a third day of pounding by powerful artillery fire, avoided a ground engagement most of the day, but late in the afternoon an American reconnaissance unit encountered one strong enemy patrol and drove it from a native village.

Withdraw Thru Valley.

The enemy withdrawal was thru the dry bed of a valley toward a horseshoe arrangement of hills, Djebel Meftah being the northern ridge and Djebel Smala the southern, with three other mountains to the west running north and south to complete the pattern 13 miles southwest of Mateur.

[A later dispatch from allied headquarters said the Germans continued to retreat after giving up Kef el Goraa and that American advanced elements had reached a line three miles east of Sidi N'Sir and about 30 miles southwest of Bizerte.]

Hill Captured at 2 A. M.

Hill 575—Kef el Goraa—was taken at 2 a. m. after one of those patented barrages the American big guns had been laying down on the enemy since Friday morning [April 23]. The Germans had been hanging to the flanks of the hill and even venturing back into the areas of the devestated slope when there was the slighest cessation in our artillery fire.

The defenders also had been replying with some howitzer fire and projecting mortar fire from the flanks of the hill and the valley behind it.

But at last the enemy found the position untenable and began his retreat. Our infantry swarmed up in the darkness, and encountered only slight resistance. Some dead Germans were strewn about and some of the badly wounded were left behind by their retreating comrades.

Hunt Out Booby Traps.

A small German detachment tried a final delaying action, but the men were quickly killed or taken prisoners. In the valley and the lower ridges immediately beyond the only Germans were dead Germans.

Once the hill was theirs, the Americans quickly entrenched themselves on this strong pivotal peak. Details went on to detect the mines and booby traps with which the enemy as usual sowed his line of withdrawal.

The enemy's man power problem is so acute that the German commander on this front has used for some of his infantry a contingent originally sent here by Adolf Hitler to act as instructors for the natives whom he hoped to enlist on his side. This development was coupled with the recent disclosure that the jails and concentration camps of Germany are being emptied to provide troops for the axis' African campaign.

Scenes of War and Peace.

I viewed conflicting scenes of war and peace as I toured this part of the front today. Howitzers thundered from valley emplacements, hurling their 155 and 105 millimeter shells into the enemy's ranks miles away. Our bombers sped blackly overhead on their missions to blast the enemy airdromes and further harass the German infantry and artillery, toiling thru the ridges and on the level.

Yet in some of the olive groves and grassy valleys and on the gentle slopes behind our lines there was peace for a time. In these havens I saw chaplains and soldiers gathered for Easter services turning for a brief interlude from the day's business of death and injury. They prayed and sang together the songs of hope, serenity, and rejoicing. Then these men went forward to the tasks of war and others came back for their moment's respite and association with the solemnity and spirit of the day.

SALESMAN'S $315 WARES STOLEN.

Walter D. Sears, 920 Wilson avenue, a salesman, reported to police yesterday that clothing and jewelry, all valued at $315, were stolen from his automobile, parked near his home.

Allies Deliver New Blows Against the Axis in Tunisia

WITH U. S. FORCES IN NORTHERN TUNISIA, April 24 [Delayed] —(AP).—Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, chief of all American ground forces, who suffered a scalp laceration and a fractured shoulder when struck by flying fragments during a tour of the battlefront, had kind words today for the helmet which saved his life.

"It really did me a good turn," he said, smiling, as he fingered his bandaged shoulder. "I believe now I am in favor of body armor, too."

Gen. McNair was injured yesterday [Friday], the first day of the allied offensive, when an artillery or mortar shell burst near him as he stood on a hill near an infantry observation post watching the doughboys advance.

One four inch fragment slashed across his left shoulder, smashing the tip of the collar bone, and another razor sharp splinter about one and a half inches long pierced his helmet and came to rest against the base of the skull, causing a bruise and cut.

Stained with Blood.

The green painted helmet which broke the impact of the fragment lay on the chair beside his hospital cot. The head straps inside were stained with dried blood.

"Another quarter of an inch and the shell would have penetrated to the brain and he would have been a goner," said Lt. Col. Frank Y. Leaver of 2305 West Main street, Shelbyville, Ill., at the evacuation hospital where McNair underwent an hour long operation.

"As it is, he snapped out of the operation fine and is doing very fine unless infection develops. But he sure is a tough man to try to keep in bed. I am going to pin the Purple Heart on him before he leaves."

Altho surgeons said they thought he possibly was struck by mortar fire which caused a number of casualties in that vicinity, McNair said he believed it was an artillery shell that injured him.

"I didn't see it land," he said from his cot in the hospital tent. "But I think it was a high explosive shell of about 75 millimeter caliber. It didn't knock me out and I was able to walk down the hill to a jeep. We had to drive about three hours to reach the hospital but it wasn't bad. The driver was really good.

"I didn't get anything from the Germans in the last war. They must have been saving it up to give to me here," McNair continued. "But I will be back there soon. I am looking for my clothes now. The shoulder doesn't hurt any. After another good night's sleep I'll be ready for war again."

Out for Several Weeks.

Washington, D. C., April 26 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, who is 59 years old, will be incapacitated for several weeks, the war department said today. He is expected to leave the front within the next day or two, Gen. Eisenhower informed the department, and soon will return home for further treatment.

NAZIS RETREAT BEFORE YANKS' TUNISIAN DRIVE

Gain After 4 Day Battle on Road to Bizerte.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, April 26 (AP).—German troops were reported retreating before the American attack in the northern sector of Tunisia today after less than four days of stiff fighting. British and German armored might was engaged in a crucial struggle on the narrow plain east of Goubellat.

French troops advanced to within little more than three miles of Pont du Fahs, which is 36 miles southwest of Tunis.

Advanced elements of the American 2d army corps had reached a line three miles east of Sidi N'Sir and only about 10 miles southwest of Mateur, rail and highway junction between the two enemy strongholds of Bizerte and Tunis. Mateur is 20 miles southwest of Bizerte.

Yield Many Strongholds.

On the southern end of their western mountain line the Germans were yielding many of their strongholds with little resistance. Headquarters announced that the French 19th army corps had won five mountains after only brief fighting. It was speculated that Col. Gen. Jurgen von Arnim had ordered withdrawals on his flanks while he still had the power to fight a delaying action.

A military spokesman said that Von Arnim had concentrated his remaining armor to "fight it out" with the British tanks east of Goubellat. "This is a vital area," he said.

North and south of Mejez el Bab the British captured strategic hills. Djebel Tanngoucha, a peak commanding the road from Mejez el Bab to Tebourba, "gateway to Tunis," finally was cleared by British infantry and tanks, and a spokesman said "the remnants of the garrison were captured." Heidous village also was captured.

Resist Nazi Counter-attacks.

South of Mejez el Bab, British infantry seized a hill six miles east of Bou Arada and clung to it in the face of a Nazi counter-attack. This placed Lt. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson's forces almost within artillery range of Pont du Fahs. It was the fourth time the peak had changed hands within 10 days. The sector is 29 miles west of Tunis.

French units closing in on Pont du Fahs were reported to have advanced more than 12 miles in 36 hours of fighting since they dislodged the enemy from the Djebel Mansour, strongly fortified 2,200 foot peak. Another mountain height, Djehet Chirich, was reported occupied in the same region east of Kebir dam yesterday.

There was hard tank fighting thruout yesterday south of Sebkret el Krouzia [a salt lake], which is in the same area.

[The allied controled Algiers radio said 64 German tanks had been knocked out in the last 72 hours. The report said the German African corps had thrown its main tank reserves into the battle yesterday in the Goubellat sector.]

British 8th Army Mops Up.

The British 8th army, which has played a comparatively minor rôle in the allies' current effort to smash thru the axis defense line from the west, was reported to have mopped up Djebel Terhouna, five miles northwest of Enfidaville on the east coast.

The allied tactical air force continued to pound advanced enemy gun positions, infantry, tanks, and transports yesterday. The missions were difficult because of the danger of hitting allied troops in the tangled fighting for the hilltops, but all missions were reported successful.

"BATTLE UNABATED": BERLIN.

The German high command communique, broadcast from Berlin, said "the battle of defense on the Tunisian west front continues with unabated violence." It said the allies had failed in an attempt to break thru; that masses of allied tanks "which entered our lines were intercepted and the enemy was thrown back after hard fighting amidst serious losses in tanks."

The Italian communique said local allied attacks on the southern Tunisian front "were frustrated by prompt reaction of our units" and that "persistent and violent enemy pressure" in western Tunisia had been "effectively held."

The rest-pause that refreshes
more welcome in war work

WAR production needs are pressing. No time can be wasted on the job. Rest-pauses planned and timed are the efficient way to make every minute count. They lessen tension, break monotony, and increase output. Add refreshment to a rest-pause and you promote worker-contentment.

Ice-cold Coca-Cola is refreshment that does more than quench thirst. Drink it and you feel and enjoy a refreshing after-sense. Its clean, exciting taste always pleases, never tires. Coca-Cola offers something extra. All the difference between something really refreshing and just something to drink.

• • •

Letters from plant managers from coast to coast emphasize that the little moment for an ice-cold Coca-Cola means a lot to workers in war plants. It's a refreshing moment on the sunny side of things . . . a way to turn to refreshment without turning from work.

You work better when you are contented on the job. Remember, contentment comes when you connect with a Coke.

OUTNUMBERED 2 TO 1, FLYERS BAG 9 ZEROS IN CHINA

Battle 25 Jap Planes; Leading Ace Gets 2.

WITH THE AMERICAN AIR FORCE IN CHINA, April 25 [Delayed]—(AP).—Five Japanese planes were destroyed and four others were probably shot down Saturday when American fighters intercepted a flight of 25 enemy aircraft near an advance airbase in Hunnan province.

Pilots of American P-40s emerged without loss of a plane, despite the fact they were outnumbered two to one. One of the American craft was slightly damaged.

Capt. John Hampshire of Grant's Pass, Ore., got two confirmed victories over Japanese pilots for a total of eight enemy planes destroyed in the air and one on the ground to become the leading ace of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's new 14th air force.

One Zero reached the airdrome and dropped propaganda leaflets before it was shot down.

Looking for a Scrap.

Squadron Commander Maj. Edmund Goss of Tampa, Fla., bagged one of the Japanese to bring his total of confirmed victories to four.

Second Lt. James Lee of Greensboro, N. C., who shot down a Zero April 1, the day after he arrived at his advance base, scored another victory Saturday. The fifth plane was destroyed by 2d Lt. Matthew Gordwon Jr. of Pueblo, Colo.

Col. Donald Lyon, Chennault's operations chief, said:

"The Japs sent out a fighter formation, apparently looking for a scrap. They were intercepted at 17,000 feet and it turned into a series of dogfights."

The same American squadron shot down seven of nine Japanese attempting to raid an allied airdrome April 1.

Big Mountain Battle.

CHUNGKING, China, April 26 (AP).—The Japanese used "scores of bombers" to back their biggest offensive in recent months in the Taiheng mountains on the Honan-Shansi border, and both sides suffered heavy losses, a Chinese communique said today.

Some 40,000 Japanese are trying to dislodge the Chinese from the range which dominates a long stretch of the Peiping-Hankow railway. The mountains serve Chiang Kai-shek's armies as a base of operations against enemy strongholds in southeast Shansi and north Honan provinces.

Repulse Japs Landing.

"Severe engagements took place at every mountain pass and height as our forces offered stout opposition," the communique said.

The communique said Chinese forces broke thru the gates of a small town near Kinhwa, in Chekiang province, inflicting considerable casualties on the enemy.

Dispatches said Chinese land batteries had repulsed two Japanese attempts to land on the Fukien coast, presumably for foraging. A Japanese warship shelled shore positions northeast of Amoy on April 23 and attempted to land troops, but fled when Chinese cannon opened fire. The next day, troops from four warships tried to land northeast of Foochow, but abandoned the effort after encountering heavy gunfire.

WALLACE FEARS EXPORT DROP TO LATIN AMERICAS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 26.—Vice President Henry A. Wallace reported at a press conference today that the seven Latin American nations he has just visited are agreed that it is to their interest as well as that of the United States that the war be won as rapidly as possible.

Wallace returned yesterday from a 5½ weeks airplane tour of Panama, Costa Rica, Bolivia, Peru, Equador, Colombia, and Chile.

The Vice President said that government officials, business men, farmers and labor leaders had been puzzled by delays in the flow of American goods to their countries because they were unaware of the extent of the American shipping problems.

Asked by the Latin Americans when improvement might be expected in their commerce with the United States, he said he told them:

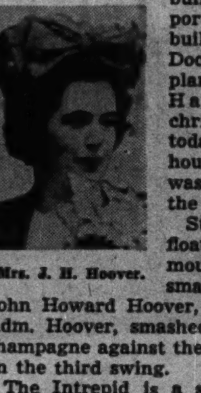
PLANE CARRIER CHRISTENED AT VIRGINIA YARDS

Newport News, Va., April 26 (AP).—The Intrepid, third aircraft carrier built at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company plant since Pearl Harbor, was christened here today several hours after she was floated off the ways.



Mrs. J. H. Hoover.

Standing on a floating platform mounted on a small barge, Mrs. John Howard Hoover, wife of Vice Adm. Hoover, smashed a bottle of champagne against the carrier's hull on the third swing.

The Intrepid is a sister ship of the Essex and the new Yorktown, both built here. Her keel was laid Dec. 1, 1941. Shortly after the christening the ship was towed to her fitting out berth.

8 DIE AS U-BOAT SINKS SHIP IN NORTH ATLANTIC

New York, April 26.—Survivors of a medium size American freighter which was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine last month in the North Atlantic have reached New York, the navy announced today.

Eight of the ship's crew of 50 lost their lives in the attack. Survivors were afloat five hours in two lifeboats and two rafts before being rescued.

The attack brought to 650 the number of vessels sunk in the western Atlantic area since Pearl Harbor, according to an unofficial tabulation.

REDS HURL BACK GERMAN ATTACK NEAR LENINGRAD

Battalion Wiped Out in Battle for Town.

LONDON, April 27 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Russian troops flung back a numerically superior German attack force, annihilating about 800 of the enemy, in a resurgence of activity Monday on the northwestern front south of Leningrad, Moscow announced today.

The Nazi thrust carried soviet troops back into a town but an immediate counter-attack threw back the German forces before they had time to consolidate their new position, said the midnight war communique, recorded here by the soviet monitor. About a battalion of German infantry was wiped out.

In the important Sevsk area northwest of Kursk, Russian units also repelled attacks of enemy infantry, killing 80 German officers and men. In the Kuban valley, where German forces have tried to extend their bridgehead around Novorossisk, activity was limited to exchanges of gun fire.

17 Nazi Planes downed.

Air battles ranged over various sectors of the long front and Russian airmen destroyed a total of 17 enemy planes, destroyed or damaged 40 trucks carrying troops and supplies, blew up two ammunition dumps, smashed a German train, and sank a transport and a trawler in the Barents sea.

The Russian airmen ran up their highest toll on the western front, presumably in the Smolensk area, by destroying eight aircraft in raids on enemy airdromes and knocking down three in air combats.

On the same front, more than 200 Germans were killed and four artillery and five mortar batteries silenced by Russian artillery, mortar batteries, and snipers. The communique reported 70 Germans killed in a light engagement on this front and 100 more on the Donetz river line.

Halted in Caucasus.

Five enemy aircraft also were sent down in a 10 minute dogfight in the Kuban area of the northern Caucasus.

German forces there have been halted by heavy losses in their recent counterattacks. The midnight war bulletin credited Russian snipers with killing 79 Germans in the past two weeks in this region and another guerrilla was credited with 36.

The communique said a German troop train was derailed, the locomotive and 14 cars being smashed, when it struck mines placed by a guerrilla detachment in the Zhitomir region of the Ukraine.

[The German communique broadcast by Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press said: "On the eastern front, nothing of importance occurred. Off the Caucasian coast, light German naval forces sank an enemy vessel, damaged several more, and set a steamer afire."]

Hazard of Reporting

Tribune Correspondent Jack Thompson in Tunisia.

Friends of Jack Thompson, Tribune war correspondent and first newspaper man to accompany parachute troops on an actual war mission, were shocked yesterday to see his latest picture, showing him wearing a bandage and patch over his right eye.

They recalled that Floyd Gibbons, another Tribune correspondent, lost an eye during the battle of Château Thierry in the World war and wore an eye patch for the rest of his life.

Their fears for Thompson's eye, however, were tempered when it was learned the "wound" was caused by a bedbug bite received while he was covering the story of the American army advance in the El Guetar section of Tunisia.

R. A. F. RENEWS NIGHT OFFENSIVE AGAINST NAZIS

LONDON, April 27 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The royal air force resumed the aerial offensive against continental targets by bombers over Germany last night, the British announced today. The announcement did not disclose the specific objective or the weight of the attack, which followed up a series of daylight assaults by British bombers on railway targets in both Germany and France.

The last R. A. F. night raid on Germany was carried out Saturday night, when targets in the western part of the Reich were attacked. That raid was the first British night aerial activity since the massive assault on Stettin, Rostock, and Berlin the previous Tuesday night.

In the daylight raids yesterday speedy mosquito bombers struck at a railway center in northwest Germany, at another in the Rhineland, and at a third in France, near the Loire river. All the planes returned.

AXIS LOSES 66,000 MEN SINCE JAN. 1 IN AFRICAN WAR

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, April 26 (AP).—Allied headquarters announced today that the axis lost 66,000 men killed, wounded and taken prisoner from Jan. 1 to April 15.

"Of axis personnel losses, 36,000 were taken prisoner and the others were killed or wounded," the official announcement said.

In the same period, it was added, they lost 250 tanks, 3,000 vehicles, 425 guns and 34 ships sunk by land-based aircraft alone.

"In air combat," the announcement added, "our air forces destroyed 918 enemy planes, probably destroyed 278 more and damaged another 586. Allied air raids accounted for another 586 enemy planes destroyed on the ground. Land-based aircraft also sank 11 U-boats."

It said that axis shipping losses did not include those inflicted by the royal navy.

REDS BREAK OFF ALL DIPLOMATIC TIES WITH POLES

Rupture Laid to Charge of Slaying 10,000.

against the Polish officers, Hitlerite authorities now stage a farcical investigation and for this staging they made use of certain Polish pro-Fascist elements whom they themselves picked in occupied Poland where everything is under Hitler's heel and where an honest Pole cannot openly have his say.

"For the 'investigation' both the Polish government and the Hitlerite government invited the International Red Cross, which is compelled in conditions of a terroristic régime with its gallows and mass extermination of a peaceful population, to take part in this investigation farce staged by Hitler.

"Hostile Attitude Adopted."

"Clearly such an 'investigation,' conducted behind the back of the soviet government at that, cannot evoke the confidence of people possessing any amount of honesty.

"All these circumstances compel the soviet government to recognize that the present government of Poland, having slid to the path of accord with Hitler's government, actually has discontinued allied relations with the U. S. S. R. and has adopted an hostile attitude towards the soviet union."

U. S. Sorry at Rupture.

Washington, D. C., April 26 (AP).—The state department expressed regret today over the break in diplomatic relations between soviet Russia and the Polish government in exile.

Polish Ambassador Jan Ciechanowski talked with Undersecretary Welles but told newspaper men he had not received official confirmation of Russia's move and could not comment.

Consul Defends Polish Action.

TORONTO, Ont., April 26 [Special].—Lack of coöperation on the part of the soviet government was blamed today by Polish Consul Gen. Victor Podoski, in the first authoritative statement by a Polish government spokesman since the rupture of relations between the two countries.

"When the Germans announced they had found graves near Smolensk containing the bodies of Polish officers, we at once, in order to pin down the German claims, applied to the International Red Cross for an indpendent investigation. If the soviet government had wanted to coöperate they should themselves have asked for an investigation. Unfortunately they did not do so," Podoski said.

Refuting Foreign Minister Molotov's assertion that the Polish government had never asked the soviet government for "an inquiry or explanation of this subject," Podoski released tonight a communique from Lt. Gen. Marjan Kukiel at London regarding the missing Polish officers.

The communique listed the number of Polish men in Russian prison camps and said that when they failed to appear after a soviet amnesty Ambassador Kot and Gen. Anders made inquiries to soviet authorities. Josef Stalin assured that the amnesty was of a general nature and that the Russians had released all Polish officers.

"On no occasion has the Polish government ever received an answer as to the whereabouts of the Polish officers and other prisoners deported from the three camps," the communique said.

2 CHICAGOANS HELD PRISONERS BY JAPS, PARENTS ARE TOLD

Pvt. Carl Wirtz.

Mr. and Mrs. Antone Wirtz, 758 North avenue, were notified by marine corps headquarters at Washington, D. C., yesterday that their son, Pvt. Carl Wirtz, 23 years old, of the marines, is a prisoner of the Japanese. Pvt. Wirtz, who joined the marines in 1940, had been stationed in China, but sent to the Philippines when war broke out. He was captured on Corregidor.

James A. Herbeck, 6442 South Washtenaw avenue, said yesterday he had received word from the war department that his son, Robert, 25 years old, an army air force corporal who was stationed at Clark field, near Manila, also is a prisoner of the Japanese. Herbeck, a graduate of Harper High school, had been missing since the fall of Corregidor.

PAYS RED CROSS $100 TO ERASE RECORD OF FINE

Arthur Wagner.

Arthur Wagner, 1534 Norwood street, head of an electrical supply firm at 1436 Randolph street, made a $100 donation yesterday to the Red Cross in lieu of a $100 fine for contempt of court for failing to appear as a grand juror.

He appeared before Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro on a contempt charge. With him was his attorney, Russell Baker, who told the court that Wagner's dereliction was largely Baker's fault. Wagner had returned the grand jury subpena with a note pinned to it explaining that he was going on a vacation to Arkansas.

When Judge Sbarbaro levied the $100 fine, Wagner asked if it could not be made a donation to the Red Cross, to prevent his name from being listed on court records. The court agreed.

ONE HAND AIDS BUDDY AS OTHER SHOOTS AT FOE

CAIRO, Egypt, April 26 (AP).—In the recent Liberator raid by the United States 9th air force over Naples, Sergt Charles Lawson of Pittsburgh was reviving a fellow gunner with one hand and shooting down his first Messerschmitt with the other.

Lawson said, "Everybody was damn busy throwing lead" when he noticed that the gunner next to him had fallen, due to lack of oxygen.

"What happened in the next several minutes was purely automatic," he said. "A funny feeling came over me during those few minutes. There I was bringing one fellow back to normal and at the same time doing my damnedest to put another guy out of circulation. When I remembered that one was a Jerry and the other a buddy it made sense."

Mrs. Emil L. Poehlsen, 12001 Greenwood avenue, Blue Island, said yesterday that a picture published in the Sunday TRIBUNE showed her husband, a chief petty officer, watching a trombonist playing with a swing band on Guadalcanal. He has been in the navy since last July and has been directing a musical group called Buddy Brennan's Foxhole Fugitives. Poehlsen won second place in The Tribune's Music Festival south side contest in 1941.

JAPS ARE BENT ON INVADING U.S., GREW ASSERTS

Schenectady, N. Y., April 26 [Special].—America is in dire peril from the Japanese, whose militarists are determined to invade and conquer the United States, Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Tokio, declared today.

"Our country, our cities, and our homes are in danger from a power that renders Japan potentially the strongest nation in the world," he said in an address at Union college.

The former ambassador, who is a special assistant to Cordell Hull, secretary of state, was among 12 persons upon whom Union college conferred honorary degrees at the commencement. Others receiving honorary degrees included Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell, chief of the army's service forces.

Find Artist's Widow Dead of Gun Wound in Home

Mrs. Hattie Sladek, 53 years old, 3344 Ravenswood avenue, was found shot to death yesterday in her home, according to Summerdale police. A gun was in her hand. Her son, Fred, 28, said she had been despondent since the death of her husband, Matthew, an artist, last November.

FOCH GRANDSON SAVED BY PILOT AS HE CRASHES

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, April 26 (AP).—A grandson of Marshal Foch, allied commander-in-chief in the closing months of the first World war, was saved from death by an RAF pilot, it was disclosed today.

The grandson, Capt. Becourt Foch, now an RAF pilot, was wounded seriously by a cannon shell exploding in his cockpit, but he managed to crash-land his plane. Weak from the loss of blood, he would have died had not a companion pilot landed beside him in enemy territory and taken him aboard his own plane, it was said.

Capt. Foch was flown to his home field and then to Cairo, where his life was saved by transfusions. He has recovered and is flying again with the British.

Training Ground for U. S. Soldiers

2D ARMY OPENS FIRST PROBLEM OF MANEUVERS

Troops Rehearse for Real Battle.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Field Headquarters, 2d Army, Lebanon, Tenn., April 26.—Opposed forces in the opening problem of the 2d army's hardening off summer maneuvers made light contact shortly after noon today and settled down to the job of attaining their objectives, each deep in the other's territory.

Since each force started its mission in complete ignorance as to its enemy's identity, size, or makeup, it was regarded as unlikely that either commander would elect to make a major thrust until tomorrow at the earliest. Then the sparring of the patrols and reconnaissance units will give way to more decisive clashes between foot and armored forces.

Start 25 Miles Apart.

The two armies jumped off at 6 a. m. today from areas roughly 25 miles apart, the Reds moving southward toward the oncoming Blues. Long before dawn the outfits were on the move, their patrols ranging far in the lead, to scout out enemy strength and disposition, followed closely by the demolition squads whose task was to simulate the destruction of bridges and otherwise harass the other side.

In the soft light of a perfect Tennessee dawn reconnaissance planes joined the action. Their approach halted the long truck and tank columns and scattered troops into ditches and thickets, for the men know this practice fighting is what it is billed to be, their final rehearsal for grimmer conflict.

Even the press correspondents, in uniform that makes them indistinguishable from army personnel except for their brassards, are under order to scatter at sight of aircraft, for the secrecy in these war games is deeper than ever before and the presence of any moving object may give a position away to aerial observers. Trucks, tanks, and artillery move beneath concealing screens of netting and tree branches.

Morale Is High.

Military observers here from numerous training centers spoke highly of the morale and businesslike appearance of the men, who seem eager to demonstrate their fitness as a tribute to their departing commander, Lt. Gen. Ben Lear, elevated yesterday to temporary command of the nation's ground forces. Thruout the long months of their training they have groused over the rigors of Gen. Lear's "fit to fight" slogan, but now they are glad, they say, that they learned under a man considered worthy of one of the highest posts the army offers. Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall, second in command, succeeds to command of the 2d army.

Driver from Puerto Rico.

The Tribune correspondent's command car movement today drew special interest from the fact that the driver, Pvt. Jesus Velazques of Hamacoa, Puerto Rico, responded only when addressed loudly by his name, and there were many raised eyebrows among the natives in the crowded small towns.

Tennesseeans hereabouts, to whom the sight of many soldiers is no novelty, accept with surprising good nature the civilian inconveniences inevitable accompanying large scale troop movements. The pretty girls wave gaily at each truck load of bronzed fighters, and many farmers offer their spacious yards as bivouac sites.

NAZIS TEACH PEOPLE TO DEFEND SELVES AGAINST POISON GAS

SOMEWHERE IN EUROPE, April 26 (AP).—Germany has begun an intensive educational campaign on defense against poison gas, it was learned today. Defense practices have been under way for six weeks thruout the reich, these reports said, and every suitable factory is turning out large quantities of gas masks.

The British government last week charged that the Germans were preparing to use gas against the Russians, and warned that Britain was ready to counter with the same weapon.

New courses on the effects of gas were reported begun for air raid precautions and fire fighting squadrons in Germany. School boys of 15 are being trained in how to fight gas, and women in maternity hospitals were said to be instructed in how to protect their infants.

CARRIER RANGER SUNK? NOT EVEN DAMAGED—NAVY

Washington, D. C., April 26 (AP).—Navy headquarters flatly denied today that the United States aircraft carrier Ranger has been torpedoed and sunk—or even damaged.

"Neither the Ranger nor any other United States carrier has been sunk or damaged in any ocean," a spokesman said. He declined further comment on the German radio claims Sunday that the 14,500 ton carrier was sunk by a submarine in the North Atlantic.

First United States vessel designed specifically as an aircraft carrier, the Ranger was launched in 1933. She originally was fitted for 1,788 men, including flying personnel.

BANDITS BEAT AND ROB ENGINEER.

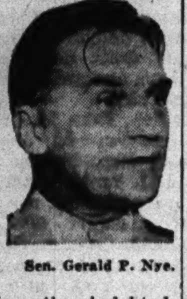
PANAMA GRANT BILL PASSED BY SENATE, 37-19

Protests at By-Passing Treaty in Vain.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Sen. Gerald P. Nye.

Washington, D. C., April 26. — Overriding vigorous protests that the administration was attempting to by-pass treaty making procedure under the constitution, the senate today, by a vote of 37 to 19, approved and sent to the White House legislation conveying certain lands and properties to the government of Panama and canceling the indebtedness of that government to the export-import bank.

Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] led the opposition to enactment of the house joint resolution, the contents of which, he said, should properly have been embodied in a treaty. Sen. John A. Danaher [R., Conn.] also objected that this resolution, requiring mere majority approval by congress, in effect modified a treaty of 1903, which required two-third approval by the senate.

Warn of Dangerous Precedent.

Nye warned that this procedure "sets a precedent that is dangerous," and declared that "when it comes to altering treaties of another day, we have every right to demand that the alteration be brought about by treaty rather than by executive authority and pronouncement."

Some senators opposing the measure expressed the private opinion that the administration may also attempt this procedure of legislation rather than treaty to get congressional sanction on peace commitments and other international obligations. But the senators predicted that such a ruse would arouse indignation in congress and end in certain defeat.

Connally Defends Bill.

Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, stoutly defended the legislation by declaring it was essential as part of the administration's "good neighbor" policy and in appreciation of Panama's willingness to provide the United States with defense sites for the protection of the Panama canal.

The resolution provides for surrender to Panama of physical properties and administration of the water and sewage systems installed by the United States in the cities of Panama and Colon, conveyance of title in lands belonging to the United States in these same Panamanian cities, and forgiveness of the debt of $2,700,000 owed the American export-import bank for a loan to reconstruct a highway linking the Canal zone with an air base at Rio Hato.

Called "Santa Claus" Policy.

Nye declared that the "good neighbor" policy has become a "Santa Claus" policy.

Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] and Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] supported the resolution, however, declaring that it was urgent that the concessions to Panama be made promptly.

On the record vote 8 Republicans joined with 29 Democrats to approve the resolution. The opposition of 19 votes was solidly Republican. The Republicans favoring the resolution were Senators Warren E. Austin of Vermont, Joseph H. Ball of Minnesota, Ralph O. Brewster of Maine, Harold H. Burton of Ohio, Arthur Capper of Kansas, James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, and Vandenberg.

NEW GREAT LAKES EXECUTIVE OFFICER GIVEN NAVY CROSS

Comm. James S. Freeman.

For the heroism and superior skill he displayed in delivering supplies during the initial American offensive in the Solomon Islands, Comm. James S. Freeman, new executive officer at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, received the navy cross yesterday from Rear Adm. John Downes, acting in behalf of President Roosevelt.

Freeman maneuvered a cargo ship thru enemy waters despite aerial and surface resistance on Aug. 7, 8, and 9, 1942, and when it was torpedoed on the third trip he successfully beached the cargo. A native of Alabama, he was graduated from Annapolis in 1921. He reported at Great Lakes two weeks ago to relieve Comm. Roger Hyatt as executive officer.

The presentation ceremony was held yesterday in Ross auditorium at the station, in the presence of Capt. R. R. M. Emmet, the station's commanding officer, and 2,000 officers and men.

Rear Adm. C. H. McMorris Awarded the Navy Cross

Philadelphia, Pa., April 26 (AP).—Award of the navy cross to Rear Adm. Charles H. McMorris, who commanded the cruiser San Francisco during the battle of Cape Esperance, Oct. 11-12, was announced yesterday by the navy department. After the battle McMorris was advanced from captain and given another command at sea, the navy said. His successor as commander of the San Francisco, Capt. Cassin Young was killed in the battle of Guadalcanal Nov. 13-15.

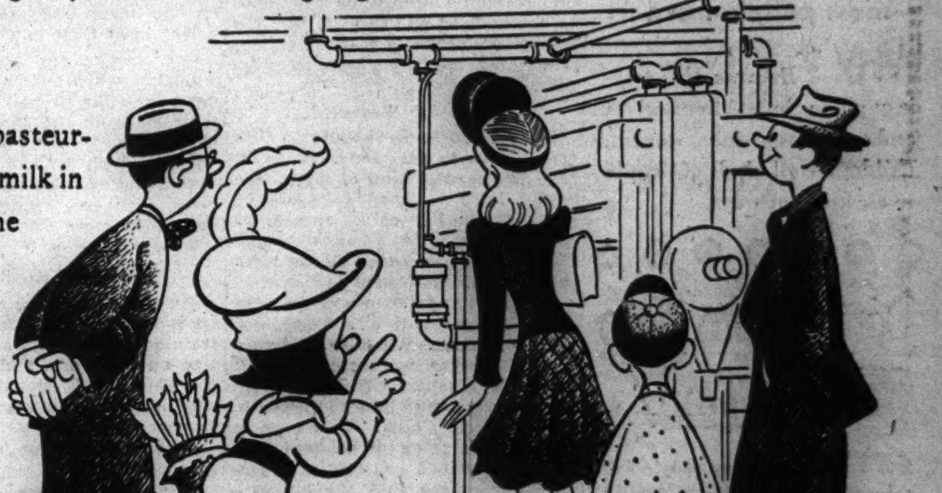
. . . YOUR VISIT TO BOWMAN'S

WELCOME
CHENOWETH

LEMME SHOW YOU

Bud Bowman

GUIDING FOLKS AROUND a Bowman plant is a job I'd like. Real fun! But there are regular "Information, please" fellows who do it lots better. Call Superior 6800 and arrange a tour for your club or group . . . "block" meetings are often held at Bowman's, too. Meanwhile, lemme give you some of the high-lights.



HERE'S THE "FLASH" pasteurizer, so called 'cause it pasteurizes the milk in a flash (16½ seconds). Of course, Bowman Milk is naturally fine to begin with—otherwise we wouldn't allow it in our sanitary glass-lined tank cars or cool clean holding tanks. Pasteurizing just makes certain it's pure as Snow White's heart!

THE BOTTLE WASHER—I should say scrubber and sterilizer, too—is a honey. Takes each Bowman bottle through 5 separate tanks of powerful caustic, a clear rinse . . . then brushes 'em inside and out, and on through a final antiseptic wash. After that nothing could be cleaner. And from there the bottles are automatically filled with pure, pasteurized milk.

IF YOU HAVEN'T TASTED country-fresh Bowman Milk, you will at your trip to the plant. Of course, thousands of Chicagoland families enjoy it daily at home. Bowman's is 10 times tested, so it's always your best food at its best. Try some.

HOW WE BOMBED TOKIO: FLYER'S THRILLING EPIC

Raid Climax to a Long Period of Training.

the interior of China, and I had to make it the hard way. My story properly begins, I think, in the spring of 1940, when I was sitting on the campus with a bunch of the boys. An army bomber flew over and I said then, "I have always wanted to fly."

Only because I realized the importance of education had I delayed going earlier to the army and asking to be admitted into its air force. I went to Scott field, Illinois, for my first physical examination. In October came the word that I was accepted for flight training and on the 16th of that month I was sworn in at Hicks field, Texas.

Given Tough Training.

I was transferred soon afterward to Randolph field, Texas. I had a tough training there; they marched my tail off. In March of 1941 I went to Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala. At Maxwell, I studied military law, aviation codes, and motors. The next transfer was to Coral Gables, Fla.

A choice was offered me there, and I asked to be sent to Pendleton, Ore. For what reason? Well, I had always wanted to see the Pacific northwest and never had been able to. They sent me out there on Aug. 14, 1941.

My commission arrived there Dec. 6, just one day before Pearl Harbor. A few days later I was sent to McChord field, Washington, where we took up duty patroling the coast. Our group there was credited with sinking one submarine, and perhaps another one, in the early days of the war in the Pacific.

I served in Portland, Ore., and again in Pendleton before I was sent to Columbia, S. C., on Feb. 13, 1942—Friday, the 13th, as I remember it. At Columbia facilities were not so good as at other places, but we had had a "latrinogram" [rumor] that something important was brewing.

Volunteers for Secret Mission.

Something was. About 10 days after my arrival, some of us were asked to volunteer for a special mission. We didn't know what it was, or even its nature. But we suspected it held great danger and a lot of adventure. I was one of those who went on to Eglin field, Florida, for the special mission.

The way we were treated convinced us it was something more than a mere special mission; it was a special-special. The chosen men were given quarters in a separate barracks and told not to talk.

Not many days passed before we were all called together and a lieutenant colonel we hadn't seen yet in line of duty was there to address us. As soon as we heard his name we knew we could depend on real action. It was Lt. Col. James H. Doolittle.

I had read a great deal about him. His home was only a few blocks from my father's in University City [a St. Louis suburb] and we all knew of the dangerous and often unprecedented things he had done as a war flyer and in civil life. He was preëminently a man of action. Something really big was in prospect.

Great Job Revealed.

He let us know about it. We would have to get ready. It would take the hardest kind of work. We would have to keep our mouths shut. At the end of his speech, he told us we were going to bomb Tokio. This was about all we were told and all we needed to know.

We didn't know then how we were going to get within striking distance of Japan. We tried to figure it out. Maybe we would get off from an Alaskan island, or from some secret island base to the south. Maybe from China. Wherever it was, it was going to be hard, and we were trained constantly in getting our planes into the air with the shortest possible run.

That was, of course, a tipoff, but we didn't know until we were ready to embark on the Hornet that we were to take off from the flight deck of a carrier.

Lawson the Pilot.

After the colonel's talk we really went to work. Each bomber crew trained as a team. We discussed each other's mistakes. And each of us tried to learn something of the other fellow's job. Five men had to work as a unit, and we gave all we had to that end.

Lt. Ted Lawson [later captain] was the pilot, Lt. Dean Davenport was the co-pilot, I was the navigator, and Lt. Robert S. Clever, who has since been killed, was the bombardier. Our rear gunner was Corp. [now Sergt.] David S. Thatcher, who was to be a tower of strength later when the rest of us were injured severely and almost helpless in China.

It was, I thought—as the army did—important that there be at least one co-navigator, and I taught Clever what I knew about taking celestial shots and other tricks of my trade. He taught me about bombardiering. All of us recognized that a spare for each job might mean the difference between death and survival on such a mission. Everybody on the team was reasonably proficient in at least two positions.

For some reason the Tokio bombing detail, which included something more than the 80 men who dumped their loads on the Japs, was designated the "B-25 project detachment," which has a slight WPA sound. But that detail had A-1 priority over everything else; there was nothing we could ask for that we did not get at once.

Ready for Great Feat.

We saw little of Lt. Col. Doolittle [now a major general] during the training period. His assistants carried on the work, and we believed we were good enough to accomplish anything that any other bomber flyers could.

At last we did see him. He made a talk to us.

"Get your financial affairs in shape—all of you," he ordered, "and don't, in your letters to the folks or to your wives, give any hint where you are going."

It was late March, 1942, when we were about ready for the long journey; we were going to see the open ocean, the smokestacks of Tokio, and the beauty of Mount Fujiyama. We were off to a terrible crash in China.

[In the next instalment Lt. McClure will tell of the teamwork of the army and navy in embarking the planes of the Tokio bombers on the carrier Hornet and of events aboard the ship.]

YANK PILOT DOWNS 3 JAPS TO PROVE HIS EYE INJURY IS BETTER

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, April 5 [Delayed].—First Lt. Arthur N. Nehf Jr., 24, a marine pilot of Phoenix, Ariz., is a happy man—he has overcome an eye injury which threatened to end his flying days. He downed three Japanese bombers over Guadalcanal to prove there is nothing wrong with his sight.

Nehf, whose father is Art Nehf, National league Southpaw pitcher, was injured in a forced landing. Doctors expressed doubt he would ever fly again.

A flying buddy said "Nehf made up his mind he was going to fly again. I never saw a happier fellow than Nehf the day he was riding in after the air battle. He kept repeating: 'Who said my eye isn't all right?'" and, the buddy related, the record gives Nehf credit for three bombers downed.

U. S. INTRODUCES FLIGHT OFFICER GRADE IN BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 26.—The United States army air force in Great Britain has put into effect a new grade, that of flight officer, which corresponds to that of a British flying warrant officer of the royal air force, it was learned tonight. This grade is being given to fighter, bomber and transport pilots, but particularly to fighter pilots, owing to their greater numbers.

The salary is $1,500 a year plus 50 per cent additional if the airman is performing actual flying duties plus a further added 10 per cent for foreign service. The pay of a first lieutenant in the army air forces is $2,000 a year plus the additions enumerated above.

One of the first pilots to acquire the new grade, which was created by congress last July 8, was Peter Lehman, son of the former governor of New York, Herbert H. Lehman, now director of foreign relief and rehabilitation. Candidates will be mostly sergeant pilots, who will receive special training before receiving the new grade.

PROBE DEFERRED DRAFT AGE MEN IN HULL OFFICE

Young Career Diplomats Active at Parties.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 26.—Aroused by reports that an aristocracy of slackers exists in the state department, the house military affairs subcommittee investigating draft dodging is preparing to examine draft deferments in the nation's foreign service, it was learned tonight.

Rep. John M. Costello [D., Cal.], chairman of the subcommittee, and Rep. Forest A. Harness [R., Ind.], ranking Republican member, are about to ask the department why career men are loathe to change white ties and tails for army khaki or navy blue. The representatives also plan to ask whether it is true that officials of the state department have no personal reason to maintain peace because they are exempt from active war service.

History Repeats Itself.

The congressmen found that many ranking career men in the American diplomatic service today failed to serve in the military services during the World war tho they were at that time young men in their 20s and 30s.

Today history is repeating itself, Rep. Harness said, and the young career men, who regard the state department as an exclusive social club, are again being deferred.

"They should be taken out of cocktail lounges and drawing rooms to shoulder a rifle in the service of the country for which they have been apologizing at various foreign courts," Harness said. "Older men can carry on the work of the state department."

Generally Wealthy Men.

Harness emphasized that many young men in the American foreign service have spent their lives abroad and consider themselves members of the international set rather than Americans. Further, he said, they are, almost "without exception, men of independent means, who regard the foreign service as genteel employment rather than a rôle of service to the country."

"Many of them don't even talk like Americans, much less think like Americans," he said. "British diplomats are all out for Britain. Russian diplomats are all out for Russia. The American diplomatic service, I am told, is the only one that has servants who have been known to apologize for their country."

Young career men are a common sight at Washington cocktail parties. Recently one of these, noting that he and one of his fellow diplomats were the only young unmarried men not in uniform, said that his greatest regret was that he was barred from service by a state department order.

Questioned about the order, the career man said it barred foreign service men from obtaining commissions. Asked whether he was barred from serving in the ranks, the career man informed his questioner that he spoke five languages and could hardly be expected to serve in the ranks.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is paying $3,500.00 a week for completing unfinished "Beat-the-Axis" slogans. Ten prizes of $50.00 each are being paid every day except Saturday when twenty prizes of $50.00 each are being paid. Look at the unfinished slogan printed above. Surely you can find words to finish it just as you'd like to finish Hitler—try it—you may win a $50.00 bill.

★ THE RULES ★

1. Each weekday until further notice the Chicago Tribune will publish an unfinished "Beat-the-Axis" slogan. You are invited to complete it in your own words. Total must be ten words or less, including printed word or words if given. All words must start with the same letter. Hyphenated words will be counted as one word.

2. The Tribune will pay ten cash awards of $50.00 each weekday, excepting Saturdays when twenty cash awards of $50.00 each will be paid. Awards will be paid to the persons whose entries are published in the Tribune. Such selected entries will be published exactly one week following the publication of the unfinished slogan and the prizes will be paid at once.

3. This offer is open free to every man, woman, boy and girl, regardless of residence, excepting employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families. No subscriptions to solicit—nothing else to do but complete the slogan. Entries should be addressed, "Slogans," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. All become the property of the Tribune and none will be returned. Entries must be in by noon the third day after publication of the unfinished slogan.

4. You may submit your entry on the coupon published in the Tribune, or a facsimile. Judging will be by a Committee appointed by the Tribune. Awards will be paid to the persons who submit the most interesting slogans in the opinion of the judges. Aptness of thought, wit, cleverness and neatness will be the determining factors. Entries must be the original creation of the sender. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid. In submitting any entry the entrant must agree to accept the judges' decision as final. In fairness to all, the Tribune cannot engage in any correspondence.

SPIKE IS DAPPER SELF AGAIN, BUT HEDGES IN QUIZ

'o Grand Jurors Seek Butler and McKay.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

City paving was discussed briefly yesterday before the grand jury by Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, one of the city's best dressed men who has been dodging bullets hereabouts for the last 20 years. Spike's discussion on paving revealed nothing, so the grand jury issued subpenas for Joseph Butler, city superintendent of streets, and Robert G. McKay, asphalt contractor.

The jury's appetite for information was whetted by Spike's words on who shot him last March 15, his coyness about saying why, his admission that he had used his fists with strong effect on Paving Supt. Butler's face on two occasions, and his further admission that he had walked into McKay's office and "had an encounter with him."

Spike Turns on Charm.

It was reported later that Spike had not given the jury details of his claim for $70,000 in a resurfacing deal back in 1938, but there was no doubt that Spike was still claiming the money was due him.

It was O'Donnell's first public appearance since March 15 when he was shot in the back as he walked toward his home at 8324 South Loomis street. In public appearance Spike always likes to look his best and he turned on the charm as he entered the Criminal courts building and found a number of high school girls there waiting to be shown how our criminal jurisprudence is administered.

Light tan fedora atop his 6 feet 2 inches of well built framework, light tan top coat, gloves in hand and swishing about, O'Donnell, once a leading bootlegger and gangfighter, endeavored to make the high school girls' visit a memorable one. He bowed right and left, waved hand and gloves at many, said hello to nearly every one about, and strode importantly toward the office of Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney.

Recalls $70,000 Claim.

Crowley kept him waiting, then told him to proceed to the grand jury room. A month or two before he was shot, O'Donnell had told Crowley about his claim to $70,000 from the asphalt and paving contractors of Chicago. He had told Crowley he held Butler and McKay responsible for the collection of his fee, after the death of Mike Carrozzo, the Nitti syndicate hoodlum who controlled all the street paving workers' unions and who worked in harmony with a paving combine.

But when he was shot, and while he hovered near death, Spike wouldn't tell Crowley the right time. The wounded man had said to a reporter: "Yes, I was shot because of that paving deal." Thereafter he had nothing to say. His relationship to the city hall and the paving ring was an issue in the recent mayoral campaign and such publicity was distasteful to O'Donnell, he declared.

Butler Still Away.

The man who was the talk of the town during the campaign did a lot of talking in the grand jury room yesterday, but when it was all added up, he was reported to have said little. But he did admit manhandling Butler and McKay and when asked why, he suggested, "Ask them."

So, it was announced, the grand jury intends to ask them. The subpenas were made returnable next Thursday. Butler left Chicago shortly after O'Donnell slugged him last February and he hasn't been back since. McKay was reported away from his office for several weeks while O'Donnell was the talk of the town.

"We'll keep the subpenas for Butler and McKay alive until they are served," Crowley said last night.

Sol Shapiro.

Sol Shapiro, 33 years old, 4343 North Pulaski road, was being held by police last night as the confessed rapist of the young wife of a school teacher. The attack occurred at Eastwood and Campbell avenues yesterday. Shapiro was traced thru his license number which his victim jotted down with lipstick as he drove away.

William Sanders, 31, a Negro, of 5115 Indiana avenue, was shot in the neck when he tried to escape from Policemen Harold McCoy and John Nolan after his arrest on complaint that he had raped a colored woman. Police said he answers the description of the Negro who has raped or attempted to rape several white women.

Du Page county police were still searching for a stocky rapist who 10 days ago attacked a woman after locking her male companion in the trunk of their car. The assault occurred in Manchester road, west of Wheaton. Two similar attacks have been reported in Rockford.

PROBE 4 FIRES IN SINGLE NIGHT AT SCOTT FIELD

East St. Louis, Ill., April 26 [Special].—Four fires that broke out between 10:30 p. m. Friday and 12:30 a. m. Saturday in two areas of Scott field, army air force radio communication school, 22 miles east of here, are being investigated by a board of officers, it was disclosed today.

Post officials said that the blazes occurred in areas 2 and 3 at the field. In area 2 a frame gymnasium building was "badly damaged" with smaller fires occurring in a school building and a squadron day room. In area 3 a small fire occurred in a school building.

Officers would not comment concerning possibilities of sabotage. The fires were controled by the field fire department.

East St. Louis police reported that the Illinois state fire marshal has been asked to probe the origin of four or five fires that occurred here Friday under conditions that suggested incendiarism.

Policeman Exonerates Suspect in Rape Case

George Woodford, 31 years old, a Negro living at 5352 Dearborn street, was exonerated in Stockyards court yesterday in the shooting of Policeman William Reilly, of the Englewood station. Reilly was shot in the right arm with his own gun while attempting to arrest a suspected Negro rapist. Woodford was later arrested for questioning. In court yesterday, Policeman Reilly told Judge Francis Borrelli that Woodford was not the the man and the court discharged him.

HINTS U. S. MAY DROP FOOD RULE IN PUERTO RICO

Ickes' Aid Tells of Plan After Inquiry.

BY W. F. O'REILLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, April 26.—Insistence by the Puerto Rican chamber of commerce that supplies for the island be taken from the control of the food distribution administration and restored to normal trade channels has received partial acceptance from the federal government.

Interior Department Undersecretary Abe Fortas, who has been here for the last 10 days, told newspapermen that the procurement, warehousing, distribution, and sale of some commodities will probably be turned back to the merchants subject to OPA ceilings.

Tells of Exaggerations.

President Felipe L. de Hostos, of the chamber of commerce, testified before the senatorial committee headed by Sen. Dennis M. Chavez [D., N. M.], when it was here investigating food shortages on the island, that the FDA's handling of food supplies was responsible for the black market and spoilage of food.

Fortas said investigation had disclosed exaggerations in the stories of spoilage and poor distribution, but evidently has concluded that restoration to the merchants of as many products as possible would effect improvement.

Concerned with Realities.

The undersecretary said he had found that Puerto Rican leaders were concerned with economic realities more than with political issues. He pointed out that except for a brief period the island, more than most communities, had avoided direct "incidents of war in respect to supplies." Fortas' opinion that Puerto Rican labor is more efficient than is supposed on the mainland was welcomed here where there is considerable indignation because of the failure to utilize Puerto Rican workers to help solve the manpower shortage on the farms of the United States instead of importing laborers from the Bahamas and Jamaica.

Bill Provides $50 a Month for Civil Flying Trainees

Washington, D. C., April 26 (AP).—A $7,246,000 deficiency appropriation bill amended to provide payment of $50 a month to civil aeronautics trainees taking or awaiting army courses was passed today by the senate and returned to the house. Sen. Pat McCarran [D., Nev.] said the navy had been paying similar trainees $50 a month since last Dec. 15.

Baby Theft Case

Mrs. Frances Cison holding her daughter Janette after baby had been stolen and then recovered.

A 12 year old girl was sought by police last night after she stole a baby in her buggy from in front of a department store at 4805 South Ashland avenue, wheeled it into an alley four blocks away, took the baby's pillow and blanket, then walked off.

The baby is Janette Cison, 2 months old, daughter of Mrs. Frances Cison, 34 years old, 4949 South Loomis street. Mrs. Cison left the buggy unguarded when she entered the store to make a purchase. Five minutes later when she returned the baby was gone.

Almost before she had time to realize the child was gone Janette was found unharmed. Frank Gierlowski, 4728 South Loomis street, who saw the girl enter the alley pushing the buggy, later found it abandoned at the rear of his home. He told police that the girl carried the buggy accessories away with her.

2 Injured, Town Shaken by Blast in East Moline

East Moline, Ill., April 26 [Special].—Two men were injured and the entire business district of East Moline was rocked early this afternoon by an explosion at the Union Malleable Iron company when a transformer vault blew out. Othel McFarland, a workman, had his clothing blown off by the blast and was badly burned. Kastan Rosgitas was less seriously injured.

ARRAIGN WOMAN TODAY IN BABY KIDNAPING CASE

Mrs. Anna Werf, 41 years old, Oak Forest, will be arraigned in Felony court this morning on a charge of kidnaping Barbara Jean Urmston, 4 months old, from a buggy in front of a store at 6330 Halsted street Saturday, Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley, said yesterday. The state will ask a grand jury investigation of the case and will ask Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro to order Mrs. Werf examined by Dr. William H. Haines, head of the Cook county behavior clinic, Crowley said.

Dr. Emil T. Hoverson, 4028 West 147th street, Midlothian, whose card Mrs. Werf was carrying, told police yesterday that he had been treating her for about five years and believed that she should be put in an institution. He said Mrs. Werf was suffering from a split personality.

The baby, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Urmston, 3534 West 83d place, was found in an alley behind 1530 North Dearborn parkway about eight hours after the kidnaping. Mrs. Werf, who was identified by Mrs. Urmston and five others, was arrested in the loop Saturday night.

HOLD FIFTH MAN IN KIDNAP CASE TO GRAND JURY

Joseph Jakubec, 18 years old, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $60,000 on six charges of robbery by Judge Victor A. Kula in Felony court.

Jakubec is the last of a gang of five young men to be captured after the kidnaping of three young Lake Forest residents. His arrest followed capture of John Bodenchak, 23, alleged ringleader of the band.

The state will seek to have all indictments returnable on the same date so that the five defendants may be tried together. The other three members of the gang are Robert Kravish, 17; Richard Schenold, 19, and Raymond Weglowski, 17. All were indicted on robbery charges.

WLB BEGS HALT AS MINERS' WORK STOPPAGE GAINS

Threats of General Strike Are Increasing.

Washington, D. C., April 26 [Special].—With threats of a general soft coal strike in the air, the war labor board tonight appealed to the United Mine Workers' leadership to halt spreading work stoppages in the bituminous mines which, the board said, are "seriously interrupting the production of vitally needed war materials."

The crisis in the miners' wage dispute appeared to be inexorably bringing closer a climactic test of the government's war time labor policies and it was considered likely that President Roosevelt would be called upon to back up the agency he established to handle war time labor troubles.

15,000 Quit Pits.

More than 15,000 miners in the soft coal fields of Pennsylvania, Kentucky, and Alabama laid down their tools in the steadily broadening disagreement. Slowdowns were reported in several Pennsylvania mines. UMW leaders in Illinois, Indiana, and Alabama gave operators five days' notice of the termination of the temporary wage agreement under which they have been operating for a month.

In New York, where UMW President John L. Lewis, who had twice snubbed the labor board, was attending the anthracite conference and maintaining an ominous silence to interviewers, a source close to union officials said that hundreds of telegrams asserting that miners were ready to strike at a moment's notice were streaming into UMW headquarters.

"The general tenor of the telegrams," said the source, who requested that his name not be used, was 'Don't yield an inch. Don't give in to the operators. We're ready to strike and we want our demands met'."

Strikes Not Forbidden.

The same source said he would not be surprised if sporadic strikes in the industry, which started last week, began to spread without any word from Lewis. He pointed out that Lewis had not forbidden such action. UMW leaders had said earlier that the work stoppages had not been authorized but there was no word from them of any action to halt the disruptions.

Meantime, Lewis, who had paid no attention to the WLB's summons to a hearing Saturday, today ignored its request that he submit a list of names from which the board might pick a labor representative on a three man panel to investigate the wage dispute.

Without benefit of a nomination from Lewis, the board went ahead and named the investigators. They are Morris Llewellyn Cooke, Philadelphia management engineer chairman and public member; Walter White, assistant to the chairman of the business advisory council of the department of commerce, employer representative, and David B. Robertson, of Cleveland, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, an independent union, who will represent labor.

WLB Wires UMW Officers.

The WLB's appeal for a cessation of the work stoppages was made in telegrams addressed to UMW officers individually. It said in part:

"We call upon you as a leader of your union to urge the workers to return to their jobs immediately under the plan as suggested by the President and ordered by the board so that a nation at war may have maximum production not only in the coal fields but in countless related war industries which are so vitally dependent upon continued operation.

"With the knowledge that large numbers of mine workers and their sons are at the fighting front, we feel confident that with a proper understanding of the plan for the peaceful settlement of their dispute they will return to their jobs to continue their most important contribution to full production and winning the war."

Captive Mines Hit.

Altho the work cessation spread late today to commercial mines, most of it was taking place in the "captive" mines in Pennsylvania owned by steel companies.

"Industry is screaming for coal and we can't get it out of the ground," declared an official of the Castle Shannon Coal corporation. "In addition to a lot of absenteeism, the men at work are not putting out the coal."

Both company officials and UMWA leaders blamed the work stoppages on unrest and fears of the men that they won't get the wage increases they are demanding.

WLB Policy Assailed.

"The WLB rendered a decision in this case before it heard the evidence," John P. Busarello, president of UMWA district 5, charged. "It more or less publicized the fact that the miners were not going to get a thing. The workers are getting a raw deal and they know it."

He termed the board a "national cemetery for labor cases," declaring that "only a short time ago it had 17,000 cases pending." Lewis has called the board a "court packed against labor."

Chief issues in the dispute are the UMWA's demands for a $2 increase in basic daily wages, an $8 minimum wage, unionization of minor bosses, and "portal-to-portal" pay.

The portal-to-portal plan means pay for all the time miners spend in travel underground. The union contends that pay is now based on the time actually spent at the coal seam, but mine operators say rates are established with travel time as a consideration.

THE QUESTION.

Were you ever entrusted with a message you forgot to deliver?

WHERE ASKED.

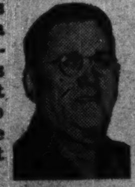
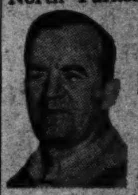
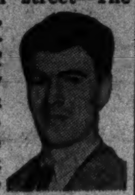
THE ANSWERS.



Richard Peterson, machinist, 501 North Central avenue—On my way thru the city I was supposed to tell a friend that some property he wanted was available if he bought it within 10 days. Two weeks passed before I ever thought of it again.



Nicholas Siampanis, milkman, 1635 North Parkside avenue—A boy at my door told me his mother had baked a birthday cake for the family across the hall. They weren't home and he asked me to deliver the cake when they returned. I was getting ready to leave on my vacation and I didn't remember the cake until I saw it again two weeks later.



George Coon, recreational secretary, 3449 Madison street—The camps hadn't opened, but a camp counselor friend asked if I would make early arrangements with a camp to take a group of boys for a nature study trip. I forgot all about it until the boys were all packed and ready to leave. I had to work fast.

R. H. Carlsen, diamond engineer, 621 Talcott road, Park Ridge—We had asked two friends to dinner whenever they had a free evening. They called me at the office to set the day and I was to give the message to my wife. It slipped my mind until I walked in and saw her preparing left-overs for two.

Audrey Asmus, student, 5960 West Augusta boulevard—Our girls' band was to play at a program and I promised to have a friend pick up the heavier instruments at the school. I didn't think of it again until we started tuning up. Our whole program was delayed while some one went after the instruments.

Marilyn Campbell, student, 656 Pine avenue—One girl told me that the rink where several of us planned to meet for a roller skating party was closed, and I offered to tell the girls that we would meet at another place. They didn't show up because I forgot to notify them of the change in plans. The two of us didn't have much of a party.

C. F. OF L. LABELS WMC JOB FREEZE AKIN TO SLAVERY

The war man power commission's "job freeze" was condemned as an un-American form of slavery by the Chicago Federation of Labor in a letter to President Roosevelt released by the federation yesterday. The protest was mailed last Thursday.

The hiring controls were instituted April 18 by Man Power Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, avowedly to halt the wasteful turnover of labor. Labor unrest and confusion have followed in the wake of the order.

"The WMC edict, in effect," the federations' letter said, "locks the workers to the service of private corporations engaged in war enterprises. The employer is empowered to hold or release the workers as he sees fit. This, we contend, is a form of slavery and should have no place in free America.

"Serfdom in modern America was unthinkable until the WMC began to enforce its alleged 'job stabilization plans,' which were first announced as designed merely to stop so-called 'piracy' on the peculiar claim that employers were 'stealing' each other's employés," the federation charged. "The McNutt program from its very beginnings a year ago has carried that implication of ownership of the worker by the employer. . . ."

PLAN TO INSTALL HUGE DRUG STORE IN THE PENTAGON

Walgreen Profits Will Go to Army Fund.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 26.—The war department announced tonight that its giant new five sided headquarters building—the Pentagon—is to have a giant drug store to serve the Pentagon's 30,000 military and civilian personnel.

The drug store will be operated by the Walgreen company of Chicago and the profits will be donated by the company to the Pentagon post restaurant council, which supervises concessions in the building.

The council is appointed by the commanding general of the military district of Washington. How it will utilize the funds was not divulged.

Large Space Required.

The drug store will require two-thirds of the space to be made available by ripping out a 500 foot lunch bar which was never used. The store will serve no food or drinks.

The installation of the drug store, expected to be in operation about May 15, is part of a plan to bring more conveniences to the workers and incidentally to reduce their time away from their desks for shopping.

The rest of the plan is a complete shopping service to be offered by Washington department stores. The stores will sell no goods but they will have sample merchandise on display in the building.

Far from Shopping Area.

The Pentagon workers may place orders with the clerks in the morning and delivery will be made in the afternoon, or next day.

The Pentagon, reputed to have cost 70 million dollars, is in Arlington, Va., far removed from the Washington shopping district. The army men and civilians working in its vast expanse complain they have little time outside working hours when they can get to the stores and some of them have been asking for shopping leave.

25 CHICAGO DOGS SHIPPED TO WAR AS 'DEVIL DOGS'

Twenty-five Dobermann-Pinschers were shipped out of Chicago yesterday for service with the marine corps. It was the fourth shipment from Chicago and the largest to go to the marines from any war dog procurement center in the country.

The 25 dogs were sent to New River, N. C., where they will get two to three months' training. Nine of the dogs already had received some training at amateur clubs here.

R. V. Henderson, secretary of the Dobermann-Pinscher Clubs of America, is procurement agent of the marine corps for dogs here, and Melvin Bailey is regional director of procurement for the state.

CARNEGIE STEEL WORK RESUMED AT NORMAL PACE

Operations at the vast Carnegie-Illinois Steel mills in Gary and South Chicago were reported at normal level yesterday after five days marked by a dozen nuisance strikes and one full fledged strike. It was the first day since Tuesday without a work stoppage.

Representatives of the corporation and the United Steel Workers [CIO] met and discussed the grievances which for the most part prompted the work interruptions. Reliable sources reported the two groups were not easily finding a common ground and that more work disturbances might result.

The work stoppages began early Wednesday and continued daily, culminating with eight sitdown strikes Sunday in the company's south works. In most instances only a score or so of employés were involved. The only genuine strike involved 150 men, who stayed off their jobs three days. The chief complaint, as voiced by union men, is that a new incentive wage scale has reduced wages.

CARETAKER FOUND DEAD.

Adam Kasper, 68 years old, 245 West 46th place, was found dead yesterday on a davenport at 252 West 47th street, where he was employed as a caretaker. He apparently suffered a heart attack.

THE FOURTH TERM.

The good fortune of the American republic gave it Gen. Washington, a first President to whom ambition for office, place, and personal rule was entirely foreign. A resourceful, daring, and self-seeking man of brilliant service to his country, with devoted officers, might have persuaded first himself and then an easily persuadable following that the young country needed long tenure in the office of chief executive. The country would have troubles and dangers enough without inviting factional contests to secure the first office in the land.

Washington, as the president of the constitutional convention, knew the doubts the delegates entertained regarding the office which later fell to him. With apprehensions, but hoping they were right, they had created a new authority for which there was no precedent in any government. There was no model in any other form of government for this magistrate who, deriving his power from the people, was responsible to no one but them. He could shape judicial decisions by his appointment of judges. He could check the legislature by his veto. He was commander of the armed forces.

Many of the delegates had watched the man of the future as his outlines grew in their deliberations and had wondered what sort of flesh he would put on and what manner of ideas would fill his head. Too much of a king or dictator he'd be, they thought when their doubts were greatest; first might come a Caesar pushing away the crown and his eyes seizing it; then an Augustus taking the crown and soothing the senate; he was the servant of the laws and customs; then a Probus telling the Conscript Fathers with no ado that it would be permitted them to receive his decrees. The delegates had studied the ancient forms of republics, confederations, and quasi free governments more than the forms of their own immediate times as may be seen in their references and allusions in debate.

The Founders in Philadelphia hesitated all thru the summer of 1787, fearful of making the chief magistrate too strong, fearful of making him too weak, weighing a triumvirate against a single person, a dependent office against an independent one, eligibility for reëlection or reappointment against ineligibility, a long term with no renewal against a short term with reëlection. Their final decision was the bold one. They created the new office with wide prerogatives, the powerful and independent Presidency, a head of government elected by the people thru an agency which had no other political functions and was called into being for this one purpose.

The delegates had been unable to satisfy themselves entirely as to tenure. Their compromise, after they had almost exhausted the possibilities and themselves, was a four year term, and eligibility for reëlection. The Constitution and the Presidency were given to the people, to time, to the test of circumstance, and to trial by adversity.

Washington was persuaded against his will that he owed a second term to his country. He denied the doctrine of indispensability even when thus yielding and in denying it as to himself he set the standard for his office. The republican form was unfit for long duration if it had to depend upon a single man and did not bring into public life many men capable of conducting its affairs as chief executive in emergency as well as in normal times. The pretense of indispensability was the excuse for monarchy and dictatorship.

Mr. Roosevelt is the man whose coming the Founders had in mind when they were almost persuaded to make the office so unimportant that it would contain no opportunity for the adventurer whose ambition to rule was his all governing desire. Almost without exception the men who had preceded him had learned from their own experience in office that limited tenure and not the tenant was indispensable. With Mr. Roosevelt there arrived the conjunction of characteristics and conditions which had been foreseen as the combination which would reveal the approach of the adventurer and his opportunity.

The conjunction was one of a highly exploitable state of financial distress and economic disturbance, an ominous prospect abroad with wars in the making and convulsions inevitable, an anxious, in part despairing, people here, a loss of faith in the old ways, a general questioning and an active sentiment for social change—into which conditions to form the combination came a man debonair in appearance, with a silver tongue and hands full of gold, not his own, a man of inherited wealth who presented himself as an evangelizing social conscience on one scene and a master manipulator of machine politics and politicians on another; a man who expertly knew how to raise prejudices, excite jealousies, distribute subsidies, procure appropriations, attract a following bound to him by favors given and expected, create crises in his own interests, and obtain extraordinary grants of absolute authority over men and property to meet them.

Mr. Roosevelt's unrestrained, possibly by now unrestrainable, ambition followed the course of its nature. He prepared the country for his attempt at life tenure. He was successful in getting the third term. He now wants the fourth.

There, Mr. Spangler and members of the Republican national committee, is the country's problem. How do you propose to meet it?

RIVER TAXIS.

A company that had expressed a willingness to provide the people of Chicago with a river taxi service has withdrawn the offer, saying that the city council has moved too slowly in granting a permit. For fear that a franchise might not be voted, the company has sold its speed boats. It is said to be improbable that another fleet can be assembled this year in view of restrictions on manufacturing. Members of the city council have replied by saying that there have been no unnecessary delays.

A fleet of river taxis can be of considerable value to the community and particularly to those who ride the suburban trains. Now that limitations have been imposed on the use of taxicabs, there is more reason than ever for providing alternative services, particularly to the North Western and Union stations, both of which are close to the river.

It's a pity that the plan fell thru. The city council will do well to make it its business to find out whether the fault lies with its committee, as charged, or with some one else. Perhaps if the subject is thoroly explored a means may yet be found for establishing river taxis this season.

THE DEBT.

When Mr. Roosevelt took office the debt of the country stood at 21 billion dollars. In the next six and a half years, or down to the outbreak of the war in Europe, he piled 20 billions on the debt in an unsuccessful effort to restore prosperity. Rearming the country after the fall of France brought the debt up to 56 billions at the time of Pearl Harbor. Seventy billions more has been borrowed since then. The government will owe about 140 billions by midyear, when the accounting period ends. The deficit in the next fiscal year has already been estimated at 71 billion dollars. Another year of war after that would certainly mean another 100 billions of indebtedness.

Thus if the war lasts until the middle of 1945 the government will owe more than 300 billion dollars. The interest on that will not be less than 9 billion dollars a year. The carrying charges alone will require a 9 per cent sales tax on everything, or some equivalent levy. Other expenditures, especially the care of the war maimed, will take not less than 9 billion dollars, making an 18 per cent sales tax necessary. Assuming exemptions and credits equal to half of income, an income tax rate of 36 per cent would be required.

These figures assume that the national income will be around 100 billion dollars. But in the last 10 years the total annual income of all the people of the country has fallen on occasion as low as 40 billion dollars, and in the best pre-war year of the Roosevelt administration it was only 71 billion dollars. The hardships that would be imposed in raising 18 billion dollars to pay interest on the public debt and provide for other federal expenditures if the national income should drop materially can hardly be imagined.

It might be possible to carry the debt and pay the other government costs, and even pay off a little at a time, with a national income of present proportions. Gradual repayment ought to be the objective, for in no other way can financial disaster of the worst sort be avoided. Those at the helm must have the courage and the ability to balance the budget soon after the fighting has stopped. If by any mischance Mr. Roosevelt were elected in 1944, or any one with his grandiose views of public works, social insurance and post-war lend-leasing, any hope of saving the country from financial chaos would vanish.

THE FRENCHMEN GET SOME TANKS.

Jack Thompson quotes many of the French officers whom he has met in North Africa as saying, in effect: "We have well trained soldiers here—an army of them. Why not send us arms immediately instead of spending time training Americans? We are an army eager to fight. Just give us arms."

That is being done. All winter long, while the French irregulars and native troops were doing yeoman service with their old fashioned weapons against modernly equipped axis regiments at the front, some divisions of French regulars were at the rear, familiarizing themselves with General Sherman tanks, Garand rifles, tommy guns, our newest howitzers, and anti-aircraft guns and 12 wheeler trucks. This equipment was not furnished them without some sacrifice, because our own troops and the British engaged in actual combat also needed replacements.

The training of the French to use their new weapons is a simpler matter than the training of conscripts in this country to use the same weapons. Our army is trying to give every man who is called to service at least a year's training before he goes to the front. During that year he learns to use his weapons, but he first has to learn to be a soldier.

The French troops are veterans but they are deficient in equipment. The French army, as its defeat in 1940 showed, had bungled the job of rearming in the light of modern technology and such modern weapons as the African troops had were stripped from them by the German armistice commission. These veteran troops, with their new weapons, will not have to wait for a year of training before they are ready to fight. They should be a good combat organization within a few months, because they were soldiers to start out, not civilians.

The advantages of this program are not solely military. We are assured that the allies will invade the continent, probably this year. Assuming that one of the invasion points is France, the French troops ought to be the spearhead. However much the average Frenchman may welcome the British or Americans come to deliver him from the Nazi yoke, he will have a double welcome for his own people landed on that same mission.

How many of the French are to be rearmed is not disclosed, but if the experiment is successful, the question will arise at once whether this use of French war power has been taken into our calculations. Obviously, it is folly to take a man out of war production, off the farm, or out of the necessary civilian economy of this country, train him for a year or more and transport him overseas, to do a job that a Frenchman or other European will do equally well, with the added impetus that he is fighting to free his own country.

The man power plans of the army, it has been remarked frequently, are suspiciously large. We seem to be training far more men than we can transport and supply overseas with our present or potential merchant fleet. We started this war with the assurance that our primary function was to be the arsenal of democracy. That objective seems to have been dropped by the wayside in the attempt to build the second largest army in the world, while at the same time carrying the major load of equipping most of our allies.

The experiment with the North African French gives point to this folly. They are not the only people who will be anxious to join the fight the moment we can place weapons in their hands.

LEBENSRAUM'S FATHER.

No matter what its shortcomings may be, this is an educational war which is causing millions of the nonstudious to go to school, and many of the learned to try new tricks in mental gymnastics. Among the advanced subjects offered by this university of death and destruction is geopolitics, which seems to be the reason why Hitler went off the deep end.

* * *

Geopolitics is a German manifestation of the higher philosophy of geography. In the latest edition of Webster's book of words, it is defined as a German word, thus:

"Geopolitik: A science concerned with the dependence of the domestic and foreign politics of a people upon the physical environment."

The Dr. Faustus of geopolitics, as linked to Hitler's schemes of conquest, is Karl Haushofer, a Prussian professor and former military officer, now 81 years old. His theories and writings inspired the Nazis to establish a great institute of geopolitics in Munich, over which he presides, and where all the geographical lore in the world is filed, ready to be turned into airplanes and submarines.

* * *

Geographer Colby of the University of Chicago says that geopolitical theory was founded by an American named Mackinder, and that it passed thru several other brains before Haushofer expanded it into a world war. But it 's completely his baby now, and will remain so until Germany's Lebensraum turns into its death chamber.

* * *

Stefan Zweig speaks of Haushofer in "The World of Yesterday" and is inclined to acquit him of any diabolical purpose. He knew the geographer and had read his works, and was astonished to hear him described, after the Nazis came into power, as "Hitler's friend."

"First of all, Haushofer's wife," says Zweig, "was by no means 'racially pure' and his talented and very agreeable sons could never have met the requirements of the Nuremberg Jewish laws. . . . But one of Haushofer's pupils had been Rudolf Hess, and he had brought about the connection. Hitler possessed the instinct to appropriate whatever might serve his personal ambitions. Therefore National Socialist politics accepted geopolitics and pumped it dry."

HOW TO MAKE A GARDEN.

To make a garden, find a plot
Where greed, and pride, and hate are not;

Then take a spade that has not known
The hands of those who grub and groan;

A hoe which men have held with joy,
A rake that's built for glad employ.

For garden making is an art,
And thus requires a happy heart,

An eager hand, and faith in God
That He will surely wake the clod.

The tools now busy with the soil,
And God invoked to bless our toil,

We plant the seed. Now all is done
Except the task of rain and sun,

And earnest care on our own part—

Report of a Food Riot.

Others may prefer lobster à la Newburgh, but give me smoked whitefish surrounded by a portion of potato salad! I was agreeably surprised to find this dish on the menu of my favorite lunch emporium and promptly ordered it.

Then into this feast there crept a mournful and discordant note. In funereal tones there came from the right of me this doleful remonstrance:

The voice matched the physical appearance of the speaker; he was the spirit of intolerance personified. Stern-faced, with glittering eyes, his trembling, not overclean fingers pointed at my pièce de résistance.

I glanced at the plate before my complaining neighbor and noted an array of fresh vegetables commonly listed as combination salad. "Ah," I sighed, "and how can you devour with evident relish that gorgeous lettuce, those luscious tomatoes, and those lovely radishes which, by the grace of God, flourished and bloomed scarce three days ago in a sunny field somewhere down Texas way?"

The last I saw of him was the flying coattails of an old-fashioned Prince Albert, retreating thru the revolving doors of the restaurant.

REHABILITATION OF THE DIPSOMANIAC.

ALCOHOL is one of our most useful chemicals but it need not be imbibed to excess. It may constitute an "out" for less stable characters or it may be resorted to in times of stress or boredom. The alcoholic will present a strangely altered metabolism in which foods are replaced by liquor, while the nerves may undergo injury.

KINGSTON
INSTITUTE FOR ALCOHOLICS

We must remember that addiction is a symptom and not a disease. When deprived of its consolation, the sufferer is nervous and jittery. Some become so immune that a large quantity can be taken every 24 hours without the slightest sign of intoxication.

The influence upon important cells and organs is probably no greater than upon the nervous system. In other words, such manifestations as delirium tremens and muscular tremors may be even more marked than degeneration of the liver or of the blood vessels.

What treatment may be employed and what are the chances for rehabilitation? While there are scores of plans, the following program is workable if complete supervision can be exercised.

When first admitted to the hospital, the patient is given an injection of a drug to bring on nausea. This is persisted in until enough discomfort is occasioned to produce a psychic demand for relief. Several hours thereafter, a laxative is prescribed to clear the intestinal tract and reduce the alcohol in the blood sharply. Only fruit juices and water are allowed—as much as can be taken.

Within 24 hours, raw fruits and vegetable salads may be added to the menu. This regimen is not difficult to enforce because there is little or no appetite. Only with the return of hunger are satisfying edibles made available. It goes without saying that during this period, bed rest is essential. Fluids are pushed, warmth is provided, and no activity is permitted.

Later comes the building diet which, in addition to fruit juices and vegetables, includes milk and oily materials such as olive oil, sardines, etc. During this interval the patient will lose considerable weight. This is desirable because there will be fewer pounds to demand the routine ration of liquor. Now and then, extra feedings will be required because a type of weakness may be exhibited which is somewhat alarming. As a rule, this passes with the administration of two or three tablespoonfuls of glucose.

With some, it will be three to four weeks before any substantial desire for a square meal will be expressed. In fact, the permanence of the cure seems to be based upon the length of time the individual can exist on a fruit juice and water diet. Some authorities advocate daily colon irrigation to prevent the accumulation of toxins in the lower bowel.

Common sense, which is psychotherapy under a time-honored name, may be utilized to arouse new interests, rekindle ambition, and restore self-confidence. Naturally, after recovery, the same set of circumstances responsible for the disorder cannot be allowed to operate. But the effort is worth while. The gratitude of the victim and his family is profound.

THE OPA MESS.

Decatur, Ill., April 22.—Each week when we do the family shopping we are forcibly reminded of the ineffectiveness of the OPA. Week after week we find living costs higher than they were during the preceding week, the price of many items now being about double those in force on the date war was declared.

In spite of its staggering costs and the vast organization required by OPA, benefits to citizens, so far as I am able to determine, are nil. I for one feel that the sooner this bureau is liquidated the better it will be for all concerned, after which we should hope to have something less complicated, less confusing, and more effective.

If the administration was sincere in its stated desire to keep living costs down, the logical thing to do would have been to freeze all prices at a level as of the date war was declared. The freeze should have embraced all things affecting the cost of living, including all wages and could have been easily arranged without the need of any OPA. It is absurd to try to control prices of commodities without also controling the cost of producing them. Likewise it is impossible to control production costs with producers being forced to compete with the absurd wages being paid by the adminsitration for all types of so-called civilian war work, which is resulting in a round robin of ever recurring demands from labor for higher wages which must invariably be followed by increased commodity prices. It would be far better not to attempt any control than to create such a mess as the one which has been created by OPA.

After all what difference does it make what one's pay envelope contains? The point is what will its contents buy? Under the present setup there seems to be no prospect of any limit on the ultimate cost of anything. One might even be led to suspect that patriotism, in the estimation of the powers that be in Washington, is purely a matter of dollars and cents. W. A. SWAIN.

PREMIUM ON IMMORALITY?

Chicago, April 22.—I have a son [lieutenant] in the army in England. He has two college degrees besides specialized studies, so is not an impulsive boy. He has become engaged to a very fine girl in Belfast [she is a WAAF] and would like to marry her.

When he wrote to the commander the answer was a refusal of permission to marry and an explanation: "So far as my approval has been given the few cases have been for the purpose of protecting the good name of the parties concerned."

It is too bad that our boys have to be immoral to be able to marry the girl of their choice. MRS. J. C. K.

"INSULT TO INTELLIGENCE."

Chicago, April 19.—Arthur Aberford certainly hit the nail on the head with his letter about radio advertising, but he failed to mention the greatest menace of all; a direct insult to the intelligence of the radio audience: namely, the singing commercial. ELLSWORTH I. LATHE.

THE BRITISH NATIONAL SERVICE ACT.

Chicago, April 20.—In the "Back to Involuntary Servitude" editorial in today's paper, your writer certainly warped the truth in his comparison of our war man power commission labor freeze with conditions in the British Isles. Our WMC order affects, admittedly, 27,000,000 people. If your writer will consult National Geographic magazine, August, 1942, he will find that "the British system of national service, if applied to the United States, would result in the enrollment of 60,000,000 persons."

Further, "The national service act decrees that 'All persons of either sex for the time being in Great Britain are liable to national service, whether under the crown or not, and whether in the armed forces of the crown, in civil defense, in industry, or otherwise'." Under the national service act as it existed in August, 1942, "all men and women are liable to compulsory service up to the age of 51."

All of the provisions of the national service act of Great Britain make the present operation of our WMC and selective service seem very mild by comparison and make Great Britain "the greatest all-around military force on earth."

Your policy of acting belligerently against almost everything, does, by and large, a great amount of good for Chicagoland and the United States. Continue that policy and you will continue to be a great newspaper.

K. LEWIS HACKLEY.

WHY RATION MOTOR BOATS?

Benton Harbor, Mich, April 22.—We are all accepting the rationing of gas for cars as a necessary measure both for the conservation of rubber and to prolong the life of our cars. However, in boating it seems that there is a slightly different issue involved, namely, just the saving of gasoline. If this is all that is involved, why should boating be restricted? Situated as we are in the middle west, where it is freely acknowledged that we have plenty of gas, why not give the boat owners a chance to provide week-end rejuvenation and relaxation to their families and friends? Is not this form of recreation important at this time to so many who are devoting all their working hours to some war effort?

Boating provides one of the finest types of preliminary training to our young men and boys, fitting them for naval service. Lastly, one might even consider the fact that while one is boating they are actually conserving rubber, since part of that time would undoubtedly be used in riding around in a car.. FREDERICK H. WHAT THE SIRENS MEAN.

Chicago, April 19.—Chicago is having air raid siren tests in different parts of the city until May 15. Of what value are these tests, when few citizens, including our school children, are able completely to describe the difference between the alert and the all clear?

Every citizen should know that: "The alert sounds for two minutes with a rising and falling pitch. After two minutes of silence the signal is repeated once. The all clear sounds for two minutes with a continuous sound. After two minutes of silence the signal is repeated once." In brief, each signal is on two minutes, off two minutes, and repeated once. Cambridge, Mass., April 23.—It has given me much pleasure to see your issue of April 18 containing the two articles by Prof. Siebert and myself about the by-laws of the Associated Press. Inasmuch as my article involves Chicago issues in which you are actively concerned, it was very open-minded of you to print the article. Your action and that of the other newspapers who published these articles carries along the high ideal that a newspaper should give the public the benefit of both sides of important questions. I am glad to find that issues involving the newspaper world are not excluded from this high ideal.

JAPANESE CONTEMPT.

Chicago, April 22.—Tojo's murder of our pilots is Japan's method of showing its contempt for a country that does not fight when it is attacked. Americans should hang their heads in shame when MacArthur has to beg for adequate help. So should they when we remember the boys in Bataan and Corregidor who were so sure that Uncle Sam would not let them down! Will Americans never learn to take care of their home fires?

Would a mass petition, precinct by precinct, move the administration to action? ASHAMED AMERICAN.

JURORS DECIDE ROLOSONS DIED FOR CHILDREN

Winnetka Fire Tragedy Ruled Accidental.

Robert M. Roloson Jr., 39 year old financier, and his wife, Ellen, 36, perished in an attempt to save two of their three children who died with them early Easter morning in a fire in their 23 room home at 76 Locust drive, Winnetka, a coroner's jury was told yesterday.

The jury found that Roloson and his wife burned to death in a second floor hallway, apparently as they tried to reach the bedrooms of their daughter, Cary Bell, 12, and of their youngest son, Edward, 5, who suffocated from smoke carried thru the house by an air conditioning system. Their other son, Robert, 9, was rescued, and two servants escaped the flames.

Accident Verdict Returned.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by the jury after it was established that the fire originated in an undetermined manner from a wood burning fireplace in the library of the mansion, which the Rolosons lighted each night before they retired. The fireplace is fitted with a gas connection used to ignite the fire logs.

G. M. Houren, chief of the Winnetka fire department, said the body of Mrs. Roloson was found in the hall between the rooms of Cary Bell and Edward. Roloson's body was found lying at the top of a staircase above the library.

Cary Bell collapsed and died at the foot of a rear staircase after she awakened Louise Schaeffler, a maid, with a cry of "Fire!" Edward suffocated in his room. Robert was pulled to safety from the window of his room by a fireman.

Conditioning System Blamed.

Chief Houren said he believed the air conditioning system facilitated the spread of smoke and flames.

Miss Schaeffler reported that a search indicated several pieces of Mrs. Roloson's jewelry had not been found, but John R. Heath, Roloson's lawyer, said some of these articles had been located and turned over to the coroner's office with other effects.

5 Million Inherited.

Heath testified that Roloson's holdings were "substantial," but he was unable to estimate his wealth. Roloson, who inherited 5 million dollars in 1935 from his father, Robert Marshall Roloson, an investment banker, devoted most of his time to managing his own affairs, the lawyer said.

Robert, orphaned by the disaster, was told about the deaths of his parents and the other children Sunday when he was taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hall of Telegraph road, Deerfield, friends of the Rolosons.

The funeral of the four victims will be held at 2 p. m. today in St. Mark's church, Evanston.

CARNEGIE STEEL WORKERS BOOST RED CROSS FUND

A contribution of $124,170 from the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation and employés to the Red Cross war fund drive was announced yesterday by Martin H. Kennelly, campaign chairman.

The biggest share was from members of local 65, United Steel Workers' union, CIO, employed at the south works of the steel corporation. Their donation was $70,970.

To this sum the corporation added $20,000, credited to the south works, and $30,000 credited to the corporation's general offices. In addition, office employés gave $3,200.

Chairman Kennelly also announced that a labor-management committee, representing local 194, United Cannery Workers, CIO, and the Campbell Soup company, has given $7,270. The total of subscriptions now stands at $7,779,598, or 77 per cent of the $8,750,000 goal.

Jordan Souba, 48 years old, of 2019 North Sayre avenue, died in Oak Park hospital yesterday of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile as he walked across Harlem avenue near Bloomingdale avenue in Elmwood Park Sunday night. Walter Kehm of Mount Morris, Ogle county, driver of the car, was held for the inquest, but released when a coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Velma Lee Chambers, 7, Negro, 1439 West 13th street, was killed when she was struck by a truck while crossing the street near her home. James Ramey, Negro, of 933 South Wood street, driver of the truck, was held for the inquest.

NEW HAMPSHIRE SENATE FAVORS BAN ON 3D TERM

Votes Bill 14-8; Sends It to House.

Concord, N. H., April 26 [Special].—The New Hampshire state senate today voted 14 to 8 in favor of changing the federal constitution to prohibit a third term for the President of the United States, and then refused to go on record against a third term for a New Hampshire governor.

Sen. Emmett J. Kelley of Berlin, Democratic minority floor leader, charged that the anti-third term measure emanated from sources outside New Hampshire. He referred apparently to action taken toward a ban on a third term for Presidents by legislatures in Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Missouri, and Indiana and pending action in other states.

One Republican Opposed.

On a roll call vote, Sen. Joseph B. Perley [R.] joined with the seven Democrats in opposing the petition to congress to pave the way for a change in the federal constitution.

Then, when Kelley proposed an amendment to have the anti-third term resolution apply as well to the New Hampshire governorship, the senate voted that change down by a 14 to 8 division. In this case, Sen. Perley went along with the Republican majority, and Sen. Renfrew A. Thomson, Exeter Republican, shifted to side against a third term for the governorship.

House Must Act.

The governorship proposal was particularly pertinent, because of continued reports that Gov. Robert Blood is planning to run for a third term next year.

Sen. Clarence Avery of Goffstown, Republican majority floor leader, argued that the "resolution is not directed against President Roosevelt. This is not a partisan issue as charged by Mr. Kelley and his Democratic associates. It represents but good government and an effort to wipe out the New Deal burocratic trend at Washington, the end of which is not yet in sight."

The resolution now goes to the house, which is three to two Republican, whereas the senate is 17 to 7 Republican. A stiff house battle is look for.

FRIDAY LAST DAY TO USE A, B, C, D MEAT STAMPS

Housewives—or that rare minority who still have some meat ration stamps left—were cautioned yesterday by Michael F. Mulcahy, Chicago metropolitan area director of the office of price administration, that the red A, B, C, and D meat stamps expire midnight Friday. Blue D, E, and F stamps for processed foods expire at the same time.

Red E stamps became valid Sunday and are good thruout May. Blue G, H, and J stamps for processed foods went into effect Saturday and are good for the entire month of May.

Mulcahy urged proprietors of eating and drinking establishments to file with local rationing boards before May 1, copies of menus and price lists, used from April 4 thru 10.

Wholesalers and retailers selling meats and fats must total the point values of those commodities sold from last Sunday thru May 1 and will have to register with local ration boards before May 14, reporting their meat and fat inventory in ration point value at the close of business May 1, he said.

BOONDOGGLING HOG LOANS LEAD TO QUICK RICHES

Knutson Reveals How to Play the RACC.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 26.—Fifteen hundred dollars gets you $3,500 under a plan discovered today by Rep. Harold Knutson [R., Minn.]. It isn't betting. It's boondoggling, the Minnesota congressman says. You borrow from the Regional Agricultural Credit corporation. And it boondoggles.

With the house in recess, Rep. Knutson found time to study some RACC loans made in his state. He then sharpened his pencil and tried to make the collateral come out even with the loans. Finding it wouldn't, he issued a statement entitled "more boondoggling."

"Taxpayers," he said, "are becoming thoroly aroused over some of the haphazard and questionable loans being made by the corporation out in our part of the country.

$2,500 Loan on $1,500 Collateral.

"Here are a few examples of loans made within the last few weeks:

"1. A loan of $2,500 covering two cows, two heifers, four horses, and 14 pieces of machinery and equipment. All told the collateral amounts to about $1,500. Yet in the terms of the loan there is a provision that an additional $1,000 may be borrowed later on the same security, making a total of $3,500.

"2. A loan of $1,500 covering 400 turkey poults, two brooder houses, 47 ewes, one sow, and 14 tons of turkey feed.

"3. A loan of $550 covering two cows and 500 baby chicks one day old."

Rep. Knutson warned that all private business will be obliterated within the next decade unless the trend toward socialization is checked.

The RACC, one of the many agencies lending money to farmers, was recently revived by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard after its funds had been curtailed.

"Why should the government," Rep. Knutson asked, "be loaning out money at a time when our banks are bursting with deposits and any one with a fairly good credit rating can get a loan? We are being taxed to make up losses sustained by activities that compete with us."

Hollywood, Cal., April 26 (AP).—Actress Jane Russell, 21 years old, and Bob Waterfield, 22, football star at the University of California in Los Angeles, were married in Las Vegas, Nev., Saturday night, friends of the couple disclosed today. Waterfield will enter the army as an officer candidate in June.

INCISO STILL OUT OF UAW, HEAD OF UNION SAYS

Angelo Inciso, an ex-convict, who was ousted last week as a representative of the AFL United Automobile Workers' International union, has not been and will not be reinstated, regardless of any action taken by the union's executive board, Irvan Cary, international president, said last night in Detroit, Mich.

Cary, who deposed the ex-convict, branded as false a statement made by Anthony C. Doria, vice president of the union, that the board had reinstated Inciso. He said Doria's attempt to hold a board meeting in Detroit last Saturday for the purpose of absolving Inciso would have no effect since he had the sole power to oust representatives between board meetings.

"No muscle tactics will be used on our members by Inciso and Doria as long as I am president," Cary asserted. He said he did not need their backing to insure his reelection next October.

12 SHEEP STOLEN IN RAID ON FARM IN LAKE COUNTY

State police were investigating yesterday what is believed to be the first case of black market rustling in Lake county, following the theft of a dozen sheep from the farm of Dale Passow, four miles northwest of Barrington.

Passow told police he was awakened twice shortly after midnight by the barking of his dogs. Turning on the floodlights, he went to the barn and discovered the doors left wide open and about 40 of his flock missing, he told police.

Riots Reported as Nazis Rally in 2 Swedish Towns

LONDON, April 27 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Riots broke out in two Swedish towns when local Nazi groups attempted to hold meetings, and several persons were injured, the Swedish radio reported today in a broadcast heard by the ministry of information. Police with drawn sabers dispersed a crowd estimated at 2,000 persons, who hooted and threw stones as about 50 Nazis met at Uppsala Heights, the broadcast said.

GIDEON WELLS DIES; NOTED FOR WORK ON CANCER

42 Years an Associate of U. of Chicago.

Dr. H. Gideon Wells, noted authority on cancer and tuberculosis and professor emeritus of pathology at the University of Chicago, died yesterday in Billings Memorial hospital. He had been ill a week of a heart ailment.

Dr. Wells, who was 67 years old, had been associated with the university for 42 years, during which time he rose to national eminence in his specialized field. Since his retirement from an active professorship in 1939, Dr. Wells had devoted his time to research work.

Professor Since 1913.

Born in New Haven, Conn., Dr. Wells was educated at Yale, Lake Forest college, Rush Medical college, the University of Chicago, and in Berlin. He became director of the Otho S. A. Sprague Memorial institute in 1911, and a full professor of the university faculty two years later. He served twice as president of the American Association for Cancer Research and once as president of the Association of Pathology and Bacteriology.

In the medico-scientific world Dr. Wells was a major figure. He wrote considerably on biological chemistry, and developed and advanced many theories concerned with the arrest and treatment of cancer.

Aided Starving Rumanians.

He came to public attention during the first World war when as a lieutenant colonel he headed the American Red Cross mission to Rumania. He not only helped save thousands of people from starvation, but helped save the nation from bolshevism. For this he received the star of Rumania from the Rumanian king.

Dr. Wells is survived by his widow, the former Bertha Robbins; a son, Lt. Gideon Wells, stationed in Oregon, and a sister living in Detroit, Mich. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

BRITISH DUKE DIES SUDDENLY IN CANADA CAPITAL

OTTAWA, April 26 (AP).—A great-grandson of Queen Victoria, who held the title of the duke of Connaught, died suddenly today at Government House, where he had been the guest of the earl of Athlone, Canada's governor general, and Princess Alice, for several months. He was 28 years old and became the duke of Connaught on the death of his grandfather, a son of Queen Victoria, on Jan. 16, 1942. His father, Prince Arthur of Connaught, died in 1938.

The duke was unmarried and the title lapsed with his death. His grandfather, the first duke, was governor general of Canada during World War I.

The second duke came to Canada after two years' service with the British army in Egypt. While he was known to have been in poor health, he served occasionally as an aide de camp on the governor general's staff.

ANNA THOMAS FUNERAL TODAY; CHICAGO PIONEER

Services for Mrs. Anna Thomas, who was born in Chicago 94 years ago, will be held at 3 p. m. today in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue. Mrs. Thomas died Saturday in a nursing home at 2001 Orrington avenue, Evanston.

Mrs. Thomas was born in the vicinity of La Salle and Illinois streets where her father owned a store. As a child she played with the children of Indians who came to trade at the store.

She was a survivor of the Chicago fire of 1871, and she retained vivid recollections of Civil war days, and of hearing President Lincoln speak in the old hall known as the Wigwam.

She was the widow of G. H. A. Thomas, Chicago and New Orleans real estate and lumber dealer. She was the mother of three sons, none of whom survive. Mrs. Thomas' home in Chicago was at 726 Hutchinson street.

Recapture Ex-Felon Who Fled from Police Station

Hubert John Gapinski, 33 years old, an ex-convict, who sneaked out of the North avenue station last Dec. 10 after his arrest as a suspect, was captured in his mother's home at 1841 Milwaukee avenue last night by Sergt. Charles Coyle and his detective bureau squad. Gapinski's escape resulted in the temporary suspension of Lt. Thomas A. Sheridan. The ex-convict was arrested on complaint of a woman that he had tried to seize her. While being held in the police station pending further inquiry, he climbed thru a window. Lt. Sheridan was held responsible as the officer in charge.

In Memoriam.

BIFANO—Constance Bifano, 1935. In loving memory of your 18th birthday. LONELY MOM, DAD, AND BROTHERS.

FRASER—William J. Fraser. In memory of my dearly beloved husband, who entered into eternal life one year ago today.

I know thou art gone to the home of thy rest—
Then why should my soul be so sad?
I know thou art gone where the weary are blest,
I know thou hast drunk of the river that flows
In the land where they do not forget,
That sheds over memory only repose,
And takes from it only regret.

Requiem high mass Tuesday, May 11, 1943, at 8 a. m. at Most Precious Blood church. JENNIE.

HORAN—Jerry J. Horan. In loving memory of our dear husband and father, who passed away six years ago today. WIFE NONIE AND HELEN.

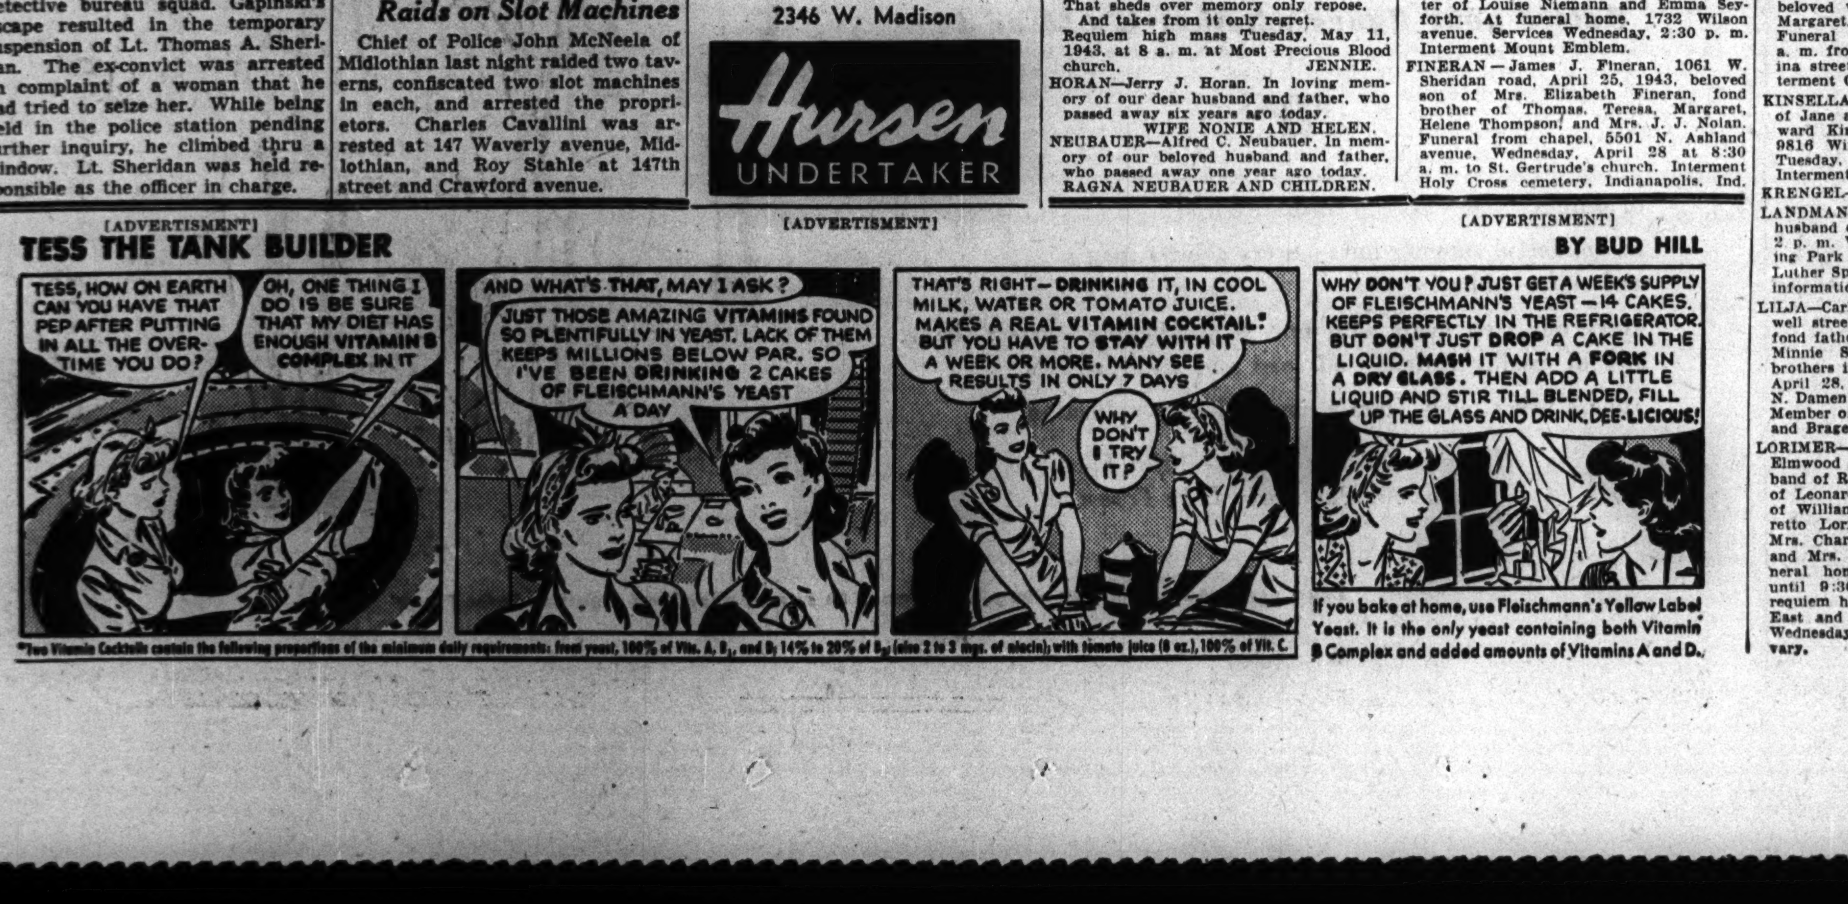
TESS THE TANK BUILDER BY BUD HILL



TESS, HOW ON EARTH CAN YOU HAVE THAT PEP AFTER PUTTING IN ALL THE OVERTIME YOU DO?
OH, ONE THING I DO IS BE SURE THAT MY DIET HAS ENOUGH VITAMIN B COMPLEX IN IT AND WHAT'S THAT, MAY I ASK?
JUST THOSE AMAZING VITAMINS FOUND SO PLENTIFULLY IN YEAST. LACK OF THEM KEEPS MILLIONS BELOW PAR. SO I'VE BEEN DRINKING 2 CAKES OF FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST A DAY
THAT'S RIGHT—DRINKING IT, IN COOL MILK, WATER OR TOMATO JUICE. MAKES A REAL VITAMIN COCKTAIL.* BUT YOU HAVE TO STAY WITH IT A WEEK OR MORE. MANY SEE RESULTS IN ONLY 7 DAYS
WHY DON'T I TRY IT?
WHY DON'T YOU? JUST GET A WEEK'S SUPPLY OF FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST—14 CAKES. KEEPS PERFECTLY IN THE REFRIGERATOR. BUT DON'T JUST DROP A CAKE IN THE LIQUID. MASH IT WITH A FORK IN A DRY GLASS. THEN ADD A LITTLE LIQUID AND STIR TILL BLENDED, FILL UP THE GLASS AND DRINK. DEE-LICIOUS!
If you bake at home, use Fleischmann's Yellow Label Yeast. It is the only yeast containing both Vitamin B Complex and added amounts of Vitamins A and D.
*Two Vitamin Cocktails contain the following proportions of the minimum daily requirements: from yeast, 100% of Vit. A, B_1, and D; 14% to 20% of B_2 (also 2 to 3 mgs. of niacin); with tomato juice (8 oz.), 100% of Vit. C.

PETRILLO'S BAN HAMPERS WAR, SAY RADIO MEN

Broadcasters May Ask WLB Aid on Records.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, was accused yesterday of hampering the war program thru his ban on recordings and transcriptions. The charge was made by Neville Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, at the opening session of the broadcasters' four day war conference in the Palmer House.

Besides withholding popular music from the military services, Miller asserted, Petrillo is drying up the composition of much American music.

"In the most critical period in our nation's history," said Miller, "Petrillo, merely to maintain his control of his own union, has deprived the entire nation of supplies of music from many sources. Popular recordings help sustain the morale of the fighting forces."

Says Broadcasters Will Win.

Miller predicted that a united broadcasting industry will win the battle against such a "display of dictatorial power." He said negotiations between the A. F. M. and the recording industry have broken down but expressed hope that something tangible might come of a meeting between the transcription companies and the union called for May 10 in New York. The broadcasters, who are not directly implicated in the controversy, expect to consider the effects of the ban on radio at another session tomorrow afternoon.

If no solution is worked out, Miller indicated that the problem might be laid before the war labor board. The department of justice lost a suit seeking to compel Petrillo to end the ban, in effect since last Aug. 1, when the court ruled that this was a labor dispute rather than conspiracy to violate the anti-trust laws.

800 Register for Parley.

Approximately 800 broadcasters have registered for the conference which will be concerned principally with man power and material problems. Since America's entry into the war 26 per cent of the men employed by broadcasting stations have entered the military services, Miller stated. Employment in the broadcasting industry is down 6 per cent; there has been a decrease of 11 per cent in employment of men and an increase of 13 per cent in employment of women.

Miller demanded that the press and radio be represented at the allied nations' food congress, opening at Hot Springs, Va., on May 18 and at the peace table after the war is won.

Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, will address the broadcasters at a luncheon meeting today. James Lawrence Fly, chairman of the federal communications commission and of the war communications board, will speak tomorrow on the rôle of radio in the war.

The Mutual Broadcasting system's officers and directors are meeting in the Drake hotel and the Frequency Modulation Broadcasters, Inc., and the Clear Channel group are also holding simultaneous sessions.

'PJ' BACK HOME, WANTS TO KISS EVERY VISITOR

"PJ" wants to kiss every one who comes into his room. He's that happy to be home. PJ, Paul Joseph Schuba, 4 years old, was taken home from the Little Company of Mary hospital yesterday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schuba, 10026 Wood street, after being treated there for six weeks for encephalitis—sleeping sickness.

PJ, blond and brown-eyed, is back in his own little maple crib. He can look up and see the Charlie McCarthy radio he shares with his brother, Tommy, 7 years old. He can play with all the new toys his friends sent him while he was ill—the elephant almost as big as he is, the bunny wearing a soldier suit, the Uncle Wiggly rabbit, and the rooster that makes a crowing noise when he winds it up.

PJ still doesn't talk very loudly but he talks more and more every day. For 38 days he didn't talk at all, so he's a little slow about starting again. He eats everything set before him, too, instead of being fed intravenously.

CITY ORDERS PLANS DRAFTED AT ONCE FOR POST-WAR AIRPORTS

The Chicago Plan commission yesterday instructed its staff to work out this year a comprehensive and specific program for airport development in the Chicago metropolitan area, so that the city can begin an extensive airport development program when peace returns.

The instructions follow a recent statement by Mayor Kelly that he favors construction of a lake front airport and several additional fields in the immediate post-war years. Previous studies by the commission staff have been limited to estimates of future airport requirements and other generalizations.

The commission also approved a statement of policy regarding future controls over subdivision development which will be incorporated into recommendations to the city council. Included was a request for an ordinance which would require that all subdivision development conform with the city's master plan.

DISMISS CICERO POLICE CHIEF IN GAMBLING ROW

The Cicero town board last night voted 4 to 3 to discharge Chief of Police Theodore L. Svoboda after Town Clerk Anton J. Krupicka charged that the chief had done nothing to clean up gambling after it had been called to his attention last August. The board took no action to appoint a successor to Svoboda, whose home is at 6140 19th street, Cicero.

Svoboda has been chief of police of Cicero since 1924 and on two other occasions he has been "dismissed" from the force. He was "fired" in 1935 by the president of the town board, but the board overruled the action and retained Svoboda in office. Again in 1940 the board requested his resignation, but the chief refused to quit.

Slays Estranged Wife in Rectory; Stabs Self

Philadelphia, Pa., April 26 (AP).—A woman identified as Mrs. Helen Catherine Angerda Palumbo, 30 years old, was stabbed to death tonight in the rectory of the Church of the Annunciation where she and her estranged husband had gone in an effort to effect a reconciliation. Detective Capt. William Engle said she was stabbed by Thomas Palumbo, 38, her husband. Palumbo then stabbed himself in the throat, Engle said. He is in a critical condition.

Good Morning!

Here's one that'll keep you guessing! In more ways than one.

First—as to whodunnit?

Second—as to sets, photography, and some of the raiment. . . . Can it be an OLD picture? Not so, they tell me. My own conclusion is that it's a quickie the producers didn't care about spending much money on.

However, look not too much on the outward appearance, darlings. If you're mystery hounds, you'll lose yourselves in the story, which has a theatrical background and features strange murders—apparently caused by rattlesnake bite.

Practically everybody concerned falls under your suspicion. . . . If you guess the killer—you're good!

Leading rôles are ably portrayed. . . . Outstanding characterization is that of Longacre Lil, by Esther Dale. . . . Lil was suggested by a real person—long a familiar of stars, would-be celebrities, and the police.

Action is fast and surprising and the film is pleasingly brief.

Hepcats Purr as Jive Jams Times Square

BY ROY GIBBONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 26.—What makes jitterbugs tick became a $64 sociological question here today as swarms of 'teen age hepcats continued their seven day siege of the Paramount theater to listen to a horn blown really not in boogie woogie style.

Harry James.

From all of the city's five boroughs and from far off on the Jersey side the youngsters kept trooping in to jam Times Square with thousands of their kind, praying for a peek, the slightest glimpse of Harry James, their maestro idol whom they term a "solid sender."

Many of the hepcats squirmed as they waited, some from the crack of dawn, for the theater box office to open. Some rolled their eyes in slightly glazed fashion and stretched a double lane up and down West 43d street to block trucks and building entrance ways which they festooned in a riot of color with their zoot suits, shrunken ankle pants, green pork pie hats and sharply etched sport coats done in mauve and off-doe hues. In one day 20,000 of them clicked thru the turnstiles, the theater reported.

Every bus and subway train brought more of them as by some call of instinct, which police say can be likened only to visitations of locusts and Japanese beetles, the swarming of bees, or the wonderful migrations of birds that science has never been able to explain.

Like the poor, lost children out of Hamelin who followed the magic piper into the mountain the jitterbugs tripped ecstatically in musical spasm, jingling their knee length watch chains, and speaking in a strange tongue about such things as "getting into the groove" and "being sent out of this world."

They were mild and good natured today as they skittered about like grasshoppers, clicking their leather heels and smiling up at the mounted police who were compelled to throw horses across the sidewalk to keep the milling hepcats in some semblance of order.

Last week, however, in their enthusiam to hear James blow just a few overflow notes that filtered thru one of the side exits the "bugs" pushed one of New York's huskiest cops clear thru a plate glass window fronting on the Broadway corner of the theater. The event was termed an accident. The kids apologized, and the cop, after removing glass splinters from his hair and eyebrows, went home nursing three sore ribs.

In an effort to explain the social implications which they say are part of the jitterbug phenomenon, savants of the arts and human behavior ascribed the present manifestation to a variety of causes ranging all the way from mob hysteria to an "anti-minuet revolt" against some of the restrictions imposed by modern civilization in the formal type of ballroom dancing.

Most of the wise ones, however, could see no harm, save possible truancy from school in the hepcat mêlée, which bothered the "bugs" not at all.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

The Man's Point of View.

Herbert Sigler, speaking before a group of business women at De Paul university not long ago, outlined at the request of his audience the most commonly stated criticisms of women in business:

1. Women lack inventiveness. They are content to do things in one or two ways they have been taught and do not readily adjust their methods to variations.

2. Women lack courage and initiative. In the experience of most business men is the secretary who could have saved the day in an unexpected situation [in his absence] if she had had courage and initiative.

3. Women resent criticism. They fail to keep an impersonal attitude in business, especially in the face of correction and criticism. They take it to heart and it becomes a personal affront.

4. Women have no vision. They seldom have a long range point of view and thus often fail to look upon their business as a whole. They are too closely concerned with the affairs of their own departments.

5. Women are cliquey. This is almost a universal criticism of women. They form little groups which exclude and are hostile to other groups or individuals. The bad feeling thus created is detrimental to efficiency and makes difficult the close coöperation required in business enterprise.

6. Women are not good ball players. They are too individualistic; they do not understand teamwork and teamplay. "I know a woman," said Mr. Sigler, "who burdens herself unmercifully with work simply because she dislikes the individuals in her firm who should and could relieve her of part of her load. She has not learned to play with them as part of a team.

7. Women are not good "horse traders." Business, like politics, requires an ability to "sway" favors and services.

8. Women are buck passers. For some reason or other, women in business bring with them that old school day's custom of always having an excuse. They do not say when they have made a mistake, "Yes, that is wrong. I'm sorry. What can I do to fix things?"

9. Women do not keep separate their private lives from their business lives.

10. Women can't take it. When the going gets tough and the treatment rough, they resort to tears or fits of "nerves."

11. Women lack the spirit of adventure. Success in business often depends upon a sense of adventure; upon willingness to take a chance.

12. Women do not like to work for other women. "Peculiarly enough," said Mr. Sigler, "every woman whom I have asked whether or not she would like to work for another woman has promptly answered, 'No.'" They feel that women superiors are officious, with an exaggerated sense of their responsibilities; they are frequently inclined to exert their authority, are dictatorial, and often intolerant. Often they are not forthright about criticism but make it behind an employés' back. And, too often they have personal jealousies about clothes or appearance.

13. Women do not take business seriously. They only work to pass the time while seeking husbands. "This," said Mr. Sigler, "is probably the most frequent of all objections to women in business."

14. Women are not ambitious. They are content with routine, mechanical, inactive types of jobs. They are not alert, are not competitive and do not give the impression that they are as dependent upon work and promotion as are the men.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., April 26.—I talked with Joe E. Brown, who returned from the South Pacific today. He visited every base, every hospital where our men are stationed. Got within six miles of a Jap base. Reports that some of our boys haven't seen a motion picture since they've been out there. Only in Auckland did he hear them talk about the "Command Performance." But it isn't because we're not making entertainment for our boys. They haven't equipment to receive it. Joe thinks one man should be assigned to take care of that. Top stars should be sent over. That gives the men a thrill, and they have something to write home about. They need more mail, and are not satisfied with V-mail. Print is so small they can't read it. Then, too, at night when they have time to read, in many places there's no light. I asked about female stars going over—he said no woman could go thru it. In 60 per cent of the places, they haven't seen a woman, not even a nurse. In many spots there are no natives—just our men. Magazines were three months old. Many of the boys he had seen in the islands hospitals, he saw again at Letterman hospital in San Francisco. He can't understand the indifference of some of our people here. All they need do is go thru the hospitals once, and that attitude would change.

Gave Out.

Humphrey Bogart did a good job reading "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" in the Hollywood bowl Easter Sunday. As he was driving there, Bogart said, "Gosh! this sure is a strange rôle. People probably think I've never seen a church—the parts I play!" . . . Joe Schenck's next on the list of big executives whose resignation is expected from Twentieth Century-Fox. 'Tis said he and Bill Goetz will form a company together. Those aren't the only changes taking place in our film capital. There'll be some surprising revelations made within the next week or two. . . . Dorothy Ford, one of those six foot beauties in "Lady in the Dark," signed to a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contract.

Night Owling Around.

Fun at the Mocambo was fast and furious over who got prizes for best hats. Place was decorated with bonnets. A miniature one was given each guest. Prizes went to Lady Mendl, Toni Lanier, yours truly. But the three best hats there were worn by army, navy, and marines. Phil Baker presented prizes. Those gentlemen invited to be judges thought better of it. Orson Welles said to me, "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned. I'll not stick my neck into a hat situation." So waiters picked 'em, and Phil carried on. Did a burlesque song on advertising. Hope they'll use it in picture he's making—"Girls He Left Behind." Wally Baker, from "This Is the Army," did an impromptu dance; Mischa Auer played a piano concerto with two grapefruit. All ladies present should have had prizes. They really went to town on top lids. Andrea Leeds wore her husband's sailor cap.

Love Can Wait.

Bill Marshall visited Michele Morgan on "Two Tickets to London" set. When she came thru a doorway with arms outstretched, he walked over to her, took her in his arms, and said, "Honey, I've finally got my call to the air corps." Then went into a kiss. Director yelled, "That's mighty touching—but if you don't mind, we'll go on with the scene and let Alan Curtis take your place!" . . . Gosh, did the boys at the canteen thank Sybil Brand! She persuaded Kate Smith to leave her desert retreat, come up and entertain the boys. Did they love it!

Michele Morgan.

Always a Battle.

Alfred Hitchcock is running into interference on "Life Boat." Big boys at Twentieth don't think he can make it interesting—a group of nine people in a boat. Well, Hitchy's used to that kind of criticism. Years ago he made "The Lodger" in London. Moguls got a look-see, threw it on the shelf. Two months afterwards picture was sneaked into theater, and later hailed as the greatest British picture. Hitchy doesn't know whether to give "Life Boat" an all-star cast or good unknowns. . . . Reggie Gardiner plays an R. A. F. pilot in "Flare Path." At last Reggie's getting good parts.

Good Work.

Eddie Buzzell's "Best Foot Forward" got cheers at sneak preview; so did Billy Gaxton and Harry James. Eddie's off to New York to see Corp. Tommy Southworth of the merchant marine. He's in the hospital back there. Eddie grew up in the Southworth family. . . . Players club had to have three warnings before putting out its lights during backout Sunday. Our city actually did make a good job of blacking out. . . . In the petroleum division of the OPA in Washington, this sign was posted: "You can fuel some of the people all of the time, all of the people some of the time, but you can't fuel all of the people all of the time."

Infant Welfare Auxiliary Has Press Luncheon

BY JUDITH CASS.

THIRTY years ago today the woman's auxiliary of the Infant Welfare society was organized. Fifteen years ago last Sunday the auxiliary gave its first press luncheon, attended by the presidents and publicity chairmen of the various branches. Therefore yesterday's annual press luncheon at the Casino served to mark both anniversaries and was of particular sentimental interest because the first luncheon had been held there, too. It was organized by Mrs. Frederick V. Burgess of Burlington, Vt., who then was Mrs. John H. McIlvaine of Lake Forest. Mrs. Edward P. Welles of Evanston, who served as the first president of the auxiliary, was unable to attend the luncheon yesterday, but sent her best wishes.

The luncheon each year precedes National Baby week, set for May 2-8 this year. The society originated Baby week in 1914 and has sponsored it ever since. "Our task is the mental and physical welfare of mothers and babies," said Mrs. Gordon Shorney, president of the auxiliary, whose 3,000 members raised $89,624.34 last year for doctors, nurses, and nutritionists to care for babies and their mothers in Chicago's 34 infant welfare stations.

Auxiliary Contributions Total Over 2 Millions.

Miss Jeannette Townsend, extension secretary of the society, quoted the figure of $2,336,795.64 as the total the auxiliary has contributed to the society. She summed up the organization's purpose in a few well chosen words. "Altho we are supported by private donations, we do not look upon ourselves as a charity," she said. "We are an educational organization, an adventure in education and thrift, and we do a valuable job for the whole community."

That value is clearly told in the society's belief that a baby whose mother had medical supervision, home nursing, and nutrition service before he was born, and who has that same service himself until he is 6, has every chance to be healthy and well developed. That is the chance Infant Welfare children are given despite the fact they live in the poorest districts.

The society currently is responsible for the health of more than 13,000 babies and expectant mothers. In addition to raising money for the centers, auxiliary members do volunteer work at them, and make garments for the babies.

Many Benefit Projects on Current Calendar.

Benefits aren't as popular as they used to be with war work and gasoline rationing, yet Infant Welfare women have a number of projects on the calendar. The Hinsdale Senior center is giving a luncheon-bridge party at the Hinsdale Community house tomorrow; the Oak Park and River Forest Junior center is giving a May Day ball on Saturday, the same day that the Riverside center is giving a dance at the Riverside Country club. The La Grange Seniors are sponsoring a play, "Personal Appearance," on May 5 at the Western Springs Little theater, and the Glencoe center is giving its annual May party on May 7 at the Skokie Country club. Dr. Franz I. Polgar will lecture.

Rummage sales are popular as money raisers. The Kenwood center is holding a three day sale next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at 211 West Monroe street, and the Western Springs center will have one on May 20. The Beverly Hills center and the Kenwood Social Service club support their stations with thrift shops, located at 11445 South Michigan avenue and 1451 East 55th street, which are open all the year around.

Mrs. Fitzmorris Brittingham presided at yesterday's luncheon, to which about 70 presidents and publicity chairmen came.

Dale Bogert's Wedding to Take Place in West.

It will be a disappointment to the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert P. Bogert that their daughter, Miss Dale Bogert, and Lt. Grover C. Baldwin Jr. of Paris, Ky., are to be married in Deming, N. M., instead of in Winnetka. However, Lt. Baldwin was unable to obtain leave from his duties as an instructor in the army air force, so his fiancée and her parents will depart on May 14 for Deming, where the wedding will take place on the 22d. It will be a church ceremony, with a reception following at the Officers club, and a wedding gown will be part of the luggage the Bogerts are taking west. Miss Jean Sullivan will accompany the family to Deming to be maid of honor at the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Hawxhurst of Glencoe have announced the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, to Richard Anthony Lemon II., United States navy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Lemon of Chicago and Colorado Springs, Colo. Miss Hawxhurst is attending Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., and her fiancé is serving overseas.

Reception Tonight Opens French Paintings Exhibit.

The only formal evening party to be held at the Art Institute of Chicago so far this year is a reception for members tonight that will open an exhibition of 20th century French paintings from the Chester Dale collection. The exhibit was considered important enough to make a real occasion of its opening, so there will be a string orchestra, playing French chamber music of the 19th and 20th centuries; refreshments, and an in-

Conscientious Parents Need Encouraging

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copy.: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Conscientious mothers need encouragement. For just as, in self-searching, a person notices mostly his own faults of character or action rather than his good points, so a mother who is anxious to do her best with her children sees chiefly her errors in management. Also she not only sees them, but she is apt to give them too large a place in the picture, either thinking the damage is worse than it is, or letting an awareness of her mistakes completely overshadow the fine things she does accomplish with her family.

So, sensitive and conscientious mothers do need encouragement. It is not for those women that we need to dwell upon the dire results of mistaken management. What they need rather is to be made to relax by being told that, if they love their children and try truly to understand them, and if those children on the whole are happy and adjusted, disaster will not follow in the wake of a few mistakes in management.

A sensitive mother who, tired out, has been impatient with her children or really cross with them, will probably find herself at night filled with remorse. Well, we should regret those things. Certainly our smaller children are confused by such unreasonableness, altho our slightly older ones are sometimes amusingly canny about it. "Mom must be awfully tired today, or maybe she's sick," said an 8 year old to her sister; "she's so cross. Let's go outdoors."

So we do want to avoid mistakes; we can't help being sorry when we make them; we must surely profit by them. But we mustn't let them get us down.

We must also learn to take some pride in our successes. We should let ourselves linger over the pleasant things that happen in the family, the harmonious times that sometimes occur at the end of the day, even the complimentary comments that those who really know our children make about them. A pat on the back, from some one else, or even occasionally from ourselves to ourselves, does us all good.

Avoid mistakes, of course, and look carefully into any lasting or chronic undesirable behavior, lack of adjustment, or unhappiness of your child. But don't, if you know you're conscientious and loving, look only at your faults, and accuse yourself of every crime in the calendar as you hear them described by writers about parents and children.

Mothers, as well as children, need to "celebrate their successes," as the saying goes.

Women in War Work

—By Kate Massee—

The Service club of Little Company of Mary hospital is justifiably proud of the successful conclusion of a campaign to raise funds for the purchase of a station wagon ambulance. Need of this type of equipment has been long felt in the area served by the hospital, and it will be of great benefit to the residents in the large territory. Mrs. John W. Baker, senior nurses' aid at the hospital, and Mrs. V. A. Halaburt, senior Gray Lady, were chairman and treasurer, respectively, of the campaign committee.

Women who've been wanting to study for positions as civilian experts in the army signal corps now have that opportunity, thru a tuition-free course in advanced radio, electronics, and micro-waves, which will start next Monday under the sponsorship of the University of Chicago.

Training salaries, ranging from $1,800 to $2,000 annually, will be paid to persons taking the course, upon completion of which the students will be assigned as civilians to signal corps installations in the United States. Some of those positions will be for instructors in 6th service command schools in Chicago.

Last summer a course for women wishing to become instructors of preëlectronics work was offered by the university, but that course was at a relatively rudimentary level compared with the highly specialized, advanced work now being offered. Sixteen women were awarded certificates in the earlier course and are now serving as instructors in army schools.

To be eligible, women must be college graduates between 18 and 45 who have had college physics and mathematics, including calculus. The 20 week course, sponsored by the engineering science, and management war training program of the government, involves a 48 hour week of lectures, recitation, discussion, laboratory and shop work, and supervised study. The only expenses incurred are the purchase of textbooks, totaling approximately $20, and a slide rule that costs about $3.50.

Qualified applicants will be examined as a prerequisite to taking the course. Application should be made at the Signal Schools office, 6th floor, 209 West Jackson boulevard.

Girls who contemplate enrolling in one of the women's branches of the service and wonder just what goes on during training will be interested in the reactions expressed by Pvt. Alice Fraser in a letter. She's attending the officers' candidate school for the women's reserve corps of the marines at Mount Holyoke college, South Hadley, Mass. Her letter says:

"Two and one-half days at the officers' candidate school, and this is a cross section of my mind—

"Heavens, where am I supposed to be now? What was that whistle? How do I find time to wash my face? O, my gosh, was I supposed to salute? And if so, how? What's 'sounding off'? I can't take notes at 90 miles an hour! I can't learn a million regulations at once! What in thunder time of day is '13-20'? Can I wipe my nose when standing at attention? Muster again! What next?

"Are we glad we're here? Do we really want to be marines?

"Yes, a thousand times yes. It's tough. And it's going to be tougher. But it's a challenge. And there's something about it. . . . And feeling that way is the beginning of esprit de corps, I guess."

The Evanston unit of the Association of Army and Navy Wives will hold its second meeting at 2 o'clock tomorrow at the Evanston Woman's club. The program will be devoted to the cause of the WAVES and SPARS, and speakers will tell the rôle the association can play as a primary recruiting agency for the two groups. Among them will be Lt. [j. g.] Charles L. Kluss of the WAVES and SPARS public relations and promotions, Ensign Lucille Schoenfeld, and Yeoman Margaret Hall. Mrs. Robert K. Stuart, chairman of the unit, will preside.

The Chicago Archdiocesan group of the Daughters of Isabella will meet at 8:30 o'clock tonight in room 15 of the Palmer House, with Mrs. Mayme McGloon presiding.

Weddings

Mrs. Christiansen Sinkler of Fargo avenue announces the marriage on April 10 of her daughter, Valborg, to George Thrasher Crossland of Evanston. The wedding took place in the Frank W. Howes Memorial chapel at Northwestern university, with Dr. A. W. Nagler of the Garrett Biblical institute officiating. The former Miss Sinkler was graduated from Northwestern university, the Chicago Musical college, and the Chicago School of Expression and Dramatic Art. Before her marriage, she taught in the Upper Haven school at Evanston. The bridegroom was graduated from Carthage college and the University of Chicago Law school. Mr. and Mrs. Crossland are at home in Evanston.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Rogoff of Hyde Park boulevard announce the marriage on April 8 of their daughter, Bette, to Sergt. Arthur M. Levy, son of Mrs. Elsa R. Levy of Paxton avenue.

20th Century Art of France Offers Variety

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The exhibition of modern French paintings lent from the Chester Dale collection will be open to the public at the Art institute tomorrow, following a preview reception tonight, and it will remain on view indefinitely. Three galleries on the second floor of the institute have been redecorated and hung with the 20th century French paintings. The large gallery [Gallery 40] is by all odds the most attractive. Modern paintings almost classical in drawing and treatment hang against a neutral background of pleasing color.

The neutral coloring of Gallery 40 is increased to a greenish yellow in Gallery 39 and shifts to a beige, rather cold and bleak, in Gallery 38. The paintings change in character nearly as rapidly as the walls against which they are shown. The large gallery has the most moderate and most attractive paintings; the adjoining gallery boasts the fine "Harlequin" by Derain, three intriguing portraits by Modigliani, and a lovely street scene by Utrillo, "The Church of Saint Severin"; the third gallery has an exquisite little group of figures by Marie Laurencin but with that exception is installed chiefly with representative modern works that will appeal mainly to those who already delight in the qualities which make modernism what it is.

Gallery 40, however, is a challenge and a satisfaction for all lovers of good painting. Picasso is represented by a number of his early and affecting pictures. "The Tragedy," "The Gourmet," "Juggler with Still Life," "Family of Saltimbanques," "Madame Picasso," and "Two Youth" make a sequence of studies of more than passing interest.

Matisse is represented with an unusual lush green forest scene, "Les Gorges du Loup"; a beautifully handled "Still Life: Apples on Pink Table Cloth," and the famous "Plumed Hat." Charles Dufresne has a gorgeous still life of flowers and the richly painted "Judgment of Paris." Derain has a fine still life with bread and fruit, and Raoul Dufy is represented with two paintings, neither of which is very typical of the dashing, shorthand technique that we have learned to associate with his name.

The exhibition finds its climax in Gallery 40. The Chester Dale collection gives the lamb and the lion sides of modern painting; it is a diverting exhibit.

Jews Here Will Join in Mourning Period for Martyred People

Chicago Jewish congregations are joining Jewish groups thruout the nation in six weeks of mourning for the 2,000,000 martyred Jews of Europe and others still living under threat of the same fate.

The period begins on the last day of Passover, which was yesterday for Reformed Jewish groups and is today for Orthodox congregations. It will end June 8, the first day of the Feast of Weeks, which corresponds to the Christian Pentecost.

The mourning period is being observed in accordance with a proclamation of the Synagogue Council of America, Rabbi Felix A. Levy of Temple Emanuel said last night. He said the council has asked members to refrain, as far as possible, from parties and joyous events in the period, to fast half days on Mondays and Thursdays, to wear black ribbons as a sign of mourning, and to give generously to relief.

Club Dinner Tonight.

The Chicago Lawn Young Woman's club will close its season with a dinner tonight in the Nantucket, 10437 South Western avenue.

Thru the Looking Glass

Dimity is royal raiment now for some of the most exquisite of all the sachets we have. These, the product of a woman who is just about world famous for the beauty of her fragrances and the simple, tasteful elegance of their containers, are now in what she calls their "battle dress."

The lovely little finger sachets and envelopes that once were of the shiniest, softest satin are now done up in fresh, delectable dimity, some flower-sprigged, some polka dotted, and we think they are enchanting. Flower fragrances, true as truth, are her specialty. Her white lilac, gardenia, and carnation translations are poetic. These three favorites are now in sachet in the new dimity dress; there also is a blend, a beauty with thousands of admirers among women who like choice, distinguished scents.

These are charming things to remember right now, when there are so many wide-eyed brides on every one's gift list. Most of the war brides will be living out of suit cases and won't be able to use a lot of the conventional shower gifts. These they can use—and we know they'll adore them. They're not bulky, but they spell a little bit of luxury. And they keep their fragrance for a long, long time.

A set of these makes a delightful "little" gift. The scent they carry is as good as any you'll find and the workmanship on the sachet cushions is exquisite. Engaged girls and brides will love 'em.

Factual Man.

The Encyclopedia Britannica will be 175 years old today and is having a party at the Art center here. All the dignitaries connected with this ancient institution will be present with the single exception of the Shah of Persia, a gentleman whose catalog of titles is climaxed by that of Most Formidable Lord and Master of the Encyclopedia Britannica, a formidable post, encompassing as it does the mastery of 35 million words.

Walter A. Yust, editor in chief, will be here. Mr. Yust reads only two forms of written matter: the Britannica and detective novels. In reading both he is always thirsting for a solution, such as [with the Britannica] the correct length of the Ozark river. In one volume of the Britannica it was given as one length; in another, another. A little disturbed by this inconsistency, Mr. Yust wrote to five different authorities and received five different answers. "I still don't know how long the darn thing is," he says wistfully.

Another little matter that worries Mr. Yust is the direction faced by the eagles in the American navy's various insignia. Some face left, some face right. The navy department was as vague as Mr. Yust and his boys about which was correct. As a result, Mr. Yust followed a fine Hullian middle-of-the-road policy and depicts them facing both ways.

"The hardest thing in this world to get is a fact," says this master of 35 million supposedly factual words. "I mistrust facts."

Passing Note.

Arid Land.

A woman we know, being full of vigor, patriotism, and hunger, this spring decided to plant a war garden. As a humble apartment dweller, she had no land, but having heard that the park board was apportioning bits of park to busy planters, she made application for a small plot. The park board in due time notified her that the parks were not being apportioned, but suggested she get in touch with her OCD regional chairman, who would find growing room for her in her area of the city.

This would have been fine had there been an OCD chairman for her municipal region, but there was not, and she duly notified the park board. The park board relayed her to the OCD chairman of an adjacent region, who said blithely, "Why, all you have to do is find a vacant lot and plant your seeds." She found several nice vacant lots but each was marked "Private Property. No Trespassing." When she told the OCD chairman this, he said kindly that private property was a thing of the past. "Just call the owner," he said, "and tell him firmly that you want to plant a little crop there." But every owner she found assured her, "I can't let you do that, I'm going to plant a garden there myself."

The OCD chairman rallied nobly after hearing of this. He told her she could have a plot in a strip of desert land between 18th and 23d streets. Its only drawback is that it has no water.

The woman now is planting chives, parsley, and mint in her window boxes, as she has done for the last four years.

Hat Bars Will Set You Up in Topping Style

BY REA SEEGER.

Hat bars around the stores are just what you might suspect from the naive, cozy little spots offering modestly priced hats ready to wear out. Opened for the benefit of hurried career girls who shop with one eye on the clock and the other on snap and high fashion priced to a limited clothing budget, these hat bars are going strong. Equipped with plenty of mirrors and cases filled with new ideas, they are efficiency itself.

These are the days when girls look for snap and color and occasionally a bit of whimsey. There is whimsey in the button trimmed new beanies—gay green, red and other colored affairs with big white buttons. Reminiscent of small brother's button covered skull cap, these feminine versions are fetching little dabs of white and color to wear back of massed feminine curls.

Brand new arrivals are the white pique pillboxes, plainly trimmed, but effectively quilted in patterns simple enough to wear with suits as well as cotton dresses and white fabric wash gloves.

Other white hopes for a smart summer ahead are the lacy straws and the open meshed lacy braids. Many of these are made with snappy bows in the front, of the same braid or straw as the hats. Crocheted pillboxes, dinks, and beanies are made of crocheted stuff that has been treated to some trick starching. They are guaranteed not to wilt under a passing shower. All the bright shades of gold, yellow, green, blue, red, copper, and violet are plentiful, and there are pastels that will melt in your mouth.

Gov. Green Reviews WAAC Parade and Lauds Women's Role

Springfield, Ill., April 26 [Special].—Gov. Dwight H. Green, reviewing a parade here this afternoon to launch WAAC week and encourage women to enlist in the country's military forces, praised the work of women in the war.

"We have heard so much talk about man power since the beginning of this war," the governor said, "that I think we are sometimes inclined to overlook the value and importance of America's woman power.

"Other countries may attempt to claim credit for this so-called 'liberation of women,' but it has been our own United States which has given women their greatest opportunities, and truly the women of America have used those opportunities to such great advantage, have exercised their newly won rights and privileges so well that we are repaid many times over for the great confidence we have placed in them."

"Grounded"

By H. Vernor Dixon

Copyright: 1943: By H. Vernor Dixon

SYNOPSIS: Brant Regan, dare devil flyer wounded while fighting for China, is forced to take a year's rest. Returning to San Francisco, he gets Barlow Aircraft to test his new wing formula and altho it tests perfect, McNair, company attorney, tells him the company cannot afford to experiment with it. But McNair says that he and Harmon, president of Barlow, will pay Regan $60,000 for it themselves. Brant dislikes McNair and Harmon, as well as O'Toole, vice president, and Sutton, designing engineer, and senses something is wrong with the whole setup. But he is greatly attracted to Dian Barlow, who owns controling interest of the company. He kisses her one night and she confesses her love for him, begging him to return it for the year he is grounded. Altho he feels he is not really in love with her, he insists they elope. None of the four Barlow executives is pleased with the marriage. Harmon spreads gossip that Brant married Dian for her money. But Carol Jaffe, McNair's tough little secretary, is relieved, as she is in love with McNair and knows that McNair was trying to marry Dian. When Brant inspects the new bomber Barlow is building, he finds it is out of date and realizes the executives are having it built that way so the government will turn it down. They want to get the company in a financial hole so Dian will be forced to put some of her stock up for sale and lose controling interest. Brant persuades Dian's Aunt Hattie, to get Dian to turn her stock over to him, giving him complete control of the company. He puts himself in charge of the experimental division and altho he promises Dian he will not stop work on the bomber, he does, as he feels that to continue means to lose more money. Harmon complains to Dian and her faith in Brant begins to weaken.

INSTALMENT XIV.
TOE CRUSHING.

Brant did not see Kane the following day. He went directly to the experimental division and had the entire staff called about him, from the welders to the engineers, over 800 men working on that one project.

He crisply told them that work on the XB-42 was being halted for the time being, but that he wanted to retain their organization intact. They would report for work every day, as usual, and put in their time sitting about the shop.

The engineers were curious, and in that curiosity there was something else; some sly hint of knowledge. Brant tried to pry it out of them, but got nowhere. Only one of the younger engineers, a man named Moreland, had anything to say.

In the privacy of Brant's new office, he told him: "I don't think much of that crate myself."

"That so? I'm glad somebody agrees with me."

"O, they all think the same thing," Moreland laughed, "only they don't say it. They got jobs to hold. And, anyway, they don't like to voice their doubts of Sutton. He's done some pretty big things."

"Not this time, tho. Listen, Moreland, that ship is never going to be completed as it is. It may never be completed in any form."

Moreland grinned. "How about your wing? I looked over that formula, too. Funniest thing I ever saw. Just picture that on the big baby."

"I have."

"Sure, I thought so. I'll tell you what, Regan, you work out the design for me and I'll see if I can't apply that wing to the XB-42. Okay? I'll do it in the dark, of course, if you want it that way——"

Brant thought it over for a moment, then slapped Moreland on the arm. "Go to it. I'll give you the ordinates before I leave today. Maybe—well, you go to it. We'll see."

As soon as Moreland left the office Brant put in a long distance call to Wright field for Gen. Holland, one of the heads of Procurement and an old friend.

Gen. Holland exclaimed, "By golly, it's good to hear your voice! Last time I saw you was in Chungking. Heard you got it in the stomach."

"Fine. We can use you as soon as you do. Now, what's afoot? We know all about you and the Barlow setup. Keep our fingers on such things. You're not going to run that plant, are you? You're a fighter, man. What are you doing in a swivel chair?"

Brant laughed. "Right now I'm sitting on the edge of a desk. Look, sir; I want your advice and I want it as straight as you can give it to me. We're building an experimental bomber, here, the XB-42."

"I know. Mysterious sort of setup."

"Yeah. The plans of that bomber have never been submitted to you, have they?"

"No. It's the usual rule. We have even asked it of Harmon, but he sees fit, for some reason, to keep the whole project in the dark. That is permissable in a private project not involving government funds. Here's hoping it's a good one."

"That's what I would like to know, too. I'm going to give you the figures on that plane, all estimates, but you know they come pretty close to actual performance. Here they are: Maximum speed, three-o-four; service ceiling, 31,000; rate of climb, 1,800; maximum range, 2,400 miles——."

There was a long pause and then the general slowly stated, "We stopped building four engine planes with that sort of performance over four years ago. Why, man, we wouldn't be interested in an airplane like that if you gave it to us."

"Yeah. I said the same thing."

"Huh? What are you talking about? I don't get this. I don't get it at all. To waste money on building a thing like that in these times——"

"General, will you send me a telegram expressing that same opinion? It's not for public consumption, or anything like that. I want it for my own purpose, here in the plant."

"Well—Yes, of course I'll send it. Why, man, to waste money like that. What's up, Regan?"

"I'll let you know. Can't say anything now. But I think that eventually I can promise you a bomber that is really a bomber. I'll keep in touch with you."

"By all means. You have me curious."

Brant nodded with satisfaction when he had hung up. Things were getting under way. There was more than one way to fight this battle and the general's promised telegram would be the opening wedge, if it ever came to a showdown.

He cleared a drafting table in the office, brought out his formula and scaled a wing for the XB-42. It took him the balance of the morning and then he had only worked out the profile. But when that was done he called in young Moreland and turned it over to him.

"You can start off with this. The wing root is the main thing. It must be approximately the same as the one intended, or will upset all the stress calculations. Frankly, I don't know if we can do it, but try."

"Yes, sir, I will. I'm the stress analyst in this division, so I won't have to go to the files too often."

Brant turned over his office to him and stepped into the open hangar to examine the giant fuselage of the XB-42. It was clean enough, but not too clean. However, that could all be worked out without too many changes. The body was secondary, as long as it followed standard design. The wing was the important thing. Brant felt sure that if his wing could be applied to the bomber its performance would be sensational. But possibly it could not be applied without upsetting all the stresses of the ship. In which case they would have to junk the whole plane and start from scratch. There was not enough money in the company's treasury for that. It had to be the XB-42 or nothing.

Brandt left the plant in the evening without having seen Sutton, O'Toole or Kane. He felt that it was just as well. They would certainly have had a row over some matter or other.

He and Dian went out to dinner that evening with Aunt Hattie, and Brant evaded all their questions about his day at the plant. After dinner they went to a show, but Dian pleaded a headache in the middle of the second dull picture and they left the theater. On the sidewalk in front they ran into Carol Jaffe on her way to the boxoffice. She coolly said hello to Dian and Hattie, who greeted her just as coldly, but smiled at Brant.

"Well, big boy, I hear you went to work today. Are you joining the ranks of the toilers permanently, or is this just a whim?"

Brant laughed and shook hands with her. "Neither. What's cooking with you?"

"Nothing. Mac," she said, shooting a sidelong glance at Dian, "says you've taken over Experimental. You're doing a little toe crushing, brother. Remember what I told you?" Brant nodded. "Well, don't forget it."

Dian wearily said, "O, let's not talk about her. There are enough unpleasant things in life without having to drag her in."

Brant regarded the two of them and nonchalantly asked, "What's the matter with her?"

She slanted a look at him and laughed. "I really believe you like her."

"Well, to be honest about it, I do. She knows what she wants out of life, that gal. But you are right, in a way. I can't figure out what she's doing in McNair's office."

Dian and Aunt Hattie gave each other a knowing glance. Then Dian said, "It's an old scandal. She used to work for Kane Harmon, a number of years ago. Does that explain anything?"

Dian breathed, almost in a whisper, "She has a child, in school somewhere back east."

Household Forum

By Louise Bargelt

Mrs. Robert Dickenson, Ottawa, Ill.: I have a good suggestion for mothers of growing little girls. I find that when I have to let down one of my little girls' dresses a fine line will show. To remedy this I stitch a band of rick-rack over the line of the original hem. This hides the line and adds to the attractiveness of the dress.

Ida E. Kitchell, 1955 School street, Chicago: I always clean vinegar cruets, vases or other hard to get at glass containers by crushing fresh egg shells and putting them inside with a little water. Let stand a few minutes and then shake well.

Mrs. George F., Chicago: Before I starch any curtains, I let them dry thoroly. This is a help, as they will keep clean and hold the starch much longer.

Mrs. Frank H., Racine, Wis.: I have had a lot of trouble with the pile of my rugs, which gets flattened by heavy furniture. Now I find I can remedy this by using a hot iron over a damp cloth. While the pile is still a bit damp, I brush it up. This same treatment will help curled corners of a rug if you apply the iron to both back and face of rug.

Down on the Farm

they're asking for YOU!

Every able-bodied person who can do farm work is needed to get in the vital crops, help build the country's desperately needed food supply. Are you fit to farm? You are—(A) if you've ever worked on a farm before, (B) if your school has a farm unit or study course, (C) if you're strong and willing and can be furloughed from your present employment for the critical harvest season. See your nearest U. S. Employment Office today—and spend your vacation on a farm—for fun, for Uncle Sam, for freedom!

teresting group of out-of-towners present to meet the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale are in Chicago for the opening, and, with the trustees of the institute and their wives, will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster at a buffet supper before the reception. David Finley and John Walker, director and curator, respectively, of the National Art gallery in Washington, D. C.; Russell Plimpton, director of the Minneapolis Institute of Art, and René Batigne, commissioner of French treasures in the United States, are among those who have come here for the reception and who also will be among the Brewsters' guests. Altho the reception will be formal, the majority of guests will come in street clothes.

White Elephant Shop's Movie Party Is Today.

Many friends of the White Elephant Rummage shop will be having luncheon at Dutch treat tables at the Casino today before going on to the shop's movie party at 2:30 o'clock at the Esquire theater. Admission to the movie as always will be a gift of rummage to be sold at the shop, which is located at 27 East Ohio street and which is conducted for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital. A number of board members will be wearing hats to the party that they have designed and made themselves. Each designer will be wearing a badge and will be "on exhibit" in the lobby. The hats will be sold later at the shop.

Samuel S. Holmes will speak at a meeting of the Chicago Seeing Eye Membership committee at 11 o'clock this morning at the Fortnightly club. Mr. Holmes, whose daughter is a Seeing Eye graduate, has been active in the Seeing Eye for a number of years and has served as chairman of the Chicago executive committee of the organization. Mrs. Irene Sidley, chairman of the membership committee, will conduct the meeting, which will be attended by divisional chairmen, vice chairmen, and workers in the enrollment of new members.

Salad-Making Equipment Is Listed Today

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

If you aspire to win a reputation for your salad-making, here's the equipment you should have:

A wooden salad bowl big enough for tossing a salad of the size you make most often. [Many cooks who pride themselves on salads have bowls of graduated size, for little and big salads.]

Some kind of salad oil.

In addition, it's nice to have several kinds of salad herbs on hand. Mixtures of dried salad herbs are available in many stores, and small containers of such seasonings as basil [wonderful in tomato salads] and savory.

A real salad fancier usually keeps more than two kinds of vinegar suggested. A variety of fine flavors in salad can be produced with this assortment, for example: garlic vinegar, red wine vinegar, mixed herb vinegar, white wine vinegar, basil vinegar and tarragon vinegar.

The salad expert usually mixes the salad with its seasonings at the table, or just before it goes to table. No ready-made dressings for him. [Often enough it is a him, for many men love to do the salad for a dinner!]

First oil is sprinkled carefully over the greens and vegetables. Not too much, for oil is precious these days, and no salad profits from a bath of oil. Only enough oil to make the leaves glisten is used, and the salad fork and spoon are used to distribute it evenly. By the way, peanut oil, coming into prominence right now, is excellent for salads.

The next step is to add seasonings. First, a judicious amount of salt, then pepper from the pepper-mill, and herbs, if they are to be used. Tossing again distributes the seasonings, and the salad is ready for vinegar. This is sprinkled over the salad, accompanied by tossing. The connoisseur always tastes at this point, in order to be able to adjust the seasonings. Maybe a little more salt will be required, perhaps the salad needs more vinegar.

Salad-making at the table can be made a neat performance if the vinegar, oil and seasonings are set out on a small tray. Often the woman of the house tosses and serves the salad while her husband carves the meat.

Here are a few of the potential salads available in the markets today: Head and leaf lettuce, romaine, chicory, watercress, spinach, white and red cabbage, endive, escarole, celery. And if you have a yardful of dandelion greens, remember that these tender young leaves are wonderful in salad, if they are cut fairly fine with the kitchen scissors.

Shredded carrot or turnip, bits of raw broccoli or cauliflower, green onions, radishes, green peppers, cucumbers, tomatoes help make tossed salads crisp, flavorful and vitamin-rich. Some salad ingredients are fairly expensive right now, but most of them will help make salads for a week or longer if kept crisp in the refrigerator.

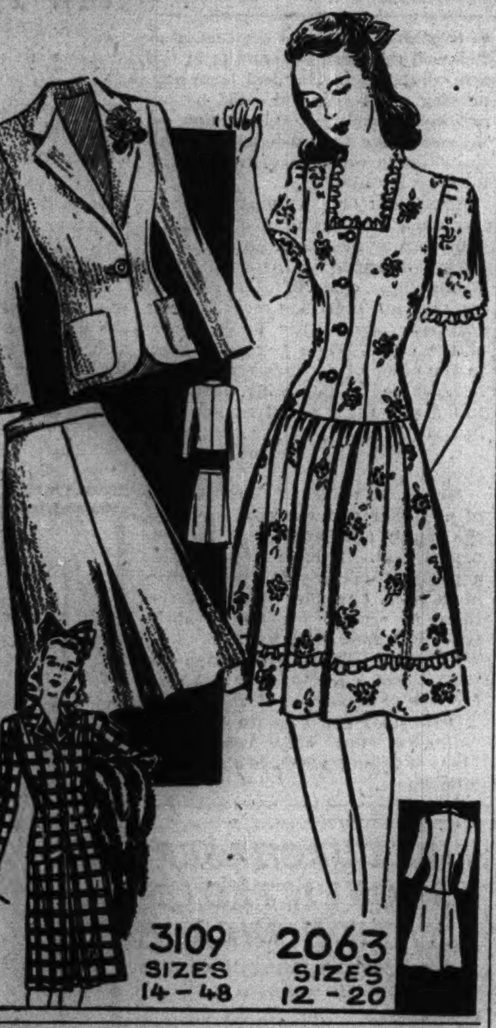
Style No. 2063 is designed for sizes 12 to 20. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39 inch fabric with 3⅛ yards of ruffling.

Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The spring pattern book is 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with pattern.



According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is often possible to compensate for lack of enterprise in defensive bidding by perfect defensive play, but when errors are made in both departments, the result is scarcely apt to be a happy one. For example:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Both sides 80 part-score.

NORTH
♠ 10 3 2
♥ 6 5 2
♦ J 9 8 5
♣ A J 4

WEST
♠ A K Q 9 5
♥ 10 7 4 3
♦ 6 2

EAST
♥ Q
♦ 10 7 4 3

SOUTH
♠ J 7
♦ A K Q
♣ 7 6 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	1 spade	Pass	Pass
2 hearts	2 spades	3 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

Under the circumstances, East might have shown a little more courage and bid three spades. I grant that his hand was not robust, but in view of West's announcement [via his rebid] of a good spade suit, East should not have feared any catastrophe at a three spade contract and, from his point of view, defense against the opponents' three hearts seemed nonexistent.

As a matter of fact, the three heart contract should have been defeated, but West now proceeded to err as badly in his play as East had erred in his bidding. The spade king was opened; East followed suit with the four spot. Ignoring this demand for a shift, West continued with the spade ace. This would not have been fatal, but when West continued to ignore his partner's signals, the defense fell apart. The third lead of spades, the queen, was ruffed by declarer, who then laid down the ace and king of trumps. The king and queen of diamonds followed, then the jack of hearts, and then the ace of diamonds. Now it did not matter whether West ruffed with his high trump or discarded. Actually, he chose to throw off a spade. Declarer thereupon led a club to the ace and discarded a club on the diamond jack, thereby fulfilling his contract.

West should have had more confidence in his partner's direction. When East played the spade four on the first trick and the six on the second, West should have shifted and, tho it was not attractive to lead the king of clubs, or away from that card, that shift was far more logical than the alternative diamond shift. There was a good chance that East had such cards as the Q-10 of clubs, but there was very small chance, in view of the bidding, that East could have sufficiently good diamonds to make an attack on that suit desirable. Obviously enough, if West had knocked out the club ace before declarer could unblock the diamond suit, the contract would not have been fulfilled.

Exercise Aids Flexibility and Skin of Hands

[Copy.: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"In the spring, your hands require extra care," says Florence Eldridge, lovely star of screen, stage, and radio. "There are fewer oil glands on your hands than there are, for instance, on your face. Because of this lack of natural lubrication, your hands readily roughen and chap; they are particularly vulnerable in winter to the drying onslaughts of outdoor cold and indoor heat. And every time you wash your hands you remove what little oil there is, along with the dirt.

Hand creams and lotions have to step in here in order to save the day. These can be divided into two general groups. There are, first, the nongreasy lotions and creams which are really a sort of makeup for the hands. They can be used any time of the day without inconvenience since they dry quickly or disappear, leaving the hands soft and smooth. The other type is greasy and isn't as convenient. But these creams do a real job on rough, red hands, because they contain lots of rich oils that supply the skin with that much needed lubrication. When you use them, take time off to massage your hands, in order to get the greatest benefit from them.

"If your hands are well cared for so that the skin is soft and smooth, if they are flexible so that they move gracefully," says Miss Eldridge, "then they are beautiful and expressive, no matter what their glove size.

"While the cream is still on your skin is a good time to do some hand exercises. The idea of hand exercises may seem a little silly to you at first," continues Miss Eldridge, "since your hands are normally in motion a good deal of the time, anyway. However, the purpose of the exercises is to increase the flexibility of your hands, persuading you to exercise certain muscles that ordinarily you wouldn't use. For instance, if you spend a good deal of time sewing, piano playing would be a good exercise; if you do much letter writing, typewriting will call other muscles into play.

"Place the hands on a flat surface with fingertips and wrist just touching. Lift each finger separately as high as you can without moving the others.

"Make a tight fist. Then stretch and spread your fingers out wide, as far as they will go. Spread the fingers wide apart. Slowly curl the fingers relaxed, draw figure eights in the air with the hands."

8c FARE APPEAL OF TEN MONTHS GOES TO JURY

Commission Must Rule by May 3.

The case of the 8 cent street car fare "went to the jury" at 5:50 p. m. yesterday—a jury in the person of Chairman John D. Biggs of the Illinois commerce commission and his four fellow commissioners, who must decide within seven days what it will cost to ride a Chicago street car.

It was a case that would make the usual criminal court jury shudder and reach for its hat. Testimony started 10 months ago before Examiner James R. Clark of the commission.

Nearly every day since then, excepting legal holidays and time taken out for consideration of the traction unification case, witnesses have testified and lawyers have argued.

Court Reporters in Relays.

Relays of court reporters have taken down every word. They have typed out more than 18,000 pages of transcript. More than 200 bulky exhibits have been introduced.

The Chicago Surface Lines petitioned a year and a half ago to have its 7 cent street car fare boosted 1 cent on the basis of increased cost of operation and fair valuation of property.

The request went thru eight months of hearings before the commerce commission granted the company a temporary 8 cent fare effective April 20, 1942.

to rule within a year whether its temporary order will be made permanent, and the hearings just ended have been on this basis.

The commission, in entering the temporary fare increase, ordered the company to make certain improvements, including purchase or installation of additional cars and buses, and an increased maintenance expenditure.

The company contends that it has not only met these requirements but is rendering the best possible service in keeping with war time conditions, having extended some bus lines to war plants as well.

Byrnes Eliminated.

Just before the hearing closed, attorneys agreed that the decision on the fare increase rested with the commission and that James F. Byrnes, director of economic stabilization, had no power to order the commission to reinstate the 7 cent fare.

Company attorneys have based their plea for the 1 cent boost on the argument that the company is entitled to a return of 10 million to 12 million dollars a year on the basis of the valuation they set for it.

They argued that the company, recently ordered to pay an estimated 4 million dollars a year in a wage increase ordered by the war labor board, would be in the red if the 7 cent fare was reinstated.

The city, thru William H. Sexton, city traction attorney; the attorney general's office, thru Special Assistant William R. Morgan, and the office of price administration, thru Regional Atty. Alex Elson, have opposed the 8 cent fare.

They contend that the company's valuation is 100 million dollars too high and that the company can absorb the new wage increase with a 7 cent fare. The OPA insists that an 8 cent fare would be inflationary.

Burglars Obtain $1,202 in Office of Dr. Meyer

Thieves who entered thru a rear transom took $1,202 from a cabinet filing drawer in the office of Dr. Karl A. Meyer, medical director of Cook county institutions, at 30 North Michigan avenue, police were informed yesterday.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Abraham Woolery and Mrs. Margaret C. Stammers.

Abraham Lincoln Woolery, 78 years old, was married yesterday to Mrs. Margaret C. Stammers, also 78, by Superior Judge Oscar F. Nelson who granted Woolery a divorce last Wednesday on the ground of desertion from Mrs. Medora Pugh Woolery.

Woolery, a retired live stock judge and horse race starter, said he met his bride at a dance last November, and they fell in love. The couple will live at 6412 Drexel avenue.

Atty. Richard Truitt, who represented Woolery in the divorce action, was best man. Truitt's secretary, Miss Dorothy Jantz, was maid of honor.

COURT REFUSES EMPLOYE RIGHT TO SPLIT ESTATE

Judge John F. O'Connell refused yesterday to probate the purported will of the late Franklin Magill, which disposes of an estate estimated at $200,000. The court held the will was not of a testamentary character, but merely a certification of authority allegedly given before his death last Jan. 13. It was indicated an appeal to the Circuit court will be taken.

Magill, who was secretary treasurer of the Magill Weinsheimer company, a printing concern, gave Miss Etta Klasky, his secretary for 14 years, the right to his property, according to oral instructions given prior to death. Miss Klasky said those instructions were that she give one-third of the estate to certain employés, one-third to Mrs. Margaret M. Culbertson of the Graemere hotel, daughter and sole living heir of Magill, and that she herself was to receive the remaining one-third.

Mrs. Culbertson contested the will.

SURFACE LINES BEGIN PAYMENT OF WAGE BOOST

The Chicago Surface Lines began payment yesterday of $2,400,000 to 13,000 employés who recently won a wage boost of 9 cents an hour, retroactive to June 1, last year.

Approximately $1,700,000 will be paid for the period from June 1 to Dec. 31, 1942. Approximately $400,000 more, less the Victory tax, will be paid from Jan. 1, 1943 to the current time. The latter checks will be slightly delayed because of the time needed to compute the Victory tax.

The payment of the back pay follows instructions from the war labor board, which conducted negotiations between the surface lines and Division 241 of the Electric Street Railway and Motorcoach Employés union. The negotiations resulted in a wage boost from 85 to 94 cents an hour.

Wife of Marine Loses Coat —Jap Mink, from Locker

Vet, 104, Joins Up

Delaware, O., April 26 (AP).—Leonard Brown, 104 year old retired farmer who marched with Sherman to the sea in the Civil war, put $6,000 into war bonds today.

"I may be too old to tote a gun anymore," he said, "but I can buy bonds to buy guns for youngsters who are fighting today. "It's everybody's duty to help out in this war the best he can."

The time for the rough going and the hard work in the Chicago war bond drive is here, officials at metropolitan headquarters said last night. With the area still more than 10 million dollars behind its 370 million dollar quota, success or failure of the money raising effort depends on how the little buyers respond this week, Jay N. Whipple, chairman, said. The drive will end Saturday.

An appeal that at least one million families buy an extra bond was made by Whipple as many towns and cities elsewhere in the nation reported they had far exceeded, and in some cases doubled, their quotas already. The total of metropolitan sales thus far is $359,917,000.

"The number of individuals buying war bonds still is too low," Whipple said.

Bond Rally Today.

The quota undoubtedly will be more than met by the end of the week, he said.

Officials have arranged to hold a rally at noon today at the base of the war bond sales "thermometer" on the north side of the 333 North Michigan Avenue building.

Meanwhile C. S. Young, chairman of the five state Chicago federal reserve district bond campaign and president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, disclosed that the district already had topped its original quota.

During the day employés of the bank completed the book work and other processing that turned into cash all the subscriptions that were received up to the close of business Saturday.

Predicts Oversubscription.

They found that purchasers other than banks had taken $1,105,328,500 of bonds, tax notes and treasury certificates, Young reported. That was $55,328,500 more than the goal of 1 billion 50 million dollars that had been set.

Additional subscriptions were received yesterday and Young predicted that by the time the drive ends the total will be at least 25 per cent in excess of the quota.

It was disclosed in Washington that Chicago banks and others in the Chicago reserve district subscribed for $1,423,568,000 of the ⅞ per cent certificates recently offered to banks, and were allotted $326,942,000.

At a bond rally in Flossmoor, a community of 1,500 persons with a goal of $30,000, more than $100,000 in bonds were sold last night. The sale was conducted under the auspices of a committee composed of Mrs. James Blair, Richard Irwin, Muller Koepper, and Sidney Bloom. Charles P. Thompson was master of ceremonies at the auction.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department answers questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stampped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries.]

Mrs. T. writes: "My husband, who is overseas, has asked me to send him pictures of our baby, whom he has never seen. He has snapshots but is always asking for a large photograph of the baby. I now have a studio portrait of her, which I know he'd like to have, but don't know how to send it to him. It's not possible to send anything but mail to army men, is it? Do you think they'd stretch a point and accept a baby's picture—it would mean so much to him?"

ANSWER: The point already has been stretched, Mrs. T! The war department has ruled that sealed parcels, not exceeding 8 ounces in weight, with postage prepaid at the first class rate—3 cents for each ounce—may be accepted. If you can wrap your daughter's portrait so that it will meet these specifications, there is no reason why it may not be sent. Don't attempt to send picture glass or a frame, however.

Mrs. B. L. writes: "I have received a letter from the office of dependency benefits asking for proof of relationship. I have been married twice. My present husband is in the army but has in the past been supporting my 4 year old child by my previous marriage. Will it now be necessary for my husband to adopt the child in order to provide an allowance for him?"

ANSWER: No. If your husband has been supporting the child by your former marriage, he can apply for an allowance for the child. Proof of marriage consists of a certified copy of your marriage record, plus a certified copy of the birth record of the child. When you send them to the office of dependency benefits, be sure to include your husband's full name, rank, serial number, organization, and your account number, which is stamped on the checks.

Mrs. A. B. writes: "I am the wife of a soldier and am now receiving the family allowance from the war department. I have been offered a position working for the government here. I wonder if I could continue to receive my family allowance, if I took that work."

ANSWER: There is no reason why the wife of a soldier may not work for the government, if she wishes. A wife does not have to prove dependency, but only relationship. Many working wives are receiving allowances.

CONGRESSMEN DRAFT TRADE TREATY CHANGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 26.—Several amendments to the reciprocal trade treaties act designed to protect American producers and give congress a voice in the operation of the reciprocity program will be offered tomorrow at a session of a house ways and means subcommittee, it was learned today.

The full committee has been holding hearings on the proposed renewal of the trade act, which expires June 12 and under which the state department has made treaties with 26 nations, 15 of which are in Central or South America. The amendments have been worked out by congressmen who feel that the act as now written fails to insure that neighborliness will work both ways.

One of the amendments will give congress 60 legislative days to veto any reciprocal trade treaty, it was reported, while another will give an appeal to the customs court to any producer who feels he has been injured by the provisions of a treaty written under the act. Other amendments will seek to restrict low tariff rates to articles which do not compete with American goods.

TIRE PURCHASER IS CONVICTED OF RATION BREACH

James Murphy, formerly of Hinsdale, last night was convicted by a federal jury before Judge John P. Barnes in the United States District court on a charge of violating tire rationing regulations.

The verdict was returned in the first jury trial in Chicago of a rationing violation. The maximum possible penalty is one year's imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

The office of price administration charged Murphy with buying from Erwin Kolarik, a Hinsdale gasoline station operator, four new tires for $75, and of actually receiving two of the tires without surrendering the proper rationing certificates. The tires had been stolen May 21 from the Bartell Motors company, 5233 Cermak road, Cicero.

Kolarik, who bought four of the tires and sold them to Murphy May 23, was fined $100 last Sept. 17 by Federal Judge William H. Holly. The government charges were submitted to the jury by Assistant United States Atty. Maurice Walsh and the evidence was gathered by Russell Thorwaldsen, OPA investigator under Jack Oppenheim, chief investigator for the Chicago metropolitan area.

SCHOOLS STUDY PLAN FOR GIVING NEW TYPE CARDS

The new "vest pocket" records to be given high school graduates and those who leave before graduating can be provided with comparatively little difficulty, William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, said yesterday.

Records of the adjustment service maintained at each school provide virtually all the information needed, he declared.

A shipment of 30,000 of the forms was received here yesterday from the United States office of education, which is handling the program for the war department. Plans for preparing the cards will be discussed at a meeting next week, and at that time each school will obtain its supply, Johnson said.

The cards, which will include such information as grades, hobbies, and evidence of leadership, are to be used by the student when entering the army or applying for a job. All Chicago high school seniors will have them by June 25.

Jury Praises Policeman Who Killed Hotel Bandit

Policeman Walter Widholm of the Town Hall station, who shot and fatally wounded John E. Edwards, 32 years old, an ex-convict, in an attempted robbery at the Buena Plaza hotel, 4363 Kenmore avenue, last Saturday, was praised for his bravery yesterday by a coroner's jury at an inquest into Edwards' death. A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned.

TRAIN LATE?..
BUT MAKING YOUR CONNECTION

TIME OF ARRIVAL

We're glad, too, you thought of taking the earlier train

We hate late trains, too! Punctuality is the very heart of railroading.

When you're delayed en route, it may be because a military special has the right-of-way. Try thinking "Hats off! The flag is passing by!" That may help.

Sincerely, we want to thank you for the splendid spirit you are showing. Keep it up, please!

SOX OPEN HOME SEASON WITH INDIANS TODAY

13 NAMED FOR TODAY'S DERBY TRIAL STAKES

Race May Answer a Few Questions.

Derby Trial Field

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 26.—Thirteen horses were named tonight in the overnight entries for the $2,500 Derby Trial stakes, a race of a mile, which will be run tomorrow at Churchill Downs. The field, in order of post positions, follows:

	Wt.	Jockey.	Prob. odds.
Burnt Cork	112	No boy	15-1
Big Boss	110	No boy	25-1
No Wrinkles	110	R. Adair	5-1
*Twoses	112	G. Wolf	4-1
Bankrupt	110	F. Zufelt	50-1
†All Hoss	110	N. Jemas	15-1
Modest Lad	110	No boy	50-1
Ocean Wave	112	W. Eads	2-1
†Crest	110	C. Bierman	15-1
Take Away	110	No boy	50-1
Sea Marriage	110	No boy	25-1
Seven Hearts	112	J. Adams	8-1
*Slide Rule	115	No boy	4-1

*W. E. Boeing entry. †Hal Price Headley entry.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., April 26.—The $2,500 Derby Trial Stakes will be run tomorrow at Churchill Downs with the prospect that this gallop of a mile may answer a few questions such as the following:

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars.

1. Has Trainer Ben Jones developed Calumet Farm's expensively bred Ocean Wave into a strong contender for Saturday's $75,000 Kentucky Derby?

2. Will Trainer Cecil Wilhelm pick Slide Rule or Twoses to carry W. E. Boeing's colors in the Derby or will he keep both of them in the barn on the day of the big race?

Can No Wrinkles Go Distance?

3. Is Seven Hearts' ailing foot going to bother him enough to force his withdrawal from the Derby?

4. Can Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' No Wrinkles, which has the breeding of a sprinter, go well at the longer distance?

5. Which ones among the outsiders can run fast enough to warrant the payment of a $500 Derby starting fee?

Five of the probable Derby starters are not included in the field of 13 named today in the overnight entries for the Derby Trial. These are the odds-on favorite, Mrs. John Hertz's Count Fleet, Blue Swords, Amber Light, Gold Shower, and Dove Pie.

Count Fleet Will Work Today.

Trainer Don Cameron plans to give Count Fleet his last important workout tomorrow. The son of Reigh Count probably will be sent the full Derby route of a mile and a quarter. If the weather is fair, Count Fleet will work between races on the afternoon program as an added attraction for the crowd. If the weather is threatening, however, Cameron will rush him onto the track even if he has to get him out of his stall at daybreak.

Trainer Jack Hodgins said that he plans to ask Amber Light for a major move tomorrow. The Dixiana colt will go a mile and then probably will gallop out another furlong easing up.

They'll Watch Ocean Wave.

Those who never count a Jones-trained contender out of a big race will be eager to see how Ocean Wave will go in tomorrow's Derby Trial. In the Blue Grass Stakes at a mile and an eighth last Wednesday this son of Blenheim II. thoroly mastered Amber Light and Seven Hearts, the colts which had beaten him during the winter campaign. He indicated that the training program will bring him up to his peak on Derby day. If he runs well again tomorrow, many will rate him the No. 1 contender in the effort to upset the overwhelming favorite, Count Fleet.

The Boeing stable has been having quite a time of it ever since last winter when it had to give up on Devil's Thumb, the colt which had swept the juvenile stake program during the 1942 Saratoga meeting. At that time the stable considered Slide Rule the best substitute in the barn and this impression was strengthened when that colt won the Experimental handicap over a sprinting distance at Jamaica recently. In the Wood Memorial, however, Slide Rule was a disappointing fifth while Twoses was finishing third to Count Fleet and Blue Swords.

10,000 ATTEND SECOND DAY OF CHARITY RACES

Santa Elisa Wins Cicero Purse.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The second day of racing in the special program sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in conjunction with the National Jockey club, at Sportsman's Park proved to be a homecoming celebration for a number of horses, not to mention a happy vehicle for form players in the crowd of more than 10,000.

For one item, there was the brace of victories scored by a son and daughter of Hadagal, the old gentleman who was a familiar figure around Chicago tracks when he raced against such hearties of the turf as Cavalcade and Discovery, in the silks of Warren Wright.

Hadatime Returns $7.60.

First of the Hadagal progeny to score was Hadatime, a 4 year old gelding running for P. J. Valenti. Ridden by Jockey Tony Skoronski, Hadatime gave his backers quite a spell of fretting when he almost permitted Might Step, 8 to 1 shot, to catch him in the stretch, but he stayed in there to win by a nose. Favorite in the betting, he returned $7.60 in the mutuels.

Came the feature race of the day, the Cicero, an allowance test for 3 year olds. Among those entered was Santa Elisa, a 3 year old daughter of Hadagal-Ginette, which the clients promptly installed as a 2 to 1 choice, in the face of such rivals as Real Sad, Navy Cross, and Iron Works, the last named a Kentucky Derby nominee.

Withstands Real Sad's Challenge.

Santa Elisa permitted Navy Cross, a son of Infinite, to romp off into a three length lead after they came out of the gate, caught him as they passed the stands, and then withstood the challenge of Real Sad in the stretch to win by a neck. He paid $6.20.

The mutuel handle for yesterday's eight races was $291,312, an increase of $23,864 over the handle for the second day of the regular spring meeting at Sportsman's Park last year.

Another homecoming celebrant yesterday was Brown Mate, a fellow who never was much for gadding about, but who proved that staying home all winter doesn't slow down a horse. This 3 year old son of Mate, the former stake runner, ran like his dad in winning the first race yesterday.

Brown Mate Returns $19.40.

When the five furlong jaunt was over, Brown Mate was peeking back at his rivals with a five length advantage. And the first man to greet him and Jockey George Martin was a gent who once did a spot of riding himself. He was Willie Fronk, the old time jockey who brought Reveille Boy home first in the 1930 American Derby at odds of more than 50 to 1.

Brown Mate didn't reward his faithful with any such fat sum, but the $19.40 he brought for a $2 mutuel ticket was handy enough. It was the first time Brown Mate had been to the races since he ran at Sportsman's Park last October, and his first triumph anywhere since a September effort at Washington Park. In the interim, the brown gelding has been taking his leisure as Fronk's one-horse stable at the Lexbrook farms in Palatine.

Fourth Winner for Lowe.

Santa Elisa was ridden by Willie Lowe, 30 year old New Yorker who became the leading rider of the meeting by hopping back on Remote Control in the race following the feature and bringing home the 5 year old son of Higher for another favorite victory. Remote Control came home six lengths in front to pay $6.80 in the mutuels. It was Lowe's fourth winner of the charity program.

The meeting stewards announced yesterday that Jockey Andy Lo Turco has been suspended for the balance of the meeting for tampering with the scales in the jockey's room on Saturday. His case has been referred to the Illinois racing commission for further action.

Cubs Hope to Spoil Cardinal Opener Today with Derringer

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 26.—The Cubs, fresh from a split of their four game opening series with the Pittsburgh Pirates, tomorrow afternoon will meet the world champion Cardinals in the St. Louis home opener. The Cards also split their opening series, with the Cincinnati Reds, so the teams will enter the three game set in St. Louis each possessed of a .500 mark in the National league standings.

Paul Derringer, who was defeated by Truett Sewell, 6 to 0, in the Chicago season opener, will pitch for the Cubs. The Cubs expect to face Max Lanier, who beat them in two of four decisions last season. He has a lifetime record against the Cubs of 10 victories as compared with 6 defeats.

Cards Have Edge on Paul.

Last year, while a member of the Cincinnati Reds, Derringer failed to beat the Cards but was spanked by them twice. Paul also is on the short end in his lifetime ratio of competition with the Cards, having lost 24 while winning 18.

The Cubs, tho they were stopped twice by Sewell in their opening series with the Pirates, showed themselves to be better run producers than the Cards were in their series with the Reds. The Reds won the first two games, each by 1 to 0, the Cards won the third, 2 to 1, and the fourth, 1 to 0. The Cubs lost to Sewell, 6 to 0 and 6 to 2, but won from Hank Gornicki and Johnny Lanning, 4 to 3 and 6 to 3.

If the Cubs can win in St. Louis tomorrow, Wednesday, and Thursday they will have a victory total over the Cards exactly half as large as their total for all last year. In 1942 the Cubs were whipped by the Cardinals 16 times. The Cubs won a half dozen.

Pittsburgh Next Stop.

After their three days in St. Louis the Cubs will spend Friday, if necessary, getting to Pittsburgh. They are scheduled to play the Pirates a single game Saturday and a double header Sunday.

A week from tomorrow the Cubs will be back in Wrigley field for a three game series with the Cards, after which they will take off on a long jaunt which will carry them to Cincinnati, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, and Boston in that order. They will open against the eastern clubs in Chicago on May 26. The Giants will be the first invaders.

JOE MAXIN WINS FROM JORDAN IN TEN ROUNDS

Joe Maxin, 1940 Golden Gloves middleweight champion, made his farewell ring appearance by beating Al Jordan, fellow Golden Gloves alumnus, in a 10 round bout in Marigold Gardens last night. Maxin, who expects to be inducted in the army on Thursday, was awarded a split decision. Referee Frank Sikora voted 55-45 and Judge Livingston Osborne scored 57-43 for Maxin, but James McManus, the other judge, voted for Jordan, 51-49.

Gophers Deal Iowa 7-3 Loss; Chase Stille

Minneapolis, Minn., April 26 [Special].—The University of Minnesota baseball team scored five runs in the sixth inning here today and defeated Iowa, 7 to 3, in the opener of a two game series. The score was tied at 2-all when the Gophers had their big inning at the expense of Roy Stille, the Hawkeyes' No. 1 pitcher.

Stille, winner of three Big Ten games and previously undefeated this season, was driven from the mound in the sixth, which was featured by a home run by Jerry Kolander, first man up for Minnesota. It was the first conference victory for the Gophers in three starts and Iowa's third defeat in seven games.

The Hawkeyes took a two run lead in the first inning but from then on Gene Kelley, Gopher sophomore pitcher, who yielded seven hits, checked the visitors until the ninth. Earl Bruhn and Howie Schutz led the Gopher attack with three hits each. Score:

BIVINS TAKES DECISION OVER PAT VALENTINO

San Francisco, Cal., April 26 (AP).—Jimmy Bivins, Cleveland Negro heavyweight, strengthened his claim as the leading contender in the class with a convincing 10 round decision tonight over Pat Valentino [illegible] Francisco, now serving in the U. S. coast guard. Bivins weighed 176½ pounds, Valentino, 184½.

Illinois Golfers Hand Maroons 13 to 5 Defeat

Illinois golfers won two of four singles matches and halved a pair of foursomes to beat the University of Chicago's Maroons, 13 to 5 at Olympia Fields yesterday afternoon. Jim McCarthy and Roger Larson of the Illini turned in 75s for medalist honors, altho the Maroons' Bob Oakley had a 75 in the four ball play.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox, who provided some of their admirers with a preview while exercising with the Cubs last week, will make their formal 1943 debut in Comiskey park this afternoon in an act that also will involve Cleveland's Indians.

Having lost two out of three in the season's opening series at St. Louis, the Sox won't be able to display any conqueror's trophies beyond .333 points in the percentage column. But James J. Dykes, the manager, is looking forward hopefully to the not too distant day when his boys, dead ball or no, will, on occasions, slap more runs across the plate and thus improve their current humble position.

Lee Hopes to Prove Self.

This run getting business can start today as far as Thornton Lee is concerned because the left handed veteran will be present in an active capacity, hoping he can prove there are no lingering traces of the arm ailment which made him a pitching cripple last season.

The Sox failed to blast the cover off baseballs against the Browns, but their meek approach to enemy pitching wasn't surprising. In the first place, they still are far behind in the important matter of batting practice and only a streak of good weather, which appears to be scarce this spring, will permit them to catch up. But even after they do catch up there is slim likelihood of any long distance power developing, a fact that should make the Sox prefer to have the dead ball, if it is dead, become a fixture.

Pitchers Need Work.

Even Dykes' pitchers are hardly fitted for nine inning jobs, this state of affairs also being due to limited training exercises. Bill Dietrich was good for six innings in the opener at St. Louis last Wednesday, but stayed one inning too long. Eddie Smith southpawed the full route on Saturday, but after the first few innings was merely throwing and trusting to luck. In Sunday's defeat Bill Swift didn't appear to have any tricks, perhaps because he was afraid to cut loose. And Lee, who'll work today, has a spring record of only three innings.

Boss Dykes didn't pick Lee for today's mound chores solely to determine whether the big fellow is going to get back to his 22 game winning form of 1941. It so happens that Lee always has been unusually tough on his former mates. He has paddled them 19 times while losing 16. Opposed to Lee will be Al Smith, also a lefty, and he, too, will be in there because of a Cleveland belief that he is going to meet cousins. Al's spell over the Sox was sort of shattered last season when he made five attempts to throttle them and succeeded only twice.

Military Group to Attend.

Before the Sox skip out of town Sunday night for a short visit, Dykes hopes to ring in a few more of his prospective starters. Until he runs thru the entire crop he'll hold off on regular turns. Johnny Humphries, who was given such a pasting by the Cubs that he was put back on the shelf, probably will make his maiden effort within a few days. An early call also awaits Gordon Maltzberger, the Shreveport rookie, whose scheduled debut Sunday was prevented by the weather. Others in line for early tests are Joe Haynes, Orval Grove, Lee Ross, and Jake Wade.

The opening of Comiskey park for its 34th season will be conducted without marching, first ball throwing ceremonies, etc. President Mrs. Grace Comiskey will play host to a military group made up of Col. John Davis, representing Maj. Gen. A. S. Aurand; Col. Chester B. Fordney, Col. Clarence Jordan, Capt. Paul Rickard, and Capt. Murley Reep of the Marine corps.; Capt. M. W. Aldrich, Camp Grant.; Capt. Ernest Wills, Servicemen's Baseball league, and Capt. R. R. M. Emmet, Comm. B. O. Wells, Lt. Comm. Russell Cook, Lt. Mickey Cochrane, and Lt. Tony Hinkle of Great Lakes.

WILDCATS HOSTS TO 6-WAY TRACK MEET SATURDAY

8 Veterans, Promising Frosh Carry Hopes.

Eight holdovers from the indoor season, plus several good freshman prospects, will form the nucleus of Northwestern's outdoor track team which will open its spring campaign in the six way meet in Dyche stadium Saturday. Other teams competing are Wisconsin, Minnesota, Chicago, Purdue, and Indiana.

Capt. Don Buffmire, in the broad jump, heads the list of returning veterans. George Rue, in the dashes; Bill Deodiuc, in the shot; Jacques Chatain, in the pole vault; Homer Johnson and Junie Franck, in the quarter-mile and the mile relay; Gene Lowey, in the half-mile, and Johnny Cooley, in the high hurdles and high jump are the veterans who competed indoors.

James Lost to Team.

The recent loss of Dave James, Dick Dexter, Marty Sullivan, and Freshman Bill Billington to the services makes it imperative that several point winners be developed from the freshman ranks. Competing in the broad jump, high jump, and the high and low hurdles, James picked up 34 points in three meets to lead all Northwestern track scorers during the indoor season.

Dexter ran as lead-off man on the Purple mile relay team, while Sullivan and Billington were dash men. The latter, a freshman, was one of the outstanding prospects in the Big Ten.

Two upperclassmen, Quarter-miler Jim Fairchild and Half-miler Newt Compere, both sidelined by operations during the indoor season, are working out daily. Both boys will be competing with a host of other runners for one of the four spots on the one-mile relay team.

Franck, sophomore 440 yard man, will run the quarter mile and mile relay races as he did during the indoor meets in addition to taking the hurdles in the 220 yard low hurdles.

Altepeter Is Standout.

Outstanding among the first year trackmen is Hank Altepeter, Missouri state champion in the 100 and 440 yard dashes. Altepeter, who probably will run the quarter mile and do a similar length spin on the mile relay team, was a member of the Northwestern relay team which won a breath taking race from Chicago and Marquette in the Chicago relays.

Another good 440 yard prospect is Dan Fargo. In the mile run Coach Frank Hill can call on Ken Cushman, while in the weights football players Dan Orlich and John Kroeger will be available. Freshmen George Winkley, Jim Warfield, and Bob Hoyt should provide help in the hurdles, as should John Wold in the high jump.

CHICAGOLAND'S PREPS ARE GOING STRONG IN TRACK

They Have Their Eyes on State Meet May 14-15.

Much in the manner as the downstate representatives dominated Illinois prep basketball last season, the northern delegates are serving notice of their intentions of taking over the state track meet May 14 and 15 in Champaign.

First, there's the matter of Oak Park, good enough to win the title a year ago, and apparently capable of carrying out its designs on repeating. And, next, there appears to be sufficient individual ability in the Chicago region alone to assure several of the other top spots to the upstate group.

Altho last week-end was concentrated mainly on relay carnivals subordinating individual performances, there were several solo exhibitions which actually detracted from the exciting relay events. Among these was the speed with which Claude Young of Chicago's Wendell Phillips negotiated the 100 yard dash in the Wheaton relays.

He Really Was Stepping.

The Negro lad won the event in 10.1 seconds, a right smart time in itself, but yet inferior to his morning performance in the semi-finals when he covered the distance in :09.9. This probably is the fastest time in the state to date for the event. It erased the old meet mark of 10 flat, contributed in 1939 by Lecester Farmer of Maywood Proviso High. Farmer captained the University of Iowa squad this spring prior to his induction into the army.

With the field events a part of the relay meets, the majority of improvements came under this heading. Chet Haufe, the muscular young man from York High, did away with the Du Page county record in the shotput a week ago with a heave of 50 feet 9½ inches. He added another inch to this as well as flipping the discuss 135 feet to take a double victory at Wheaton.

A teammate of Haufe's named Johnston high jumped 6 feet ¼ inch to become the first lad in his territory to reach the 6 foot level this spring.

Morici Wins 2 Weight Events.

Joe Morici of Arlington Heights and Van Eynde of Hinsdale were other northerners who joined the select class over the week-end. In winning the two weight events in the Palatine relays, Morici heaved the shot 46 feet ¾ inches, while the Hinsdale youngster did 46 feet 1½ inches to go with his previous best in the discus of 137 feet 8 inches.

CASEY PITCHES NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME; WINS, 4-0

Norfolk, Va., April 26 (AP).—Hugh Casey, formerly of the Brooklyn Dodgers, pitched a no-hit, no-run game today as the Norfolk Naval Air station snapped the 15 game winning streak of the Norfolk Naval training station, 4 to 0.

A crowd of 5,000 fans, who purchased nearly $100,000 in war bonds, saw the game. Phil Rizzuto, ex-New York Yankee now the star of the training station team, went hitless for the first time this spring.

Lincoln Fields Announces 6 Stake Events

A program of six stake events was announced yesterday by Matt J. Winn, executive director of the Lincoln Fields Jockey club which will operate its 30 day spring meeting at Hawthorne this year. The meeting will open on Monday, May 17, and will close Saturday, June 19.

The added money races will be held on each of the five Saturdays of the meeting and on Memorial day which falls on a Monday.

The longest stake race scheduled is the Lincoln handicap at a mile and a quarter. It will be run June 19, final day of the meeting. Equifox won the event last year. Entry blanks for these features are being distributed. Entries close on Wednesday, May 5. The stakes follow:

Saturday, May 22—$5,000 added, Crete handicap, 3 year olds and up, 6 furlongs.
Saturday, May 29—$5,000 added, Joliet stakes, 2 year olds, 5 furlongs.
Monday, May 31—$5,000 added, Francis S. Peabody Memorial handicap, 3 year olds and up, 1 1-16 miles.
Saturday, June 5—$5,000 added, Steger handicap, 3 year olds and up, 6½ furlongs.
Saturday, June 12—$5,000 added, La Salle handicap, 3 year olds and up, 1 3-16 miles.
Saturday, June 19—$5,000 added, Lincoln handicap, 3 year olds and up, 1 1-4 miles.

PLAN TRYOUTS FOR SOFTBALL IN WRIGLEY FIELD

Tryouts will be held Saturday and Sunday in Wrigley field by the All-American Girls' Softball league, which will operate this season with four professional teams. Girls desiring tryouts are asked to report at 10 a. m. on either day and bring their own equipment. Managers and scouts of the four teams will watch the girls go thru practice routines.

Three of the managers are on scouting expeditions this week. Johnny Gottselig will look for talent in Detroit and other Michigan cities; Eddie Stumpf is seeking players in Ohio, and Bert Niehoff's operations are in Tulsa and Oklahoma City.

Senators Buy Pitcher Who Spurned Philly Offer

Memphis, Tenn., April 26 (AP).—The Memphis Chicks announced today the conditional sale of Lewis Carpenter, right handed pitcher, to the Washington Senators. Carpenter was sold to the Phillies several weeks ago but the deal was called off when he did not report.

IOWA, SHORT OF MEN, PLANS FULL SPORT PROGRAM

It Will Play Football if Only 11 Report.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Iowa City, Ia., April 26.—If there is a university in the Western conference which could decline reasonably to do as all conference schools have agreed to do, conduct intercollegiate sports next fall and winter, it is the University of Iowa.

Iowa's varsity football coaches—Dr. Eddie Anderson, Frank Carideo, and Jim Harris—are in service. Maximum enrollment for football drills this spring, which were conducted by Carideo, who will report for active navy duty in a few days, was 23. Average daily attendance for three weeks was from seven to 10 players.

Enrollment of Men Shrinks.

Only three or four experienced players expect to be on the campus this fall. Iowa will not have a navy V-12 program which might furnish some football material. Three thousand one hundred men were enrolled in the university last Jan. 1, when the semester opened which was concluded Saturday. That enrollment has shrunk more rapidly than a stock market margin in 1929, and no one now will predict the number of men for the summer or fall semesters.

But in the words of E. G. [Dad] Schroeder, director of athletics, "Iowa will have a football team in the fall if there are only 11 men on the squad."

There is no conference director more determined to carry on than Schroeder and certainly there is none more vehement in emphasizing that determination.

Recalls 11 Iron Men.

Schroeder's insistence is founded on an unshakeable belief in the values of intercollegiate football and supported by years of experience as an administrative official. It is bulwarked by a belief that Iowa will have more freshmen men this summer and fall than pessimists will admit and his desire that these youngsters shall be given the same opportunities for training before they march to war their predecessors received.

When Schroeder says, "Iowa will have a football team if there are 11 men," he also knows that 11 players are sufficient, for the iron men of the 1939 team, best in recent Iowa athletic history, won second place in the conference and whipped Notre Dame. Actually, of course, Schroeder hopes that Iowa will have a much larger squad. He is not overly concerned by the fact that all will be inexperienced.

Testing Ground for Courage.

"I have always believed implicitly in the educational values of intercollege sport," he told us. "The football field is a testing ground for courage. It develops a desire to win and I know of no other training program that so stresses initiative in accomplishing victory.

"Football has been criticized because the player without previous experience frequently was crowded off a squad. This is not a criticism of the values of the game which remain constant regardless of the degree of experience. I believe also that the Western conference teams, altho younger and lacking in experience, will be approximately equal. This will produce interesting games as a week-end climax for the daily training."

BOB EMSLIE, 84, N. L. UMPIRE FOR 34 YEARS, DIES

St. Thomas, Ont., April 26 (AP).—Robert D. Emslie, for 34 years a National league umpire, died at his home early today after a long illness. Emslie was 84.

Born at Guelph, Ont., Emslie started his baseball career as a pitcher for the Harrison, Ont., Browns in 1878. He drifted into umpiring by chance in 1887 when he was called on to umpire an International league game. Three years later he joined the National league staff and became one of baseball's most famous umpires before retiring in 1924.

Emslie was the base umpire the day Fred Merkle failed to touch second and threw the 1908 pennant race into a deadlock between the New York Giants and Chicago Cubs. The final decision, however, that resulted in Merkle being declared out was made by Chief Umpire Hank O'Day.

Gills Near Pin Title in Gold Coast League

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The north side Joseph L. Gill bowling team may capture the Gold Coast Major league championship in the circuit's final program of matches tonight. The team, which has won its last six games while the erstwhile leading Williams Jewelers were losing six, is a game in front. Tonight's schedule:

Detloff Florals vs. De Luxe Recreation, Ballantine's vs. Acme Furnace, Gills vs. Triangle Shirts, Budweisers vs. Gold Coast, Williams Jewelers vs. Hunter Bourbons, Glunz Liquors vs. Pabsts.

Paul Krumske, captain and anchor of the Schlitz Classic league team, will marry Miss Evelyn Hohlfelder in a ceremony in the Hope Lutheran church at 4 p. m. Saturday, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Margaret Hohlfelder, mother of the bride-elect. The couple will reside at 1403 Highland avenue. . . . Bill Smeya, with a 637 series, and Stanley Pasciak, with 608, led the Pabsts to a two game triumph over the Raab Tailors in the Stack & Ryan Major. Prima won the odd game from Prospects by six pins, 877 to 871.

Rheingolds moved to a spot just one game out of the South End Traveling league lead by scoring three victories while the pacemaking Chicago Recreations were dropping two out of three to the Pogues. Vic Tocwish set a record for the current round with a 724 series. The league has two weeks to go.

MAROON TENNIS TEAM DEFEATS WILDCATS, 6 TO 3

Drop Title Tourney

Members of the Chicago Women's District Golf association yesterday voted not to hold their annual championship tournament due to conditions caused by the war. The decision was reached at the association's annual spring meeting and luncheon held at Marshall Field's. Instead of the title tournament the C. W. D. G. A. will hold four one-day open tournaments. Open events will be played on the west side June 18; north side July 14; south side July 30, with the annual two ball foursome tournament on Aug. 20.

MAROONS LOSE 21 ATHLETES TO ACTIVE SERVICE

Twenty-one Maroon athletes among more than 250 University of Chicago student reservists will report for active duty tomorrow. The group includes 245 in the army enlisted reserve and nine in the navy's V-7 program. The Maroon tennis team will lose its No. 1 player, Walter Michel, and the baseball team a pitcher and most of its infield combination.

One 1943 team captain also is included in the contingent—Bob Mustain of the wrestling squad. The nine will lose Pitcher Jerry Solomon; a second baseman, Nick Melas; Shortstop Paul Homer, and First Baseman Harvey Rose. Bob Oakley, veteran basketball forward and leading golfer, also is included. The reservists called follow:

Tennis—Walter Michel, Ralph Johanson.
Track—Ned Munger, Jim Wenger.
Golf—Bob Oakley.
Basketball—Oakley, Frank Siska, Dave Durkee.
Wrestling—Bob Mustain, Frank Wrobel, John Bjorkland, Paul Patton.
Swimming—Lindsay Leach, Fred Beattie, Jack Ragle.
Fencing—Carl Dragstedt.
Gymnastics—Charlton Bard.
Cross Country—Sidney Pickus.

Chicago's baseball team which lost twice to Camp Grant last week-end, at Camp Grant, will meet the soldiers again this afternoon at 4 o'clock on Greenwood field.

BARNEY ROSS TO RECEIVE ROTARY TRIBUTE TODAY

Marine Sergt. Barney Ross, who is on a defense plant tour in this district, will be honored at a luncheon given by the Rotary club of Chicago in the Sherman hotel today. The former Golden Gloves and world professional boxing champion will be awarded a gold and silver medallion for distinguished service in action on Guadalcanal. This award, the first bestowed by the Rotary club in its 38 year history, will be presented by Maj. John L. Griffith, past president of the club, and athletic commissioner of the Western conference.

KELLY SHADES FENGER, 8-7, IN PRACTICE GAME

Kelly High school defeated Fenger, 8 to 7, in a nine inning practice game in McKinley park yesterday. Kelly tied the count at 7 all in the eighth inning and then came back in the ninth to win. With two out, Right Fielder Ed Gabrysiak pounded out a triple to left field and then stole home. He also doubled and singled in five trips to the plate.

A seven run rally in the sixth inning enabled Tilden to rout Calumet, 10 to 3, in another practice game, in Foster park.

WESTERN TEAM GAINS.

The California Roller Derby team defeated Chicago, 13 to 10, last night in the Armory, 16th street and Michigan avenue. Chicago leads in the series, 293 to 291.

Famous men made CHAPIN & GORE a famous name

In 1872 the liquor firm of Chapin & Gore opened a restaurant at 73 Monroe Street that was destined to become world famous. It was patronized by the most noted men of the day—statesmen, captains of industry, judges, bon vivants.

CHICAGOANS today hold C & G Bourbon in the same high regard it enjoyed in the city's early days. The reason is that there has never been a letdown in the high quality of C & G—no change in the slow, careful method of distillation.

Ask for this mellow old bourbon of distinctive taste at your favorite bar. Take a bottle home tonight. You'll agree that you've never enjoyed a finer whiskey—that C & G Bourbon is truly a great value.

PROFIT OF CUNEO PRESS SLIGHTLY HIGHER IN YEAR

Corn Products' Quarter Earnings Dip.

Cuneo Press, Inc., Chicago printer and binder, reported yesterday that consolidated net profit in the year ended Dec. 31 was $1,290,345, equal to $3.35 a share, compared with $1,218,521, or $3.15 a share in 1941.

CORN PRODUCTS REFINING COMPANY, New York, reported consolidated net earnings in the first three months were $2,133,609, or 67 cents a share, compared with $2,151,344 or 68 cents a share a year ago. The company provided $1,460,000 for federal income taxes and $2,795,000 for excess profits taxes, against $2,085,000 and $4,050,000, respectively, in the first quarter of last year.

Earnings Rise Slighty.

MINNEAPOLIS - HONEYWELL REGULATOR COMPANY, Minneapolis, peacetime manufacturer of automatic heat regulating apparatus, largely engaged in war production, had first quarter profits of $681,621, or $1 a share, compared with $669,931, or $1.01 a share in the corresponding period last year.

BLISS & LAUGHLIN, INC., Harvey, Ill., manufacturer and distributor of steel bars and similar products, had net profit of $185,285, or 69 cents a share in the first three months of the year, compared with $144,174, or 53 cents a share in the first quarter of last year.

Day's Earnings Reports.

RAILS' EARNINGS SHOW INCREASE DURING MARCH

Milwaukee Road Has 3½ Million Gain.

Large increases in March net income and net operating income were reported yesterday by several railroads operating out of Chicago. Those reporting increased final profits for March included the Baltimore and Ohio, the Milwaukee and the Illinois Central railroads.

'LABOR' SELLING CUTS OFF RALLY IN STOCK PRICES

Trade Dips on Reaction; Close Is Mixed.

New York, April 26 (AP).—Timid selling attributed partly to apprehension over the coal labor situation halted an early stock rally today, and the market closed mixed.

Gains at the start ranged from fractions to a point or more, with numerous favorites touching best levels for this year or longer. Prices began to slip before noon. Quiet strength developed in the last hour for merchandisings, air transports, and specialties. Profit cashing helped to stall the recently buoyant rubbers and utilities.

Dealings were fastest after the opening, and slackened appreciably when offerings began to appear.

Earnings Raise Hopes.

Store stocks, air lines, and rails all had the benefit of cheerful earnings statements, and hopes of resumed or boosted dividends enabled various issues to keep ahead from the opening.

Both the breadth and irregularity of trade were indicated by the fact that 893 individual issues were traded with 328 down, 326 up, and 239 unchanged.

Erie certificates opened on a 10,000 share block with a point advance to a new 1943 high and closed up 1⅛.

CHICAGO STOCKS MIXED.

Prices were irregular on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in trading of 38,000 shares. Two new 1943 highs were registered among the more actively traded issues. Pure Oil advanced ⅞ to close at 18 after touching a new high of 18⅛, and Central and South West Utilities advanced ⅛ to close at 13/16 after reaching ⅞.

RAIL BONDS ADVANCE.

New York, April 26 (AP).—Low priced rail issues advanced briskly in the bond market today as financial circles considered prospects for initial or additional interest payments on various defaulted loans. Some gains ran to 2 or 3 points, and volume was substantial in various obligations of the St. Paul, North Western, and New Haven.

Industrial and utility bonds were generally steady, with a few sugar issues and specialties sharply higher.

5 SHIPS A DAY BUILDING RATE REACHED—LAND

Tops Rest of World Output Combined.

New York, April 26 (AP).—Rear Adm. Emory S. Land [retired], chairman of the United States Maritime commission, said today that American ship yards, turning out five vessels each 24 hours, "are building more ships than all the rest of the world combined."

Adm. Land spoke at the presentation of the maritime commission "M" award, the victory fleet flag, and employé merit badges at the Todd Erie Basin Dry Docks, Inc., Brooklyn division of the Todd Shipyards corporation.

"The ship yards of the nation will build nearly 19 million deadweight tons of new vessels this year," the admiral said. "We have capacity to build 20 million tons a year so long as the need exists. We are confident that the repair industry will keep in full stride with builders."

Refutes Hitler's Boast.

Adm. Land said shipbuilding activity is refuting "Hitler's boast that the program announced for American ship builders was 'impossible' and 'fantastic'" and also is meeting the submarine threat.

Praising the Todd company work week and absenteeism records, he said: "Your average work week per man has been 69 hours, far above the national average. Your absenteeism record is 5.6 per cent, approximately half of the national figure of the merchant ship yards. It takes that kind of work to meet and overcome the axis submarine threat."

6,200 PLANES MADE

Atlanta, Ga., April 26 [Special].—Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, tonight told the war effort committee for Alabama and Georgia that in March the United States produced 6,200 planes, and added that twice that number could be produced if critical metals and materials were taken away from other fields.

"Our production of major items in the army supply program reached 1½ billion dollars in March," he said. He added that there will not be, "for a long time to come, any decrease in the amount of labor or materials needed for military production."

FOREIGN TRADE NEEDED BY U. S. PIERSON AVERS

Detroit, Mich., April 26 (AP).—American industry has "grown too big to utilize its capacity at a profit or give full employment to our people if it is limited to producing for the domestic market" and its post-war fortune lies in foreign trade, Warren Lee Pierson, president of the Export-Import bank, today told the Economic club here.

"The post-war period will bring new and powerful incentives to a vast increase in our foreign trade," said Pierson. "This demand can be made effective only if the purchasing power of our foreign customers is substantially increased—in part by an enlightened policy toward the reduction of trade barriers everywhere, but principally by aiding these customers to release and acquire the great reservoirs of wealth they already possess.

"The keys to these reservoirs are American capital and technical assistance working in close and cordial coöperation with the people of other friendly countries."

Machine Firm Partners Consent to Price Decree

Isaac, Elliot, and Harold Blumberg, partners in the Adams Machinery company, 114 South Clinton street, consented yesterday to a permanent injunction restraining the company from selling second hand machine tools at prices above OPA ceilings. The formal decree is expected to be entered today by Federal Judge John P. Barnes.

Cheese Makers to Seek Slash in Ration Points

Plymouth, Wis., April 26 (AP).—George L. Mooney, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Cheesemakers' association, said today the association would seek a large reduction of the ration points for cheese, sales of which he said "are practically at a standstill.

Little Fellows Have a Day in Midland Case

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

Another chapter of a story that has become familiar to Chicago in a decade of litigation over the affairs of utility holding companies and investment trusts created by the late Samuel Insull was written yesterday.

A score of witnesses, many of them elderly, went before Richard Townsend, securities and exchange commission trial examiner, to protest terms of the reorganization and liquidation plan proposed for the Midland United and Midland Utilities companies.

They protested that securities salesmen in whom they had confidence as the result of previous Insull purchases had "sold" them on the merits of Midland stock for which they paid up to $100 a share. They objected that they would be "frozen out" for the benefit of banks and other creditors.

Only Two Groups to Share.

The plan, proposed by Max Swiren, attorney for the United trustee, provides that only two principal security creditors—Utilities debenture holders and United preferred stockholders—would share in the distribution of assets.

Townsend assisted the witnesses when they stumbled over unfamiliar financial terminology, but several times cautioned for order when the audience contributed such remarks as "smart aleck," applied to some of the lawyers, many of whom also have become familiar figures in Insull litigation.

Mrs. Mary Hunt, 330 West Normal Park boulevard, expressed the unanimous view when she said she believed she "simply must protest."

It Just Looked too Pretty.

"I didn't transfer my stock when invited to several years ago," she related. "It was such a gilt edge, pretty looking certificate that I decided to keep it."

Mrs. Bertha Zemke, 120 North Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, could not find her Midland stock to establish her right to be a witness, but revived memories of other protracted litigation when she brought forth certificates for Middle West, Mississippi Valley Utilities, and other Insull investments that had caused her other losses.

"There's something shady going on" was the tenor of the remarks of other witnesses. The SEC hearing will continue this morning at 105 West Adams street.

U. S. WILL PUBLISH ELECTRIC UTILITIES' MONTHLY EARNINGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 26.—The federal power commission today announced plans to publish monthly earnings statements of all privately owned class A and B electric utility companies, which represent about 90 per cent of the privately owned electric utility companies.

It disclosed these utility companies in 1942 had a 7.4 per cent drop in net income despite a rise in operating revenues to a new peak of $2,762,857,000. Combined net income was listed at $487,841,000.

It reported revenues from sales to ultimate consumers rose 5.6 per cent above 1941 and industrial electricity sales increased 11.8 per cent. Revenues from residential service increased 4.5 per cent but commercial service revenues dipped 1.3 per cent.

SUMMER, FALL PLANS OUTLINED BY MBS CHIEF

Representatives of more than 100 Mutual Broadcasting system affiliated stations heard Miller McClintock, new president of the network, outline plans and policies for summer and fall at the Drake hotel last night. Prior to this meeting, station W-G-N, midwest key station for Mutual, held a reception for McClintock.

The Mutual sessions are being held simultaneously with the National Association of Broadcasters conference at the Palmer House. W-G-N, WOR, New York, the Don Lee network of California, and other leading Mutual stations, withdrew from the NAB two years ago because of differences with the policies of the association management.

Earlier yesterday directors and stockholders' meetings were held, with Alfred J. McCosker of WOR, chairman of the board, presiding. Others attending were W. E. MacFarlane, head of the executive committee; Theodore C. Streibert, New York City; Lewis Allen Weiss, Los Angeles, and T. E. Campeau, Detroit, all vice presidents.

U. S. Plant Expenditures Cut to 4½ Billion for 1943

Washington, D. C., April 26 (AP).—The government will spend 4½ billion dollars this year in expanding war plants, compared with $6,492,000,000 in 1942, the WPB announced today. About 60 per cent will be for machinery and equipment.

Head of Sears Predicts Drop in 1943 Profit

Sears, Roebuck & Co.'s sales are unsatisfactory in areas along the eastern seaboard but are exceeding expectations in other parts of the nation, Arthur S. Barrows, president, told stockholders yesterday at their annual meeting in New York.

A. S. Barrows.

Sales and profits will be less in 1943 than last year, but, considering conditions, should be satisfactory, Barrows said. He told the shareholders they can expect their dividends to go unchanged for the rest of the year.

Predicts Usual Dividend.

"So far as this year is concerned there is nothing to worry about as far as the stockholders are concerned," he said. "There is no question in my mind about our being able to maintain the present dividend. A year from now, however, there is no telling what conditions will be."

Barrows said that, because "we have learned to change our business to meet present conditions," the outlook is brighter now than it was two or three months ago. He said mail order business appears to be showing more improvement than volume in the company's retail stores.

Power Output Increases.

At the North American company's stockholders' meeting, also held in New York, E. L. Shea, president, said the electricity output of the system was 20 per cent larger in the first quarter of 1943 than in the corresponding 1942 period.

J. H. Van Alstyne, president of Otis Elevator company, told shareholders at their meeting in New York that nearly all of the company's output is for war purposes and is about equal to the volume of a year ago. He said war work includes orders for all ordinary types of elevators, and that reconversion to peacetime business will be accomplished quickly.

Stockholders of Allied Chemical and Dye corporation met in New York and were told by H. F. Atherton, president, that dollar sales so far in 1943 have been a little larger than in the corresponding period a year earlier.

LIFE INSURANCE SALES CLIMB TO REVERSE TREND

Life insurance sales increased substantially thruout the nation in March, Francis J. O'Brien, chairman of the committee in charge of the Life Insurance Advertisers' association conference in the Edgewater Beach hotel, said yesterday.

This reversed the trend evident since the last quarter of 1942, O'Brien said. He said many observers believed the uptrend would continue and attributed it to a more favorable war outlook.

More women are buying life insurance policies than before the war because of the increased number of women in industry, he said.

HARDT CHARGES TRUCKERS FAIL TO CO-OPERATE

Warns They Must Do War Job.

Motor truck common carriers have not been coöperative in the war program for increasing the utilization of available equipment, but have looked out for their individual interests first, Col. Dan C. Hardt, transportation officer of the army's 6th service command, told midwestern truck operators yesterday. He spoke at a luncheon of the Central Motor Freight association in the Morrison hotel, held in connection with the association's spring business session.

Col. Hardt asserted that the operators have not been active in reporting shippers who delay the loading or unloading of trucks, that they have not coöperated fully with the joint information offices set up to facilitate acquisition of return loads, and that they have failed to take other joint actions that could ease the transportation problem.

Warned to Change Attitude.

He told the operators that unless they change their attitude they may "incur the honest wrath of the country."

After citing recent warnings by Joseph B. Eastman, director of the office of defense transportation, that the freight and passenger traffic burden will become much heavier, Col. Hardt said:

"The time has come for real coördination, between competing trucks and between the trucks and the railroads. You talk coöperation, but only infrequently do you put it into practice. The shippers are ready to help enforce the two hour truck loading and unloading rule, but truckers are not reporting violations. We must correct such misuse of equipment.

"It Has Taken Too Long."

"It has taken you too long to appreciate the need for joint information offices. Recently you have become interested, but you have a long way to go. I am sure that some of you have placed informal embargoes on loads and use of equipment to serve your own interests.

"If you do not take advantage of the opportunity now to coöperate, you may never have a better one."

He suggested staggering of service between two or more points, pooling of traffic, joint operation of terminals, joint pickup service, and other similar steps to assure maximum use of all equipment.

Quit 'Day Dreams,' Get Ready for Peace, Air Lines Are Told

Washington, D. C., April 26 (AP).—C. Bedell Monro, president of Pennsylvania-Central Airlines, took his own industry to task tonight for "day dreaming" too much about aviation's future and for what he described as its failure to develop a "constructive post-war program."

Comparing the industry's international activities to the gold rush of '49, "excepting that so few remember how few found gold," Monro asserted in an address at a National Aeronautic association dinner that "unless facts replace fiction there is a grave danger of public disillusionment which will be most harmful to a necessary sound aviation growth."

Asserts Program Lacking.

"Much criticism is being directed to government regulatory bodies and bureaus for lack of foresight, yet the air transport industry has not yet formulated a constructive post-war program, being largely occupied with internecine disputes and self-seeking activities," he said.

"The public has been led to believe that the age of tomorrow will be an air age in which every other form of transportation will be subordinate to the airplane; that railroads, steamship lines, bus lines will be pitiful remnants existing on the disregarded crumbs from the airlines' table."

Calls for Coöperation.

Monro urged the industry and government to coöperate in meeting the industry's post-war obligations, which he said included encouragement and development of private flying, increasing passenger and cargo service at lower rates, and assuming responsibility for taking over from the army after the war such transport operations as can be continued as commercial projects.

He foresaw post-war competition from one man, one airplane companies established by demobilized army aviation experts and predicted that railroads, buses and trucks will seek to form air transport divisions.

"The result can be chaotic unless a government policy is set forth and adhered to regardless of pressure," he said. "Unless legal safeguards are forthcoming the expanding air industry might either require 'vast subsidies' or fall of its own weight," he asserted.

BUSES CO-ORDINATED

An office of defense transportation order coördinating bus operations between Chicago and Indianapolis, Ind., to save an estimated 17,000 vehicle miles a month becomes effective tomorrow. Lines affected are Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Cleveland, O., Victory Trailways and Empire Trails, both of Chicago. They will be required to interchange tickets, stagger schedules, pool depot and ticket facilities, and divert traffic to each other to relieve overloads.

WORK ABSENCES 39 MILLION MAN DAYS IN JANUARY

New York, April 26 [Special].—American industry lost 39,400,000 man days in January as a result of absenteeism resulting from illness, nonindustrial accidents and personal reasons, a survey made public today by the national industrial conference board disclosed.

These estimates do not include the time lost as a result of industrial accidents or time spent on scheduled leaves of absence.

"Workers' hours have grown longer, and while longer hours result in greater plant production they also increase sickness absenteeism and the tendency of employés to take time off for personal reasons," the conference board said.

RANKS MUST SUPPLY SKILLED WORKMEN, SAYS TRAINING CHIEF

Davenport, Ia., April 26 (AP).—Industry was told today by a federal vocational training expert that in the future it must get its skilled wokers from the ranks of present employés.

L. S. Hawkins, director of vocational training for war production workers, United States office of education, said at the opening session of a three day convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers:

"The supply of unemployed skilled workers has been completely exhausted, consequently the requirements for skilled labor must come from those already employed. A combination of training devices has been utilized to meet the shortage. Workers on lower levels have been 'upgraded.' The skill-content of the highly skilled jobs has been broken down, simplified, or diluted to permit the performance of these jobs by persons with less experience than is normally required."

Canada Starts Fourth Victory Loan Campaign

OTTAWA, Ont., April 26 (AP).—Canada's fourth victory loan campaign opened today with a minimum objective of 1 billion 100 million dollars.

NATIONAL TEA'S NEW PRESIDENT IS RASMUSSEN

Earnings Increase in First Quarter.

Changes in top executive personnel and increased first quarter earnings were announced yesterday by the National Tea company.

Robert V. Rasmussen, a grocery clerk when he began working for the company 16 years ago, became its president and John McKinlay, who for several years has held both the presidency and chairmanship, relinquished the former position and retained the latter. McKinlay's original association with National Tea was as chairman.

The company's net profits for the Jan. 1 to March 27 period were $143,986 after $115,000 of federal taxes and other charges, equal after preferred dividends to 20 cents a share on the common stock. In the corresponding 1942 period net earnings were $81,795, or 10 cents a share, after income tax provision of $100,000.

Rasmussen, elder son of the late George Rasmussen who founded the business in 1899 and remained as president until his death in 1936, is 36 years old and has been a vice president for seven years and a director for 12.

Recalled to Chicago.

In 1938, after positions in practically all National Tea departments, he was placed in charge of the Minneapolis unit. He was recalled to Chicago headquarters in December, 1941, and placed in charge of the Chicago operations.

McKinlay also announced that Arthur J. Hansen, in charge of the Minneapolis unit and a director of the company, was named vice president.

AMERICA'S FOURTH GREAT AGE

Unknown by millions whose daily lives it influences, yet as inherently a part of the warp and woof of the war power of the nation as of civilian life, the chemical business looms as one of America's basic industries.

Beside our country's Age of Agriculture, its Age of Railroads, its Age of Steel, the Age of Chemistry takes its place. Today, brought finally into its own by wartime necessities, the Chemical Industry walks as an equal with the other great leaders.

The American Chemical Industry gained its first big impetus in World War I—it has come of age in World War II. Its character has not been one of mushroom growth, but of steady, spectacular progress, characterized by ability to translate gross into net, far-seeing management and unceasing emphasis on research.

To give investors a bird's-eye picture of this great field, we have created a study of the broader aspects of the Chemical Industry. Subjects range from a discussion of the promise of phenomenal future developments, already taking shape in research laboratories, to careful individual analyses of 35 companies. We believe the study is valuable; we know it is informative and interesting.

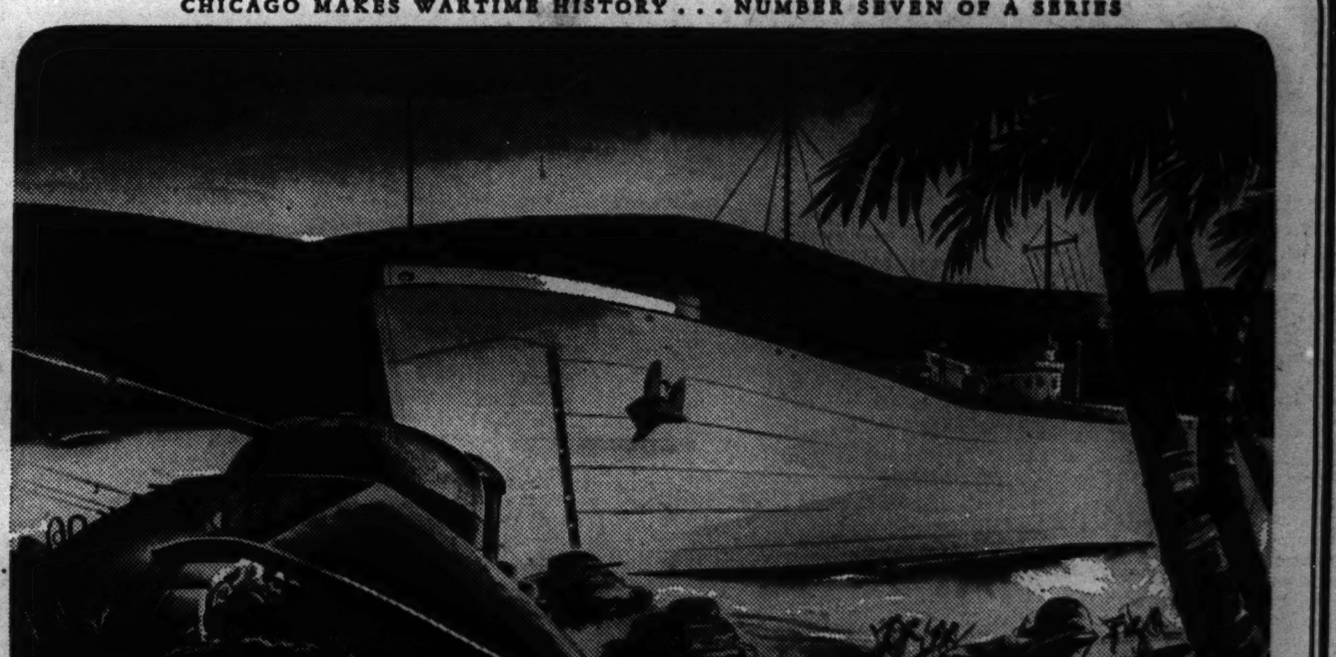
CHICAGO MAKES WARTIME HISTORY . . . NUMBER SEVEN OF A SERIES



TO STORM THE BEACHES
. . . tank landing ships from Chicagoland!

Her bow becomes a giant mouth. Jaws snap open. A tongue of ramp darts out . . . licks the sand. And from somewhere deep inside, big-shouldered tanks rumble to the attack.

A few months ago there were no shipyards at Seneca. But there were acres of prairie farmland. There was water running to the sea. There were men with vision and a keen sense of America's wartime needs.

What matter then that difficulties intervened . . . that machine shops would at first have to be housed in circus tents . . . that launchings would have to be made sidewise?

Today the on-schedule production of tank carriers is a splendid tribute to our "bluejackets of industry".

Chicagoland is proud of its war production record, of which this is but one example. It is proud, too, of its many sons with the armed forces . . . of its citizens who are giving to the limit of their energies. Theirs is a fighting spirit that is hastening the Axis' doom.

Commercial credit
for firms and corporations, large or small, engaged in production for war or civilian use, is available here. For many years this institution has served the banking, trust and investment needs of individuals and firms throughout the Middle West. Inquiries are cordially invited.

FINANCING FIRM BUYS CHICAGO VALVE COMPANY

War Diversification Plan Extended Further.

Another step in the General Finance corporation diversification and expansion program was announced yesterday by Chairman Owen L. Coon, with the acquisition of the McAlear Manufacturing company, 1901 South Western avenue.

McAlear produces valves, regulators, and control equipment used in the oil and general industrial field. Coon said it is a vital link in the nation's synthetic rubber program.

Operations will be linked with those of the Climax Engineering company, Clinton, Ia., acquired last year as the first manufacturing subsidiary of General Finance in its swing to manufacturing and industrial banking operations.

"The Chicago company has about 130 employés, and already is producing valves for the synthetic rubber industry at the peak of its manufacturing capacity," said Coon. "As the result of this transaction, it will be able to accept more orders and subcontract part of the work to the Clinton foundry, where the operations are somewhat similar.

"Both Should Benefit."

"Both of the companies, as well as General Finance, should benefit, and the nation's synthetic rubber program should be expedited thru this arrangement.

"This transaction provides another stepping stone to General Finance in its evolution from instalment sales financing to industrial banking and manufacturing operations. And there is no post-war problem involved, for McAlear continues during war in manufacturing the same items produced during peace time, except in much larger volume.

"Thru a score of financing and engineering arrangements with other companies, General Finance already is in the manufacturing business in a substantial way, from small boat manufacturing and prefabricated housing to the production of dried eggs."

Tax Is Secondary Factor.

Coon said tax considerations were a secondary factor in the acquisition, but commented: "We have a large capital base here to use. We faced a situation in which our receivables were largely paid off after automobile sales financing dried up, and hence a large volume of cash and no income, unless we acted to diversify our business."

He said the company intends to reënter the instalment sales financing field after the war, but in the meantime develop its new sources of business in commercial financing, in "joint venture" operations thru which it shares in the profits of other companies.

LOAN PREMIUM.

Will you explain, please, what is meant by a stock "loaning at a premium"? If a broker should lend stock, with the owner's permission, what would be the benefit to the owner in dollars and cents?—M. F.

Answer: When a stock is loaning at a premium it means that brokers wishing to borrow this stock and use it to make delivery on sales are finding it necessary to offer a premium in order to obtain a sufficient supply. When a stock is loaning "flat" the borrowing broker turns over to the lending broker cash equal to the full market value of the stock, and makes daily adjustments in this cash security for fluctuations in market value.

Customarily the lending broker and the owner of the stock split the loan premium. Thus, if the premium is $1, or $1 per day for 100 shares, the owner would receive 50 cents a day for each 100 shares of his stock out on loan.

NOT IN CHICAGO.

I have heard that there are security brokerage offices open later than the regular business hours to accommodate war workers. Do you know of any such offices?—D. O.

Answer: At least one firm is keeping its offices open in the evening in certain war production centers, but not in Chicago. We know of no brokerage houses following this practice in the Chicago area.

Name 2 New Officials of New York Exchange

New York, April 26 (AP).—Emil Schram, president of the New York Stock Exchange, announced today the appointment of Charles Klem and Edward C. Gray as assistant vice presidents. Klem has been with the exchange since 1922 and Gray recently completed 25 years' service.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Ben Markland

April 26, 1943.

CHICAGOLAND hikers who are having difficulty seeing signs of spring, can taste the new season by wandering thru any moist woodlot at this time of the year.

We sampled two edible evidences of spring on the Wheaton farm yesterday, and both evidences were pungent, to say the least. These evidences were wild onions and wild leek. During the course of our walk we found spring beauties finally coming out into the open and trilliums ready to exhibit their flower heads, but the real garnish of the hike came when we found the wild members of the allium family.

The leaf of the wild leek is rather distinctive, somewhat similar to the first spring shoots of the tulip, so a taste of the leaf is almost an unnecessary gesture in identifying this growth.

Common in Illinois.

The wild onion, on the other hand, is rather hard to find in early spring because its first shoots are so lacking in originality that they look like overgrown tufts of bluegrass. One exploratory nibble on the tender spring shoots of this wild growth provides a definite clue to its identity, however.

Wild onion is fairly common in Illinois, especially in woodlots in which creeks meander thru heavy stands of oak. The favorite growing place of wild onion is in the moist ground along the banks of such creeks.

Both the wild onion and the wild leek are legitimate wildflowers because of the attractive blossoms which they support. The former provides bell-shaped white or light rose colored flowers in July and August, and the leek has white blossoms in June and July.

The farm workers had to do a rush job of rehabilitating the purple martin houses last week. The first martin scouts arrived on the farm on April 5, so the men put up two of the nesting houses the next day.

More Nesting Houses.

During the intervening cool weather no birds of the main flight arrived, but between April 16 and 18 around 15 martins followed their leaders into the nesting boxes.

The obvious method of welcoming these attractive visitors was to put up more nesting houses. One of the farm workers was assigned the task of cleaning two more boxes for the birds, so now the purple birds with the dipsy-doodle flight are all set for housing accommodations.

Between the period that the first two houses were erected and the main flight arrived the troublesome English sparrows attempted to take over the houses. Each year the martins prove to be superior air fighters, however, and soon drive the sparrows away.

When we watched the martins the other morning they had complete control of the top stories of the colony houses, with a few sparrows relegated to the basement apartments below the ledge. The martins did not seem to molest the sparrows as long as they stayed in these subpar dwellings.

★ The GARDEN ★

THE second of the sample gardens on the Wheaton farm now has 3,670 row feet under cultivation. This large garden provides a striking contrast to the small sample plot, because it is 510 feet long and 60 feet wide in comparison to the sample plot's size of 30 by 25 feet.

The first row of the large garden is reserved for tomatoes, but the next four rows of the garden are in peas [Little Marvel, Dwarf, Defiance, and Giant Stride varieties]. Row six contains 100 feet of Big Boston head lettuce, 100 feet of Nantes Half-Long carrots, 100 feet of Touchon carrots, and 210 feet of Crosby's Egyptian beets.

Only 100 feet of row eight has been planted. It includes 50 feet of Champion Moss curled parsley and 50 feet of Scarlet Giant radishes.

PLAN PROPOSED TO EASE CURBS ON JOB CHANGES

Washington, D. C., April 26.—A nation-wide job stabilization plan designed to ease present drastic restrictions on the rights of workers to change jobs for higher pay has been proposed by the labor-management policy committee of the war man power commission, it was learned today.

The chief purpose of the plan would be to provide certain conditions under which employés in areas such as Chicago, not covered by local job stabilization agreements, could legally move from one job to another paying higher wages without becoming vulnerable to criminal penalties.

WMC Chairman Paul McNutt's wage-job freeze order of April 18 permits workers to leave a job in essential industry for higher pay elsewhere only in 67 areas covered by local WMC stabilization plans and then only under rigid restrictions. The penalty for violations is a maximum fine of $1,000 and a year in prison.

LIGHT RECEIPTS CAUSE HOGS TO RISE 10-15 CENTS

Hog prices yesterday recovered 10 to 15 cents of the recent losses on light receipts. The price average was the highest in five days at $14.95 a hundred pounds, up 15 cents. The $15 top was paid for numerous consignments ranging from 190 to 400 pounds.

Further advances were made in fat lamb prices. Gains of 10 to 20 cents carried the top to $16.35, highest since April 9 and 35 cents above last week's low.

GRAIN FUTURES UNEVEN; OATS SHOW STRENGTH

Grain prices were uneven yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Oats developed independent strength induced by reports of an active shipping demand and a belief that few Canadian oats would be received here by lake. May closed ⅝ cent a bushel higher and the deferred months were ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher. Wheat was ⅛ to ¼ cent lower and rye was ¼ cent lower. September corn sold at ceiling prices, with no trading in May or July except in exchanging with other futures.

United Air Line Express Rises 16 Pct. in Quarter

Substantial increases in air cargo handled by United Air Lines were announced yesterday by C. P. Graddick, cargo department director. United flew 847,634 express ton miles in the first three months of 1943, a gain of 16 per cent above a year earlier. Air mail ton miles totaled 2,380,066, a gain of 99 per cent.

CASH LOANS TO MEN AND WOMEN
COSTS ONLY 75c

Now women with jobs may borrow cash the same as men—on autos, furniture, or just on the strength of their jobs. Any amount, $10 to $300. "While you wait" service to those who phone ahead or present proper identification and evidence of employment. On our monthly rate of 3% on balances of $150 or less and 2½% on that part of the unpaid balance over $150, the cost of a $25 loan is surprisingly low. Phone for further details.

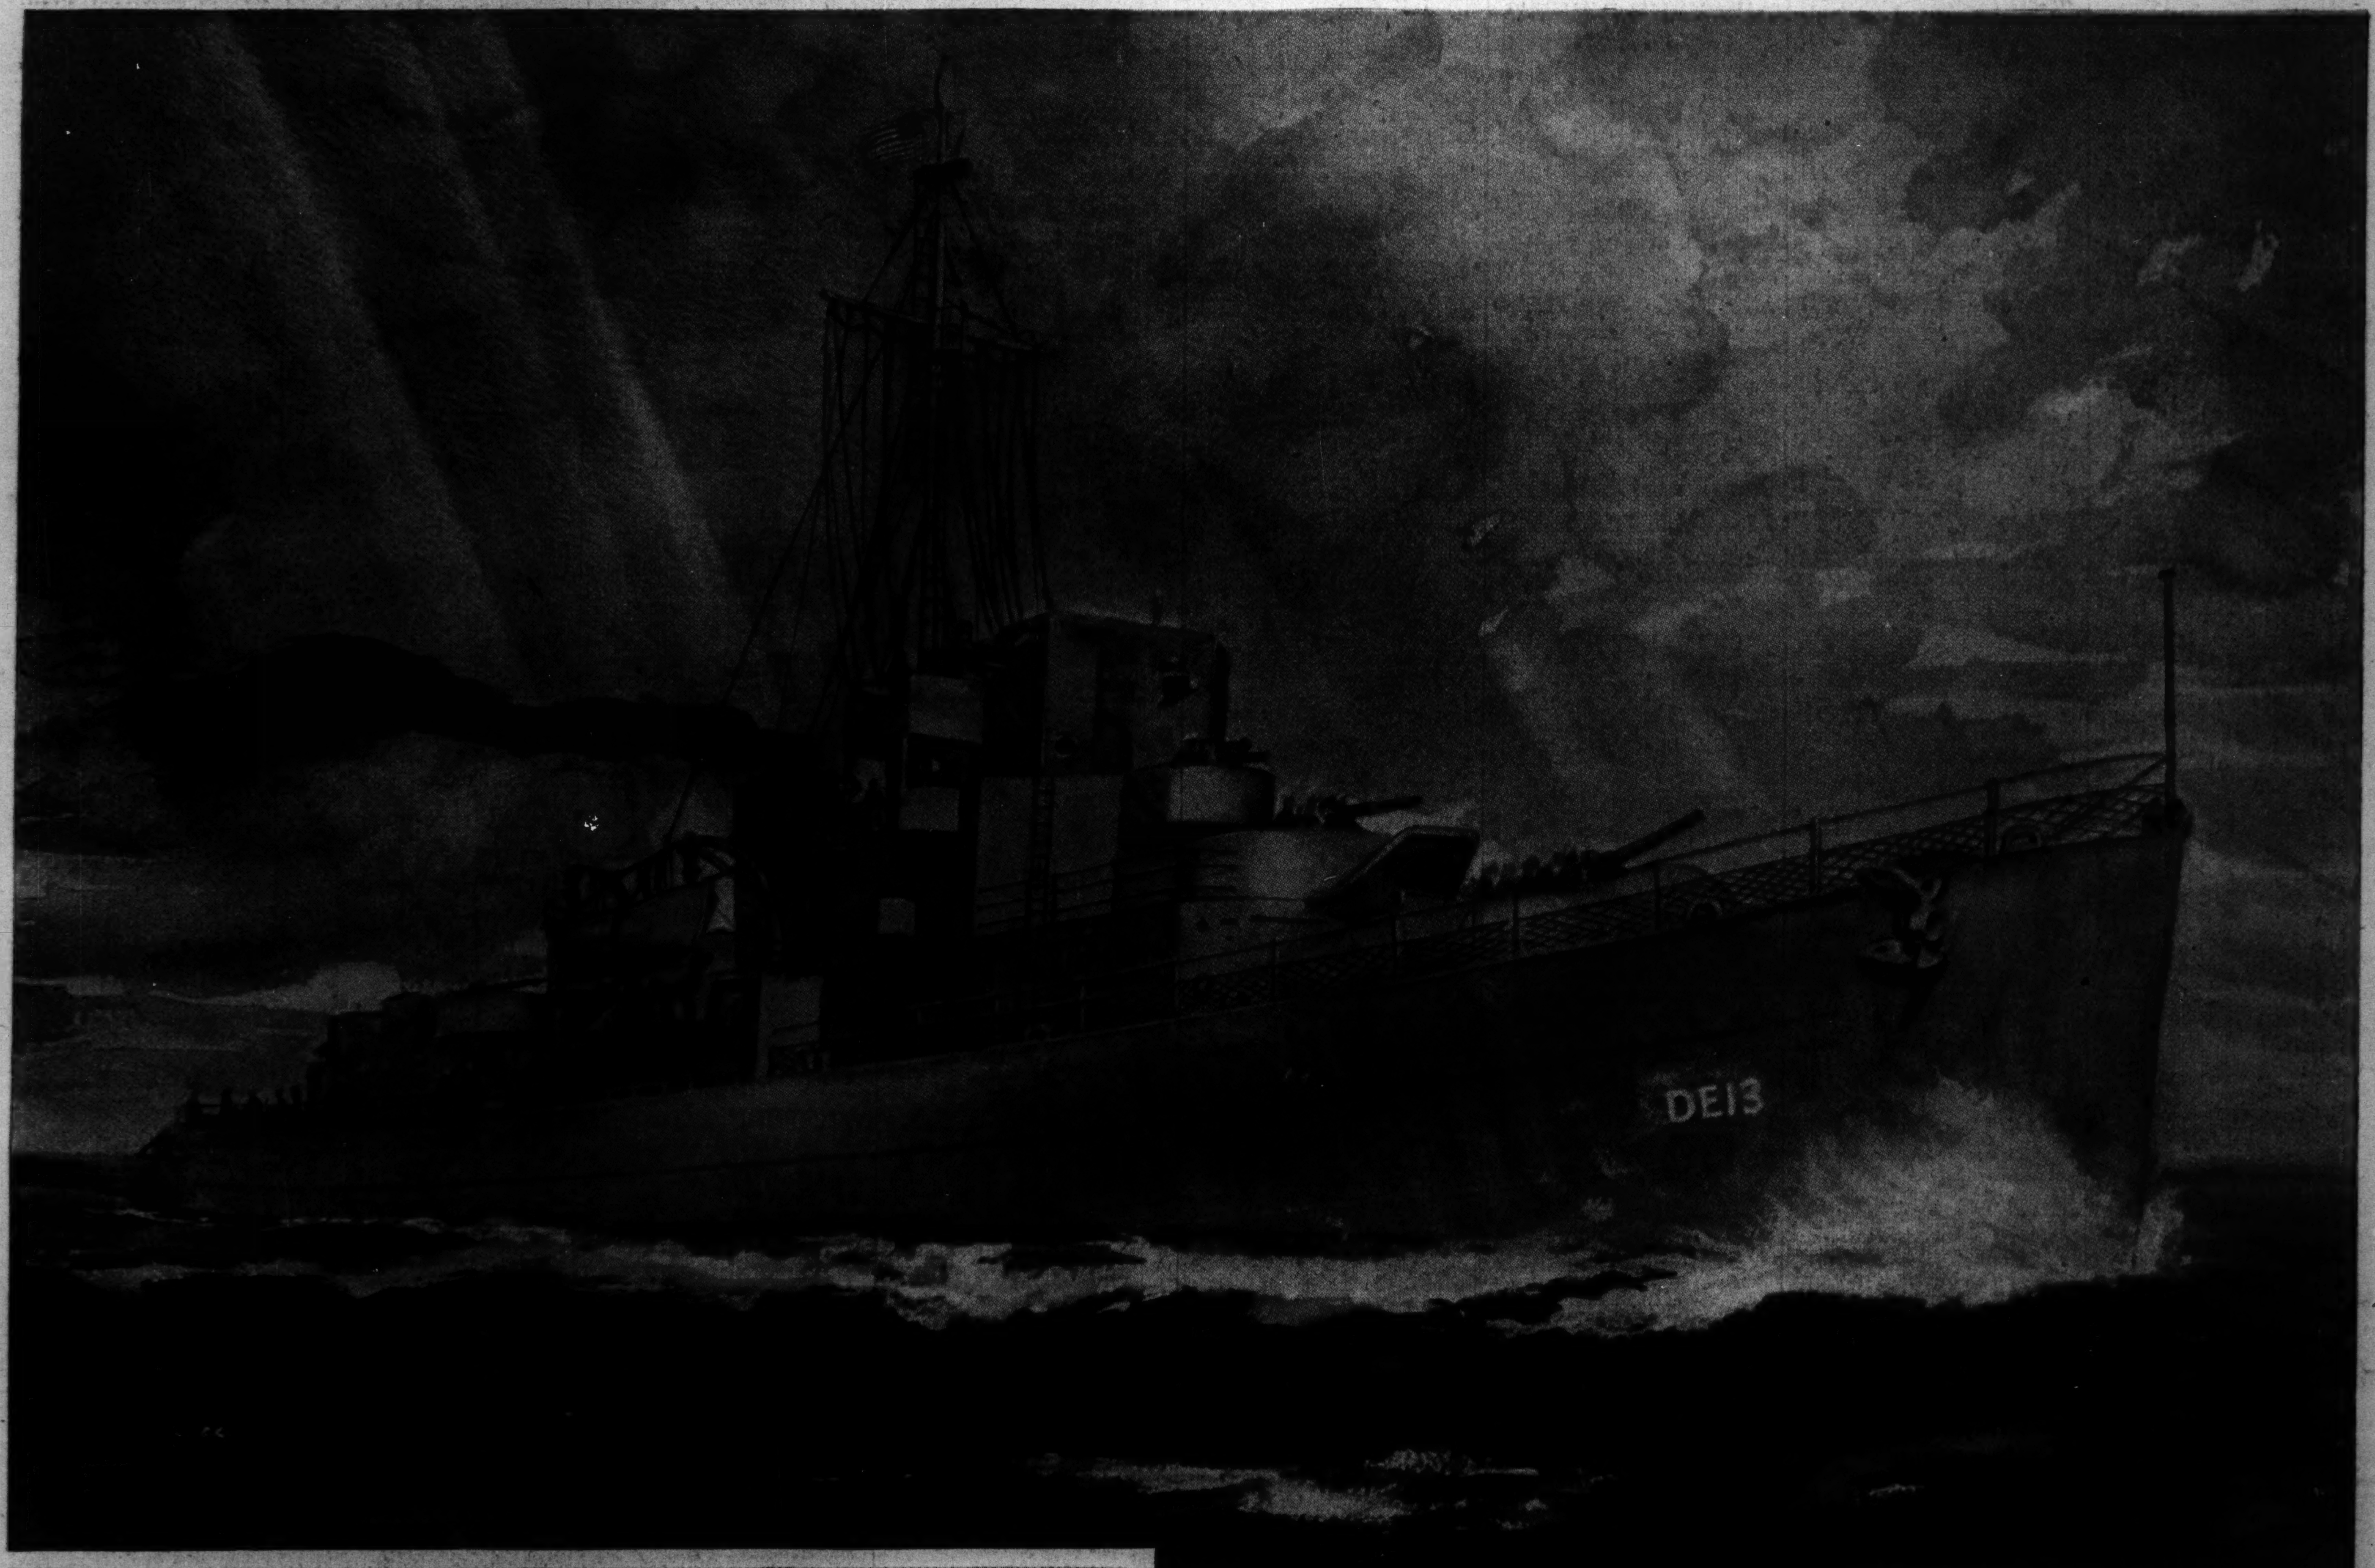
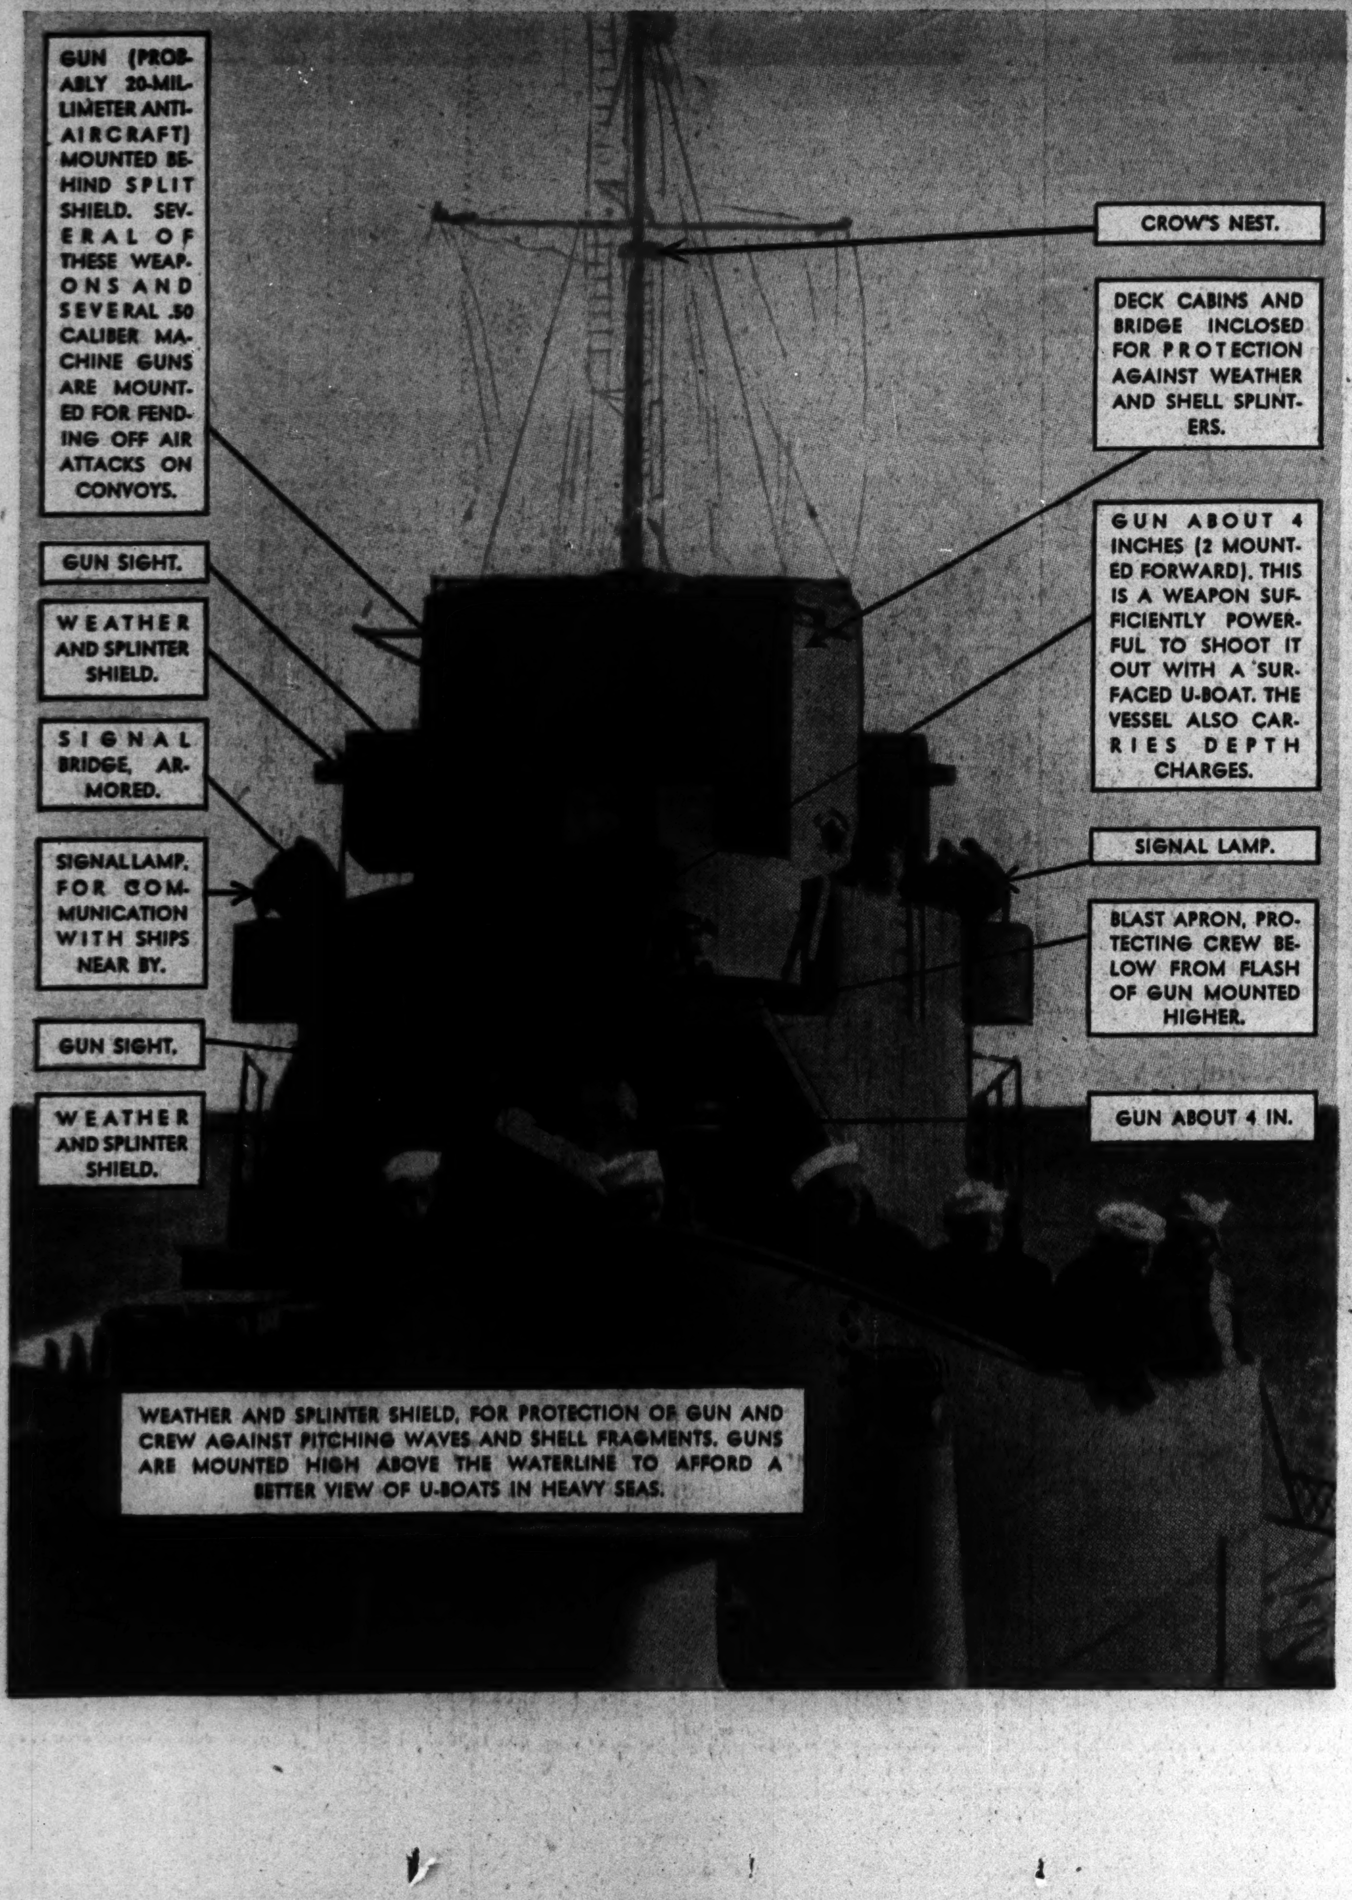
DESTROYER ESCORT: A SUBMARINE KILLER



This is America's new destroyer escort, specifically designed to overhaul and outslug the submarine, greatest menace of the war. It is expected to replace the destroyer in convoys to a large extent, because it can be built for half the cost (about $3,500,000) and in less than half the time (about four months). This rendering is by Gary Sheahan of the Tribune staff.



GUN (PROBABLY 20-MILLIMETER ANTI-AIRCRAFT) MOUNTED BEHIND SPLIT SHIELD. SEVERAL OF THESE WEAPONS AND SEVERAL .50 CALIBER MACHINE GUNS ARE MOUNTED FOR FENDING OFF AIR ATTACKS ON CONVOYS.
GUN SIGHT.
WEATHER AND SPLINTER SHIELD.
SIGNALLAMP, FOR COMMUNICATION WITH SHIPS NEAR BY.
GUN SIGHT.
WEATHER AND SPLINTER SHIELD.
CROW'S NEST.
DECK CABINS AND BRIDGE INCLOSED FOR PROTECTION AGAINST WEATHER AND SHELL SPLINTERS.
GUN ABOUT 4 INCHES (2 MOUNTED FORWARD). THIS IS A WEAPON SUFFICIENTLY POWERFUL TO SHOOT IT OUT WITH A SURFACED U-BOAT. THE VESSEL ALSO CARRIES DEPTH CHARGES.
SIGNAL LAMP.
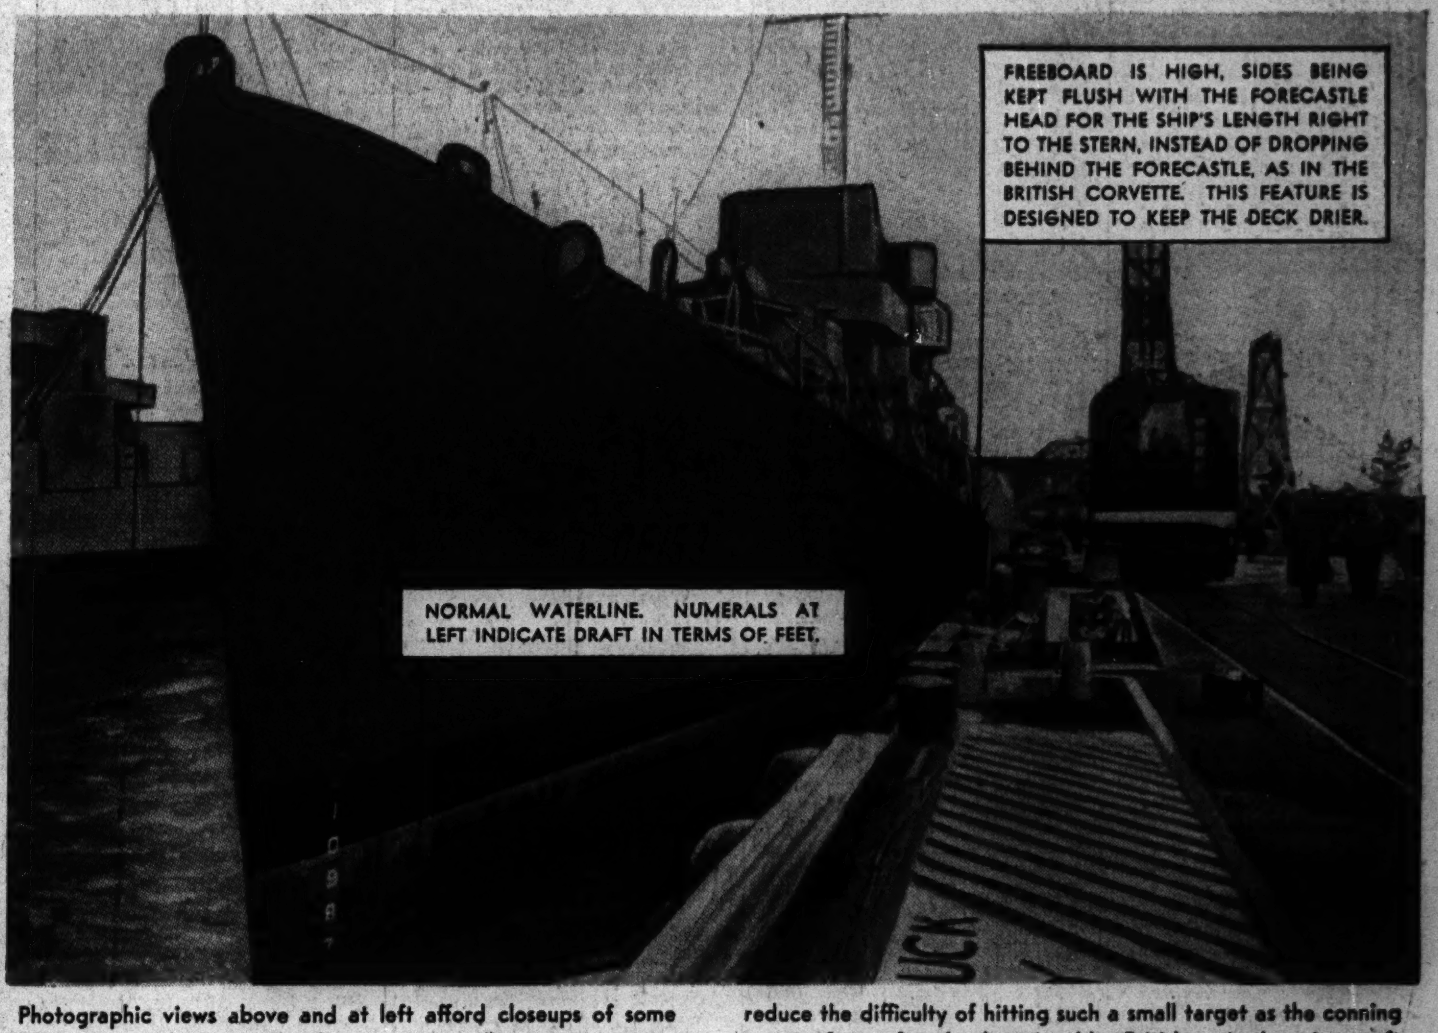
GUN ABOUT 4 IN.

WEATHER AND SPLINTER SHIELD, FOR PROTECTION OF GUN AND CREW AGAINST PITCHING WAVES AND SHELL FRAGMENTS. GUNS ARE MOUNTED HIGH ABOVE THE WATERLINE TO AFFORD A BETTER VIEW OF U-BOATS IN HEAVY SEAS.



FREEBOARD IS HIGH, SIDES BEING KEPT FLUSH WITH THE FORECASTLE HEAD FOR THE SHIP'S LENGTH RIGHT TO THE STERN, INSTEAD OF DROPPING BEHIND THE FORECASTLE, AS IN THE BRITISH CORVETTE. THIS FEATURE IS DESIGNED TO KEEP THE DECK DRIER.

Photographic views above and at left afford closeups of some of the details that make the destroyer escort (known to our navy as "DE") unique in naval construction. . . . Previously, the British corvette had been the latest answer to submarine and aerial attacks on convoys. The DE is superior to that British development in speed (undisclosed, but higher); in armament; in displacement (1,300 tons, as against 1,135 tons); in its length (300 feet), and in its beam (about 35 feet). The DE's speed is sufficient for overhauling a surfaced submarine which would be able to torpedo a vessel in a convoy by night and then show its heels to a pursuing corvette; this speed, with the DE's formidable fire power, is designed to force the U-boat to submerge to avoid close action and ramming, and thus make the enemy vulnerable to depth charges at its low submerged speed. The greater size and displacement of the destroyer escort make it more stable in a rough sea, which should add to the comfort of its crew and reduce the difficulty of hitting such a small target as the conning tower of a surfaced submarine (the British anti-submarine craft is said to outroll any ship on any ocean). Particularly noteworthy is the armor inclosing deck structures and bridge of the DE, for protection against weather and shell fragments; this fortresslike construction, purely functional, is a complete break from tradition for craft of this size. . . . In speed, fire power, and general fighting qualities, the new vessel is an approach to a destroyer. However, because there is no need to equip it with so much armament, nor with engines so powerful, it can be put into service with great economy of materials and building time, and with considerable reduction in crew, as compared with its larger sister. For all these reasons, it may be anticipated that destroyer escorts, as fast as they can be put into service, will release destroyers from patrol duty with convoys and restore them to the fleet operations for which they originally were intended.
